The Paris correspondent of the Times indicates as the result of yesterday's vote in the French Chamber, that the committee of thirty now have received an imperative mandate, forcing them to promptly organize either the septenate without proclaiming the Republic, or to constitute the definitive Republic under President MacMahon. It is probable that the commission will organize a septenate, and mission will organize a septenate, and the Assembly will ratify its decision, otherwise the majority hitherto with the Government will shift to the Left, which, in all probability, would cause MacMahon to resign SPAIN'S CIVIL WAR. A battle between the Republicans and Carlists at Estella, Spain, is reported in FRANCE'S POLITICAL MUDDLE. The Orleanist papers in Paris do not deem the recent rejection of Rochefoucald's Monarchial resolution by the Assembly utter defeat. The members of the Right and Left Centres of the French Assembly are commended by the Parisian Republican journals for voting against the Monarchy. A deputy in the French Assembly claims that seven members represented as voting "urgency" were not present, and that a rectification of the vote would make it 539 affirmative to 340 negative. It is reported that preliminary steps for an alliance of the Left and Right Cen-The Duc de Bisaccia has resigned from the French Cabinet. A student who flattered himself he knew much about naval science introduced the subject to the President, but he soon retired in confusion, as the Doctor knew vastly more about it than he did, carrying away Collingwood's despatches, which he was advised to read thoroughly. A distinguished naval officer spent several hours with him, and remarked to a friend, "I called on the Doctor, expecting to be greatly improved by an interview with a man of his reputed learning; but he made me do all the talking. In a recent lecture on the Roman Catacombs, Dean Stanley of Westminster Atbey said that the oldest chamber of the catacombs, which dated from about the beginning of the second century, contained representations of a joyous nature. There were no crosses or illustrations of torture, or deaph's heads, but wreaths of roses and children at play. Heathen paintings were very freely copied, the figures of Orpheus, Psyche, and Bacchus being frequent. In the midst of so much heathen im iggry was the frequent representation of the Good Shepherd. The religion of the first Christians, as it appeared in the catacombs, was a religion of a joyful nature, one which had a tendency not to repel but to include, not to condemn but, to save. Besides the Good Shepherd the most prominent figure was the vinc, which ran over the whole chamber.

Also—Agents for the MARITIME KNITTING
MACHINE Ayer's Cherry Pectoral A MONG the great discoveries of modern science, few are of more real value to mankind thun this effectual remedy for all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. A vast trial of its virtues, throughout this and other countries, has shown that it does surely and effectually control them. The testimony of our best citizens, of all classes, establishes the fact that Cherry Pectoral will and does relieve and cure the afflicting disorders of the Throat and Lungs beyond any other medicine. The most tlangerous affections of the Pulmonary Organs yield to its power; and cases of Consumption, cured by this preparation, are publicly known, so remarkable as hardly to be believed, were they not proven beyond dispute. As a remedy it is adequate, on which the public may rely for full protection. By curing Coughs, the forerunners of more serious disease, it saves unnumbered lives, and an amount of suffering not to be computed. It challenges trial, and convinces the most sceptical. Every family should keep it on hand as a protection against the early and unperceived attack of Pulmonary Affections, which are easily met at first, but which become incurable, and too often fatal, if neglected. Tenrulus need this decence; and it is unwise to without it. As a safeguard to children, amid the distressing diseases which beset the Throat and Chest of childhood, Cherry Pectoral is invaluable; for, by its timely use, multitudes are rescued from premature graves, and saved to the love and affection centered on them. It acts speedi'v and surely against ordinary colds, securing sound and health-restoring sleep. No one will suffer troublesome Indituenza and painful Brouchattis, when they know how easily they can be cured. Prepared by Br. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, MASS., Fractical and Analytical chemists. Sold by all Druggists Everywhere.
