Two persons were buried by the Society in our lot at Mount Hermon. Their names were Elijah Green, formerly a soldier in the 17th Regiment, and George Cooper, a farm labourer.

Situations were found for several applicants.

A few persons may have been relieved whose necessities were the result of their own improvidence, and some, perhaps, who were not all they pretended to be; but the only individuals known to have imposed on our Society to any great extent are three whose names are mentioned in the Report of the Committee of Management. These worthies having obtained from the Society on certain conditions board, lodging and clothing, and situations having been found for them with great difficulty, thought proper to run away from these situations shortly afterwards, taking with them all they had obtained from us, and one of them taking also an advance of wages received by him from his employer. Very possibly they may have since victimised other societies in the same way. These cases show the necessity of some mutual arrangement by which St. George's Societies in various parts of the country could warn each other of the advent of such gentry.

Your Sub-Committee consider also that it would be very beneficial to all parties were some scheme devised by which this Society could be placed in communication with sister societies and colonization societies in the Eastern Townships, and elsewhere throughout the Dominion, with the view of obtaining some reliable data as to the number and classes of people for whom work could be provided by these Societies in their several districts.

The whole respectfully submitted.

W. CLINT,

Secy. S. C. of C.

On behalf of the Sub-Committee.
