

LLOYD GEORGE TELLS THE POLES WHERE THEY FIT

Polish Government Called to Time by the British Premier.

NEWSPAPER COMMENT ON IMPORTANT SPEECH

Some Commend It, While Others Are Sharply Critical of It.

London, May 15.—Efforts on the part of Polish insurgents to create a plebiscite area of Upper Silesia... The attitude of the British Government was made very clear by Premier Lloyd George, speaking in the House of Commons...

Waiting For Poles.

Official expressions, which would indicate sentiment in government circles in Warsaw, were being awaited with keen interest here today. Berlin dispatches assert there is going forward an exchange of views relative to cancellation of penalties placed on Germany after the meeting of the supreme Allied Council in March...

It is declared Great Britain favors a relaxation of Allied pressure, now that Germany has decided to accept the Allied reparations terms and is preparing to carry them to fulfillment.

Papers Criticize.

The Premier's denunciation of the Polish revolt in Silesia did not receive anything like unanimous support from London newspapers today. Some of the most important journals did not comment upon his address, and while there was some strong expression of approval, there were also some sharp attacks upon Mr. Lloyd George, who was told among other things, that he himself, and his Allied colleagues, were largely to blame for the situation and that the Polish government was really powerless.

The Daily Express commended the Premier's honesty, courage and statesmanship and insisted Poland must be taught she cannot be allowed to become a disturbing element in Europe. The Daily News held that Poland was "fatally and irremediably in the wrong," and that the Premier's language was "fairly justified."

Mr. Lloyd George was charged with "bitter partisanship, intense dislike of Poland, pusillanimous fear of Germany and ignorance of European politics" by the Morning Post.

The newspapers described his speech as a "torrent of abuse, invective and hysterical excitement," and argued that if the result of the Silesian plebiscite was to be determined by the vote of individual communities, "facts would show that Kortany was following the treaty and Lloyd George was breaking it."

The Post concluded by expressing the hope that the British public would not allow itself to be rushed into acquiescence in the "bitter, contemptible and senseless pro-Germanism."

TERRIBLE FRENCH WRECKS

Toulouse, France, May 15.—Two persons were killed and fifty injured when two express trains bound to this city from Paris jumped the track last night within a few miles of one another. The fact that in each case the eight coaches were derailed and the locomotives and their tenders remained on the track caused Minister of Public Works Le Troquer to order an investigation.

The funeral of George Pope occurred from his late home at 330 Sunday afternoon, Rev. H. A. Goodwin officiating, interment taking place at Fern Hill Cemetery. The Ship Laborers' Union, with which the deceased was affiliated, attended in a body.

The Greeks and Romans, with all their luxury and fastidiousness, ate with their fingers.

Pickpockets Register Vigorous Complaint

Claim the Robbed When Reporting Losses Always Multiply Them Greatly.

Genoa, May 15.—The Chief of Police of this city has received a letter signed "The Trainways Pickpocket Association," complaining that the persons from whom they extract pocketbooks have "the dishonest habit" of invariably declaring to the police a much larger financial loss than they have really suffered. They cite a specific case where one man claiming to have been robbed of 2,500 lire, only lost fifty, and another one reporting a loss of 1,800 lire when his pocketbook contained less than 200 lire.

NEGRO SOUGHT FOR ASSAULT ON A WOMAN

Posse Headed by Sheriff Thresh Swamp Around Kenilworth, N. J.

Police Search The Black Quarter Victim of Attack, a Truant Officer, Said to be in Serious Condition.

New York, May 15.—All of the houses in the negro settlement on the edge of a swamp on the outskirts of Kenilworth, N. J., were being searched last night by the authorities of the county for some trace of the negro who attacked Mrs. Frederick O'Brien, 42 years old a truant officer, yesterday morning at Tenth street and the Boulevard, about 200 yards from the school house in Kenilworth. Mrs. O'Brien, who is the mother of two children, was badly injured and was carried to her home.

Two school boys, August and William Schidiger, heard Mrs. O'Brien moaning behind some bushes, where she had been thrown by the negro, and notified Marshal Alfred B. Vardalies and her father, a truant officer, yesterday morning at Tenth street and the Boulevard, about 200 yards from the school house in Kenilworth. Mrs. O'Brien, who is the mother of two children, was badly injured and was carried to her home.

Posse Starts Out. Marshal Vardalies obtain from Mrs. O'Brien a description of her assailant and organized a posse of citizens and hurried to the swamp, believing that the negro had tried to make for the security of the morass after attacking the woman. He was described as being about five feet ten inches high, and dressed in khaki trousers and a blue shirt. This description was sent to Roselle Park and Unionville and other villages near Kenilworth, and the police of Elizabeth and other cities also were asked to help find the man.

The posse under Marshal Vardalies searched the swamp and the surrounding territory all afternoon and until late last night without finding any trace of the negro. This was a lawn on which there were trees and shrubbery, so that the point where the woman was seized by the negro was screened from observation from the road. When the posse failed to locate the negro it disbanded late last night, and the county authorities and Marshal Vardalies began a search of the negro settlement, thinking that the man might have taken refuge there.

CIRCUS CROWD SAW TRAINER FIGHT A LION

Unruly Beast Attacked Man During the Performance of His Act.

Philadelphia, May 15.—Several of the greatest wild animal acts that have ever been staged in this city are being exhibited daily at the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey grand circus. Half a dozen courageous trainers virtually flirt with death in the cages with the animals, and more than once during the week those who peeped the big lion have been their breath as the trainers cleverly demonstrated their mastery over their ill-tempered charges.

Those who witness the performance are amazed to see a trained lion attack a group of seven African tigers. Amid the snoring and clanking of the beasts, their trainer, Rudolph Matthes, appears as cool as collected as though he were sitting in a rolling chair at Atlantic City.

Trainer Unconcerned. Matthes walks around the cage with his back to the lion and the tigers. One of the tigers leaps over his head when he is in this position, and, of course, should the animal so desire, he could stop on his journey through the air and land on the trainer. The thought of what might occur in such an emergency, however, merely seems to provide an additional thrill for the interested spectators.

Matthes was born in Hamburg, Germany, 32 years ago. He broke all family traditions when, at the age of 16, he announced that he was going to choose animal training for a career. So it was that Matthes met and conquered several animals of the jungle, and so it was that he had several narrow escapes from the same animals.

When asked if he were ever afraid when entering the cage with the seven tigers, the trainer calmly answered that he was not afraid of watching the "terrible seven" to be frightened. "And, too," he said, "I've been with them for four years now, and know them well. I am, however, careful of the meanest one of the lot, Minka."

Minka terrorizes the six others in the act. In fact, all of the six display their hostility toward Minka, and he is the only one who has not been captured by Minka's teeth.

Lion Turns Ugly. Many who were in the performance yesterday afternoon got a real thrill out of the programme. Peter Radke, another lion tamer, was unable to make one of his beasts perform. Radke hit the lion with his whip repeatedly, and the beast, angry, sprang at the trainer and cornered him. Radke jabbed his way to the centre of the cage, but the lion sprang again, and as Radke was about to jab the beast his spear caught in one of the nets. The lion saw its opportunity, but Radke snapped his whip till he once more had his spear in position. Then he raised his spear, and the act proceeded. All during the fight the spectators at the north end of the big tent were virtually in an uproar. Many stood up to watch the proceedings, and others were preparing to run out alongside of the cage when the fight ended.

Drug Smuggler Is Shot Dead In Raid

Another is Probably Wounded Mortally and a Third is Hurt Seriously

New York, May 15.—Two young detectives of the Narcotic Squad, who have been ferreting out drug smugglers, met a Spanish assassin waiting for them at Atlantic avenue (now dead) by arrangement at Atlantic avenue and Columbia street, Brooklyn, yesterday morning. The detectives, Arthur Jocher and Patrick Kirley, are slim and boyish looking. Jocher is 30 and Kirley 24. They had negotiated with this Spaniard, Jesus Antel, 28 years old, and his associates last week for the purchase of a large quantity of drugs. "Remember," they were told, "if you are police, you will pay the penalty."

The detectives at that time were at a rendezvous on Columbia street. Around them were fifteen or more men. To attempt an arrest would have been difficult and hazardous. The detectives spoke deprecatingly of the cost of the drugs, said it was too high and got out. But they stuck at it, and were in the purchase line.

Yesterday morning at 10:30, at Antel's invitation, they went to 23 Willow place, a three story and basement dwelling on Brooklyn Heights, between Kerabon and State streets. Across the narrow little thoroughfare is the Willow place chapel of the Unitarian church of the Saviour.

How It Was Done. The Spaniard led the "buyers" to a furnished room on the third floor. In the room were Vincenzo Conco, 48, who lived there, and Juan Davila, 31, a Hamilton avenue. On the bed was a suitcase containing, according to the police, heroin and cocaine. On the street, a short distance away, were Sergeant Thomas Mooney and Detective John Schaudel and Thomas Law, of the Narcotic Squad. They had accompanied Jocher and Kirley because of the threats, and were to rush in when the purchase was consummated, the signal to them being the breaking of a window.

Jocher bought $200 worth of drugs, Kirley standing behind him near the door, a spectator. "You're under arrest," said Jocher to the two men. They cried out in Spanish. The door was closed, and Kirley drew a .38 calibre pistol. He fired. Kirley dodged the bullet, which hit a wound, not serious, along Jocher's head. Kirley turned, as he ducked, and fired three times at Antel, causing a bullet hitting him in the chest. Antel fled, tumbling down the stairs.

The other two Spaniards began firing. Mooney shot a bullet that was discharged. The room was wrecked. Once a bullet wound in the head. Davila got a bullet wound in the chest. Davila got a bullet wound in the head. The arrested detectives rushed to the basement door of the house and grabbed Antel as he staggered out, revolver in hand. He died almost immediately. Another in the basement hall was Conco. Upstairs were Jocher and Kirley, holding Davila. He and Antel were rushed to the Cumberland street hospital. Conco may die.

Decamped Without Men. This necessitated a change of course on the raiders part. Meanwhile a party of men, led by Kirley, entered at an elevated point in the prison became suspicious and fired a shot. On hearing this the raiders decamped without the prisoners, but took the armored car, which later was found abandoned.

Arthur Griffith was arrested in Dublin on November 29th last, and lodged in Mount Joy prison. The grounds for his arrest were not given at the time, but it was explained later that it was due to the desire of the government to learn if he was responsible for the alleged employment of republican funds on ambassadors and other operations involving the lives of troops.

Car Captured From British. The armored car used in the attempted rescue, is reported to have been captured by the Sinn Feiners in a surprise attack in which two of the soldier occupants of the car were wounded. The Sinn Feiners then disguised themselves as members of the crown forces and proceeded to Mount Joy prison.

The military followed the car when it sped from the prison after the failure of the coup and a fierce fight ensued. The casualties had not been reported up to mid-afternoon.

Sues Wife Who Named Her As "Love Pirate"

Atlantic City Woman Asks $10,000 for Being Involved in Divorce Case.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 15.—Mrs. Mildred Joyce, of Pleasantville, has filed a suit for $10,000 against Mrs. Caroline S. Gates, who named her as a correspondent in an action she brought against her husband, an Atlantic City candy manufacturer.

While allegations in all judicial proceedings, including divorce suits, are privileged, still it does not, in my opinion, permit one to hide behind a screen of the kind which it can be shown that the charges are based largely if not wholly on malice," said Henry W. Lewis, attorney for Mrs. Joyce. "I don't think the law can be employed to assassinate character of innocent persons. We assert vindictiveness was responsible for the allegations made against Mrs. B. C."

Finally, as the engine jammed on the brakes, the man stumbled and fell. Vanineweg immediately reversed the wheels, but his effort was not necessary. The boy, exerting remarkable strength, pushed his companion over the rails into a ditch, waved his cap and disappeared in the woods as the train came to a stop.

GRIFFITH WAS NEARLY FREED FROM PRISON

Party of Sinn Feiners in Armored Car Got Into the Jail.

GUARDS BECAME SUSPICIOUS OF THEM

Got Away Themselves But Had to Leave Prisoners Behind—Car Found Later.

Dublin, May 15.—An unsuccessful attempt was made Saturday morning to rescue Arthur Griffith, founder of the Sinn Fein party, from his confinement in Mount Joy prison. An armored car which had recently been captured by the republicans was used in the attempt to rescue Griffith.

A man in an officer's uniform alighted at the prison gates, which opened to admit the passage of the car and he and his supposed soldier companion in the motor drove straight to the governor's office, where the governor and his deputy were bound and gagged.

The visitors proceeded to release Griffith and others of the prisoners and were returning to their car when they encountered a party of auxiliaries.

Decamped Without Men. This necessitated a change of course on the raiders part. Meanwhile a party of men, led by Kirley, entered at an elevated point in the prison became suspicious and fired a shot.

Chicago Druggists Were Badly Fleeced

Former Dry Agents and Policeman Collect Over $200,000 from Them.

Chicago, May 15.—More than $200,000 was exacted from Chicago druggists by two former agents of the prohibition enforcement office and a former Chicago policeman, according to Col. A. C. Barnshaw, of the Federal Special Intelligence Service.

Victor J. Peterson, Joseph Morris and Leo Powers, the three ex-dry agents and policeman, are involved. All are said to have confessed. They will be tried on charges of representing themselves as Federal officers.

Peterson and Morris were agents under Major J. V. Dalrymple. According to Colonel Barnshaw, the men would enter a drug store, produce forged credentials, inspect the liquor stock and sales records and if these were found not in proper order, the druggist would be placed under arrest.

An opportunity would be given the victim then to suggest a payment of money.

"I never took less than $500 from a druggist," one of the three told Colonel Barnshaw.
