

Because You Need The Money

It's your business and if you don't attend to it, who will? You cannot afford to keep cows for fun. That isn't business, and, furthermore, it isn't necessary. There is money in cow keeping if you go at it right, and besides there is more fun in going at it right than there is in staying wrong.

You need a Tubular Cream Separator because it will make money for you; because it saves labor; because it saves time; because it means all the difference between cow profits and cow losses.

Look into this matter; see what a Tubular will do for you and buy one because you need it. How would you like our book "Business Dairying" and our catalog B. 12 both free. Write for them.

antipathy. The bluff old minister, with his brusque manner and big heart, would have no truck with the man who never went to church, was perpetually in liquor, and never spoke good of his neighbors. Yet he entered upon the interview fully resolved not to be betrayed into an unworthy expression of feeling; rather to appeal to the little man's better nature.

The conversation had not been in progress two minutes, however, before he knew that, where he had meant to be calmly persuasive, he was fast becoming hotly abusive.

"You, Mr. Hornbut, wi'. James Moore to help ye, look after the lad's soul, I'll see to his body," the little man was saying.

The parson's thick gray eyebrows lowered threateningly over his eyes. "You ought to be ashamed of yourself to talk like that. Which d'you think the more important, soul or body? Oughtn't you, his father, to be the very first to care for the boy's soul? If not, who should? Answer me, sir."

The little man stood smirking and sucking his eternal twig, entirely unmoved by the other's heat.

"Ye're right, Mr. Hornbut, as ye aye are. But my argiment is this, that I get at his soul best through his leetle carcase."

The honest parson brought down his stick with an angry thud. "M'Adam, you're a brute—a brute!" he shouted. At which outburst the little man was seized with a spasm of silent merriment.

"A fond dad first, a brute afterward, aiblins—he! he! Ah, Mr. Hornbut! ye 'ford me vast diversion, ye do, indeed, 'my loved, my honored, much-respected friend.'"

"If you paid as much heed to your boy's welfare as you do to the bad poetry of that profligate plowman—"

An angry gleam shot into the other's eyes.

"D'ye ken what blasphemy is, Mr. Hornbut?" he asked, shouldering a pace forward.

For the first time in the dispute the parson thought he was about to score a point, and was calm, accordingly.

"I should do; I fancy I've a specimen of the breed before me now. And d'you know what impertinence is?"

"I should do; I fancy I've—I wad say it's what gentlemen after are unless their mummies whipped 'em as lads."

For a moment the parson looked as if about to seize his opponent and shake him.

"M'Adam," he roared, "I'll not stand your insolences!"

The little man turned, scuttled indoors, and came running back with a chair.

"Permit me!" he said blandly, holding it before him like a hair-cutter for a customer.

The parson turned away. At the gap in the hedge he paused.

"I'll only say one thing more," he called, slowly. "When your wife, whom I think we all loved, lay dying in the room above you, she said to you in my presence—"

It was M'Adam's turn to be angry. He made a step forward with burning face.

"Aince and for a', Mr. Hornbut," he cried, passionately, "understand I'll not ha' you and yer likes lay yer tongues on ma wife's memory whenever it suits ye. Ye can say what ye like about me—lies, sneers, snash—and I'll say naethin'. I dinna ask ye to respect me; I think ye might do sae muckle by her, purr lass. She never harmed ye. Gin ye canna let her bide in peace where she lies doon yonder"—he waved in the direction of the churchyard—"ye'll no come on ma land. Though she is dead, she's mine."

Standing in front of his house, with flushed face and big eyes, the little man looked almost noble in his indignation. And the parson, striding away down the hill, was uneasily conscious that with him was not the victory.

Granite ROOFING

TRADE MARK

This great pier was roofed seven years ago with Granite Roofing. At the present time it shows no signs of wear, and is expected to give excellent satisfaction without attention or repairs for at least ten years longer. Unlike the ordinary ready roofing, which is adapted only for temporary buildings and sheds, Granite Roofing may be economically used on all kinds of structures. Its unusual weight, 140 lbs. to the roll, gives to this roofing unparalleled durability. It can be laid by any one who can handle a hammer. Granite Roofing has a surface of stone, thoroughly imbedded into its composition, which makes it fireproof and takes the place of the paint or coating.

Send for free Sample and Booklet, and learn about this best of all roofings.

It was at a class in arithmetic that the following household problem was exactly solved:

"Suppose that in a family of five there are only four potatoes for dinner, and the mother wants to give each of the children an equal share—how is she going to do it?"

For a few minutes there was silence in the room while everybody calculated hard. Finally one of the little boys rose to his feet, and after attracting the attention of the schoolmaster, gave this unexpected answer:

"Mash the potatoes, sir."
