PAULINE FREDERICK AT HER BEST IN EXQUISITE SETTINGS

Motion pictures as a series of brush portraits flashed upon the canvas of episodes thrown together before the camera in disregard of composition, the theory of Pauline Frederick. And it has never been more carefully observed than in her latest Goldwyn vehicle, "The Fear Woman," which is to be shown at the Rome theatre commencing Thursday.

Miss Frederick, always an exponent of the most advanced artistic theories, maintains that motion pictures, without a sense of pictorial, as well as dramatic value, are inconsistent. Composition, however, she says, cannot be considered as finite as in a still-life painting, and will differ with the requirements of the screen.

"In a still painting or portrait," said Miss Frederick, "the artist leaves a finite impression. A genuine glance at the subject is sufficient; one does not instinctively feel that he wants to personally visit the locale. In a cinema, however, the effect is different. If a rumpus is made, it is flashed onto the screen the spectator at once feels a longing to see the original.

"No matter how intense the dramatic qualities of a photoplay, if the optical effect is contradictory, the production is bound to be a failure. No star wishes to work in a series of unbalanced episodes—unbalanced to the extent that all the action takes place in the right-hand lower corner of the screen-picture while the rest of the space is left unattended. In "The Fear Woman" the balance of every scene is as perfect as expert screenwriters can make it. In Hugo Bellin's settings the optical effect is carried out to the nth degree. In no place have we in the east been forced to work in overcrowded, complicated sets. Mr. Bellin has carefully chosen his composition, which he does by a unique method. He picks his doors and windows meticulously, and judges his entire set by their position. Instinctively, the eye will at once look for the doors in a stage or screen setting. It will then follow the picture to see how the other properties are placed.

"The settings of "The Fear Woman," particularly elaborate, are representative of the new studio work. In the scenes in the Fear Woman's boudoir, the simple conservative yet modernistic impression has been carried out by a pair of long, graceful velvet drapes hung on each side of the dressing table. Halfway upstairs slightly to the left is a small table, topped with a hanging lamp. On the extreme left is a small bookcase, and on the extreme right a chaise longue. A velvet rug with no decorations covers the floor. Upstage to the left is a French door leading to a balcony, while to the right is another leading into the bedroom. Such, I believe, is perfect balance. There is neither too much nor too little. The players were given a chance to move freely and only by freedom of action can a play be successful. Such are the features which I believe will make "The Fear Woman" the most successful of any of my Goldwyn productions."

WOMEN AS BRAVE AS THE MEN

Their Struggle Shows a Remarkable Spirit.

Talk of the bravery of men, but where can you find a finer spirit than among the half-sick women who are fighting and struggling to do their duty against the terrible odds of ill-health and who will not give up.

One woman in every three is struggling against weakness. Most of them are not exactly sick, but, oh, how miserable.

The burden and misery of it all has its foundation in the blood which is thin and watery. The red cells are too few. The very stream of life is reduced in vitality. Weakness and inevitable ill-health are the certain result.

Every ailing or weak woman can quickly regain her health in this very simple way. By filling the system with the nutrition that comes from rich red blood, a quick change for the better will result. To accomplish this, take two chocolate-coated Ferrozone Tablets after each meal. You'll feel better immediately for the simple reason that Ferrozone renews the blood. It gives you vim, vigor, endurance, restores a tired, worn-out system very quickly.

You'll feel like new all over once you get Ferrozone working through your blood. It puts color into faded cheeks, brightens the eye, quickens the step, brings back that wonderful feeling of youth.

One of the finest things Ferrozone does is to make you eat lots and digest it as well. With keen appetite, sound sleep, strong nerves and lots of nourishing blood you're bound to regain robust health. Any sickly girl or ailing woman that Ferrozone won't make well must be incurable. There is a secret power in Ferrozone and it is worth a trial at all events. Fifty cents per box, six for $2.50. At all dealers in medicine or by mail from The Catarthozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

Already a great many people desiring an absolutely secure place to keep valuable papers, have taken one of these boxes, and it is expected that the Company's present supply will soon be all taken.

These steel boxes were procured from Messrs. Goldie & McCullough, of Galt, manufacturers of burglar-proof safes, and each box requires two keys for opening. The customer keeps one and the Company the other.

Every convenience is provided for customers desiring to deposit or withdraw their securities. The vault is separated from the main office and has connected with it two small rooms providing absolute privacy to any customers desiring to examine their papers.

A great many people keep valuable papers about the house, which might easily be destroyed in case of fire. Such valuables as VICTORY BONDS, MORTGAGES, DEEDS, WILLS, JEWELLERY and other articles would be absolutely protected in a SAFETY DEPOSIT BOX.
