OCTOBER 80, 1916

sion. An odd look crept across Mother Agnes' face. Her eyes rested on the crippled child with such mean-ing that the priset understood at once why a sudden hush had fallen on the entire group. "Prince David ?" he said in an un-stone. 'It—it isn't possible ?" Susan rose to her feet, her sweet se earnest, her sweet mouth trem.

will always be a care, are interior, —at least for many years,—a care and expense. He has been here since he was a tiny baby,—thirtsen months, wasn't it, Mother Agnes?"

But Susan was not listening. "The very name, —why, it is even the very name! David !" she mur-mured, —"David Harrison. Do you like is, John ?"

like is, John ?" John was looking gravely at the small boy in Father Perry's arms. He saw the one useless, shrunken little leg, the heavy brace, the crut-ohes lying idly now against the good priest's knee. And John's heart beat a trifie faster. He was tender and careful always of small, helpless things,—this big grave man. He did not see the blueness of the lad's aves. He saw only—and loved—his eyes. He saw only-and loved-his helplessness. like it, Sasan," he said heartily.

"I like it well."

Again Father Perry and Mother Agnes exchanged glances, and this time the big man read significance in them. "Wait a bit," he said. "There is

"Wait a bit," he said. There is some one who has a claim on him ? He has a father or mother living ?" "No." Mother Agnes shock her head: "only an uncle—his mother's brother. One of the conditions of entrance is that both father and mother must be dead. Our aim is princi-pally to find good Catholic homes for the children. They night to the Blessed Virgin" (with a Tender little smile) "that she will send them their earthly mother very soon. We have had eight adoptions during the last two months," she

"David," said Father Perry, gently, "your father and mother have come. Do you think you will love them ?" David pulled down the priest's head and whispered a question.

"Indeed you'll be quite near me. You're only got a three minutes' walk to reach St. Anne's—and that's where I live. A mother who loves him is the most of David's needs, he added to Susan.

"A mother who loves him? echoed san, holding out her arms. David my darling, won't you come to a mother who needs you ?

The boy stirred. Father Perry lifted him quickly; and the next instant he was cuddled against Susan's breast, and Susan's empty arms ware filled. A mist rose over Father David's mother ! David's It is mother is here !" cried one little chap and the news spread like wildfire. "Oh, oh, David's mother is here!"

A young religious appeared in the porway of the big room, her glance seeking Mother Agnes. "Please come outside while we get David's things together." said Mother Agnes quictly, as she obeyed the silent summons. The other children crowded around David, kissing him good bye cheerfully. There was no cult to imagine the wide influence of this movement, the spirit of fraternal charity that governed these associa-tions where lords and peasants swore treaties of peace, the wonderful humanitarian character of these leagues that protocted the poor and their possessions, the profound Chris-tian sense which animated these new institutions and finally the love of institut which their statues revealed. "Yes, Uncle William," said the boy. "Kiss me good-bye, laddie. You'll think of your Uncle William, won't you, sometimes ? Maybe by and by they'll let you write to me ? Only a little letter to say you're happy. I'm going far away-out West and I'm never coming back, -never, Davy." "The write Uncle William."

"That's a son! Give me a big hug, —tighter, tighter ! It's all I'll have, all I'll have, my Davy—" Sobs choked him. He took the thin little form in his arms, carefully, tenderly—ch, so carefully and tender-ly ! institutions and finally the love of justice which their statues revealed. In them we find the germ of a "peoples right." "These leggues, however, were limited in their good effects. They could not pretend to oppose indefinite-ly wars that were just, for that would have been exclust for that would 17 "Don't feel so bad, Uncle William," comforted the child. "I'll write, and you'll write, too." He kissed him again and put him ly wars that were just, for that would have been against good order, nor could they reach the powerful and mighty lords, the kings to whom war was as their life's breath. War had to be checked, muzzled, so to speak. And so the 'Truce of God' was estab-lished, a fact which appeared for the first time at the Council of Elne in 1027. This Council declared it illicit to attack an enemy from 9 a. m. Saturday until 1 a. m. Monday. This prohibition was later extended to the days of the week consecrated to He kissed him sgain and put him quickly into Mother Agnes' arms. Father Perry carried the little chap to the waiting motor car, and watched it until it disappeared. He was not going back with them: he wanted them to be alone with their new treasure. He was elated, happy ! What a life for the poor little, big-hearted, crippled lad What a home! What love ! He turned to meet the nervous the days of the week consecrated to the great mysteries of Christianity,

He turned to meet the nervous man coming down the steps, and paused to lay a kindly hand upon his viz : Thursday in memory of the Ascension, Friday in honor of the Passion and Saturday in honor of the Resurrection. Still another step included Advent and Lent. Efforts were thus made to limit the scourge

"You've seen a good deed done this day," he said. "Davy's found a mother and a father. "I'm glad to hear you say that. Father," replied the man huskily. "I's good he's to be taken care of. Would on mind please. I'm going awayof private wars without suppressing is outright. The penalty was excommunication. The Truce scor spread from France to Italy and Ger you mind, please-I'm going awaybut if I write will you send me word of him? I wouldn't like to lose many and the ecumenical Council of 1189 extended it to the whole world. "The spirit of faith, justice and sight of my sister's child."

sight of my sister's child." "I'll let you know," said Father Perry. He put his hand in his pocket and drew out a card. "You can always reach meat this address." charity, fostered by the Peace and Truce of God, was further cultivated by the splendid religious orders of St. Francis and St. Dominic, which The man thanked him silently. The priest watched the halting hopeoriginated about the beginning of the Middle Ages. The Third Order of St. Francis, like the Third Order of St. less figure going down the streets Dominic, was recruited exclusively and there was something like tears from among the people living in the world and was imbued with the peace in his eyes.

But there was no sadness in Susan's home-coming. The vision child had disappeared. She clasped the reality close to her, and he looked loving spirit of its founder St. Francis and his disciples, the mendicant friars. Under the rule of this order, up at her with the eyes of her dreams.

Who knows? Perhaps the dead mother had but exchanged children with the living one? Perhaps the mother of David, too, had been long. ing for her lost treasure until Susan's went to fill her heart. Who knows ?

THE CHURCH AS PROMOTER OF PEACE

N. Y. Catholic News

At the quarterly theological conference of the priests of the arch-diocese held in Conference Hall, Cathedral College, on Tuesday, Sept. tributed in the greatest measure to 14, the Rev. Francis X. Albert, paston of St. Boniface's Church, New York and a former professor at St. Joseph's Seminary, read a paper on "The Church and Paace." It was a timely and carefully prepared account of the position the Church has taken as a thousands upon thousands en potent factor in the promotion of potent factor in the promotion of peace throughout the ages. The paper was listened to with special interest by the assembled priests and was favorably commented on by His Eminence the Cardinal. Father

Middle Ages, the grandest effort to introduce more justice among men. In addition to the Third Order, there Albert's paper was as follows : "All historians are unanimous in appeared in the same period the order of the Humiliati, the Order of their testimony concerning the great number of wars that devastated Europe toward the end of the tenth good bys encertainy. Their own might in their causes, their character and facts the Church to the cause of peace and justice. tered sorely. The rights of people were ignored as the power of the "Thus from the eleventh to the thirteenth century, a grand endeavor was made by the Church in favor of sword reigned supreme. The irenic movement which began about this time and which marked the eleventh peace and the ultimate triumph of justice. Popss, Bishops and monks, and tweifth centuries was due, no the only ones capable of governing the world, fulfilled their mission of doubt, to the weakened condition of the people exhausted by frequent peace and responded to the hopes of wars, but also, we believe, to the re-vival of interest in patristic literathe people. "Notwithstanding the zeal and ture. It was only when ecclesiastics once more took up the writings of the Fathers and there read the splen activity of the Church in favor of the various institutions of peace, the various institutions of which we spoke did not and could not touch the root of the evil, i. e., the warlike and brutal nature of the did commentaries on the Gospel of did commentaries on the Gober of Peace as preached by Our Saviour, that the questions of justice and right were revived. It is the Church therefore, and in particular the Church of France, which in the face lords. The Church understood this and therefore created, or rather ap-propriated to herself, Chivalry. Find. ing herself face to face with an instiof returning barbarism will sheath the sword, recall to the minds of the mighty lords the rights of the weak, tution of Germanic origin which grouped about itself the elite of feudal elevate justice and once more create the rights of the people. How the Church of the Middle Ages carried out nobility, she penetrated it with her spirit instead of destroying it and succeeded in making of the brigand, very often hidden beneath the armor this, her peace programme, is the subject of the present paper. of nobility, the type of the Christian oldier. The character of the true 'The first ecclesiastical institution Christian Knight is well traced by Leon Gautier in the Decalogue of the in behalf of peace of which we read in the history of the period under discussion is known as 'The Peace of God,' which exempted from the Knighthood composed by himself. (1) Thou shalt believe all that the Church teaches and observe all her commandments; (2) Thou shalt evils of war all consecrated persons, clerics, monks, virgins and cloistered respect the weak and constitute thy. widows; (2) all consecrated places, churches, monasteries, and cemeterself their protector; (3) Thou shalt always be the champion of good and right against evil and injustice. The ies with their dependencies; (3) consecrated times, Sundays and ferial character of the Christian Knight days, all under the special protection of the Church which punished transmay also be learned from the formula of the blessing of the sword : 'Bless gressors with excommunication. At an early date the Councils extended O Lord, this sword that thy servant might be the defender of churches, widows, orphans and of all who love God, against the cruelty of heretics the 'Peace of God' to the Church's proteges, the poor, pilgrims, crusad-ers and even merchants on a journey. Together with the Peace of God, 'Leagues for the maintainence of Peace' were formed at Poitiers, A. D. nd pagans.' It was her sense of justice and right that prompted the Church to create other military orders for the defense of human dignity and 1000, and a militia to maintain peace and order was established at Bourges justice against bruts force. For ex-ample, the military order of the Faith and Peace established in 1229 and confirmed in 1231 by Amaneve, in 1031. This remarkable movement, begun in France, slowly extended itself to the North and into Germany. After 1030 the Popes officially joined their efforts with those of the Kings of France and Germany. It is diffi-and introduced into the Church by cases of arbitral intervention, i. e.,

THE CATHOLIC RECORD

There's a Subtle Charm about the delicious flavour of you a sample. Black, Mixed or Green.

St. Bernard. 'There is no law,' says St. Bernard, 'which forbids a Chris-tian the use of the sword. The (los-pel recommends moderation and justice to the soldier, but it is no-where stated : 'throw down your arms and renounce the life of a soldier. Unjust war alone is forbidden, especially among Christians.' The statutes of this order were framed by St. Bernard himself.

"And now we come to the Crusades, concerning which some have main-tained that they were not just wars in the sense taught by the Doctors of the Middle Ages. And among the Ornsades we shall include not only those for the conquest of the Holy Land, but also the Crusades against the Moors, Albigenses, the Hussites and the Turks. Just a few words to show that these wars were justified. show that these wars were junctum. As regards the Crusades for the con-quest of the Holy Land it has been stated that they were undertaken for the mere pleasure of spilling blood upon the relics. Against this objecupon the felics. Against this object tion we can set various just reasons in defense of these Crusades. (1) they were undertaken to defend Christianity menaced by the invasion of the Saracens; (2) to deliver the Christian inhabitants of the Holy and them the constant annowance Land from the constant annoyance and persecution to which they were subjected ; (3) to answer their just the tertiaries were obliged to become reconciled with their enemies; to preserve the peace in families the rule prescribed that they make their appeal; (4( to avenge the maltreat-ment suffered by pilgrims to the Holy Sepulchre. The Crusade against the Moors of Spain was a merely defensive war. The Crusade against last will before admission, and legal contention was forbidden them. In the Albigenses was undertaken in the year 1221 they were forbidden to make an oath to feudal lords and to defense of human scciety in general for their doctrines concerning the carry arms. If the Third Order of St. Francis and St. Dominic succeed. family, marriage, property and coun-try made these heretics veritable anarchists who were a menace to ed in spreading with such marvelous rapidity throughout the world it was society. That this was the sole reason for this Crusade is also proven because it responded to the super-natural aspirations of souls longing by the fact that Innocent III, when he saw that the Crusade had defor closer union with God ; but also for closer union with God; but also because it was wonderfully adapted to the times and offered to the masses, enervated by continuous warfare, social peace, the object of their most ardent desires. The rule veloped into a war of conquest and that the Crusaders had lost sight of its original just purpose, at once en-deavored to stop it. The same must of the tertiaries, in point of fact, con-

be said concerning the Crusade against the Hussites which was directed by Martin V. and the Crusade ward the overthrow of the feudal system of the Middle Ages, a system based on egotism, oruel and bar-barous. Later on it was specified against the Turks who threatened to submerge Christian Europe. It thus appears very clear that these Crusades including that of Leo IX. against the that the tertiaries were not permitted Normands of Sicily, were undertaken for the defense of Christian civilizato engage in any offensive wars ex-cept in defense of the Church, the tion against barbarism and anarchy and in this light were justified. atholic faith of their country, and rolled "On the other hand the Church in this new militia of peace. It is no was always solicitous about checking exaggeration to state that the Third and putting a stop to wars that were really unjust. Thus in 1203 the Pope forbade the Crusaders to march Order of St. Francis was one of the against Constantinople. Innocent III., as we saw, put a stop to the Crusade against the Albigenses when it overstepped the limits of a just in vasion. Martin V., after the Sicilian the same purpose. A little later the Militia of Jesus Christ, founded by St. Dominic, also consecrated itself the justice of the Roman Church stands against him with all power." Finally the Sovereign Pontiffs personally refused to make peace with who enjoyed benefices that those were the fruit of war.

where the Sovereign Pontiffs inter where the Sovereign Pontiffs inter-vened at the request of the beliger-ents or perconally offered to arbi-trate between the contending parties. Between the eleventh and sixteenth centuries we read of Leo IX. estab-lishing peace and order in Southern Italy devastated by the Normands; of Paschal II. who restored peace be-tween dragon and its enemies. of Faschai II. who restored peace ba-tween Aragon and its enemies. Gregory VII. did his best to prevent Philip J., King of France, from enter-ing war with William the Conqueror; Urban II. asted as mediator batween the Emperor and the King of Sicily. the Emperor and the King of Sicily. Innocent II. arbitrated the differ-ences between England and Scot-land. Alexander III. and Celestin III. reconciled France and England. Innocent III., who declared that the Pope is the sovereign mediator on earth source arbitration provider earth, acted as arbitrator in Portugal Aragon, Poland, Armenia, Bulgaria, Aragon, Poland, Arthonia, Dilip of Servia, and reconciled Philip of Swebia with Oito of Brunswick. 1285 Geneva and Venice submitted the settlement of their differences to the Pops. Boniface VIII. restored peace between the Scots and Edward I. Benedict XII. was the mediaton between France and England. We might go on indefinitely multiplying instances of Papal intervention, referring to Clement VJ., Innocent VI., Urban IV., Gregory XI., Martin V., Eugene IV., Callistus III, Plus II., Sixtue IV., Innocent VIII. and many others.

"When we pass from the Middle Ages, however, mediation and arbi-tration on the part of the Church become rarer as the true Christian spirit vanishes and the reasons of state take the place of a 'just cause.' But still in 1514, when pagan right, sanctioned by the Reformation, legitimatized the bellicose principles of Princes, the Lateran Council once more proclaimed to the whole world that nothing is more pernicious nothing more sorrowful to the Chris tian Republic than war.

"In conclusion it is quite established from what has bee that the Catholic Church ha throughout the ages, but parti in those ages most needing a ing influence, the most potent in the promotion of peace a preservation of the moral among men. True to her mission, she has persevered appointed task to spread the n of peace and good will amon And if to day she stands po amid these smoking ruins of lated Europe, it is not beca sympathies have changed, h cause governments have deat to the gentle persuasi mother's voice that calls peace and security."

> THE RELIGIOU AWAKENING

EFFECT ON PROTESTANT SOLDIERS

ANTI CLERICAL ANXIETY :

everyone is light hearied; it gives us courage; we feel ourselves a great deal stronger." EFFECT ON THE ENGLISH EFFECT ON THE ENGLISH The English, fighting side by side with the French troops in France, are struck with the religious feeling they have witnessed, and feel its effects. It will be remembered that a Protestant officer in the British army a short time ago was expressing his admiration, and added ; "My orderly who is a Wesleyan, says he is going to study the Catholic religion, for it looks to him like the true one." In fact, there is quite a movement towards Catholicism among the officers and men of the British Ex-peditionary Force. The example of the resche army, and the faith of the oppole about them, have at tracted them. Like the Wesleyan orderly, many of them are inquiring into the Catholic religion and go to church.

church. HARBINGER OF RELIGIOUS PEACE

Furthermore, many signs point to a religious peace. To the pastors of Muerthe and Moselle, the prefect, M. Mirmon, who up to that time had passed for an anti-clerical, stated plainly: "We will rebuild your churches." And when M. Poincare visited the places devastated by the Germans, he approved M. Mirmon's speech and confirmed his promise. The Government will rebuild the churches! There was a time when it talked of closing them; but we are a long way off from that. The execu-tion of the laws against the Congregations is stopped. Who would dream of taking it up again? Who would wish to exile again those who rushed to their country's defence ?-Edinburgh Catholic Herald.

AUTOMOBILES LIVERY, GARAGE R. HURSTON & SONS Livery and Garage. Open Day and Night. 79 to 483 Richmond St. 380 Weilington Phone 443 Phone 443 FINANCIAL HE ONTARIO LOAN & DEBENTURE COT Capital Paid Up, $1,750,000. Reserve $1,450,000 Deposits received, Debentures issued, Real Kata-coans made. John McClary, Pres.; A. M. Smart, Mgr Offic:: Dundas St., Cor. Market Lane, London. PROFESSIONAL CARDS FOY, KNOX & MONAHAN Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, &c Hon. J. J. Foy, K.C. A. E. Knox. T. Louis Monahas E. L. Middleton George Keough Cable Address : "Foy" Telephones { Main 794 Main 798

Offices : Continental Life Building CORNER BAY AND RICHMOND STREETS TORONTO

Chris-	P. O. Box 2093 Phone M4116
clearly en said s been cularly a guid- t factor	H. L. O'ROURKE, B. A. (Also of Ontario Bar) BARRISTER, SOLICITOR, NOTARY Money to Loan Suite 5, Board of Trade Building. 231 Eighth Avenue West, CALGARY, ALBERTA
divine in her message g men.	JOHN T. LOFTUS, Barrister, Solicitor, Notary, Etc. 712 TEMPLE BUILDING TORONTO Telephone Main 632
werless a deso- use her but be- become	P. J. O'GORMAN ARCHITECT Plans, Specifications, Estimates prepared. SUDBURY, ONT.
hem to	FRANK J. FOLEY, L.L.B. BARRISTER, SOLICITOR The Kent Building Corner Yonge and Richmond Streets TORONTO, ONT
S	D. BUCKLES, Crown Prosecutor. R. DONALD M.A.MACPHERSON, LL. B. Crown Bark of Montres Union Bark
TY :	BUCKLES, DONALD & MacPHERSON

WesterveliSchool Y.M.C.A. BLDG., LONDON, ONT. Students assisted to positions. College opens Sept 1st. Catalogue free. Enter any time.

THREE

J. W. WESTERVELT J. W. WESTERVELT, Jr. C.A. 18

An Entirely New List of

tions on the Hidden Life. By the author of "Voice of the Sacred Heart." A MESALLIANCE. A Novel, by Katherine

Tynan. THE HONOR OF THE HOUSE, by Mrs. Hugh Frazer (Mrs. Frazer is a sister of Marion Crawford.)

Fraser. (Mrs. Fraseris a sister of Marion Crawford.)
 THE PATH WHICH LED A PROTESTANT LAWYER TO THE CATHOLIC CHURCH by Peter H. Burnett. He takes up and answers the common historical objections urged against Cath-olicismi; then passes on to examine the chief dogmas that are disputed by Protestants.
 THE MYSTIC TREASURES OF THE HOLY MASS, by Rev. Charles Coppens, 5. The priest will find in Fr. Coppens work a burning coal with which to animate his fervor, and the faithful will coms into possession of a practical knowledge of the grand external ceremonies of the Mass and of its eternal mystic treasures.

the grand external researched to a set of its eteral mysic treasures. THE WAYFARER'S VISION by Rev. Thomas J. Gerrard. Altogether a most fascinating book, and one which tends to strengthen the soul in its Godward effort. EDGAR, or From Atheism to the Full Truth, by Louis Von Hammerstein S.J. Some of hi books have gained a world wide renown, and spread his mame far and wide as first-class apologist, who is up to rate in every branch of Protestant controversy. In this translation he gives us a new proof of his apologetic genius and enterprise. THE LIGHT OF FAITH by Frank McGloin. One other weres the stranslation he gives than application a built deerves to rank with Fr. Lambert's famous of the few bloks of general Christian applicat which deserves to rank with Fr. Lambert's fam 'Notes on Ingersoll.'

which deserves to rank with Fr. Lambert's famous 'Notes on Ingersoll'
THE FUNDAMENTAL FALLACY OF SOCIAL-ISM, by Arthur Preuss. The book snould prove helpful especially in the guidance of workingmen tempted by the sophistry of elever revolutionists to place their trusts in Utopian visions.
ROADS TO ROME, by J. Godfrey Raupert. Being Personal Records of Some of the Most Recent Converts to the Catholic Paith. With an Intro-duction by Cardinal Vaughan.
THE TRIUMPH OF THE CROSS, by Fra Giro-lam Savonarola. Translated from the Italian. Edited, with Introduction by Very Rev John Protei, O. P. It is not only valuable from a historical standpoint, but is a logical and con-vincing treatise on the truth of Christianity.
BACK TO ROME, by Scrutator (J. Godfrey vincing treatise on the truth of Christianity. BACK TO ROME, by Scrittator (). Godfrey Raupert) Being a Series of Private Letters, etc., addressed to an Anglican Clergyman. MYSTICISM: Its True Nature and Value. By Rev. A. B. Sharpe. With a Translation of the "Mystical Theology" of Dionysius and of the Letters to Caius and Dorotheus.

Letters to Calus and Dorotheus. 20D'S WORD IN NATURE, by Rev. M. S. Brennan, Second Edition of "The Science of the Bible"

FIDE. FHE SINS OF SOCIETY, by Beraard Vaughan, S. J. Words spoken in the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Mayfair, during the SOCIETY, SIN AND THE SAVIOUR, by Bernard Vaughan, S. J. Addresses on the Passion of Our Lord.

Lord. LIFE OF CHRIST FOR CHILDREN as told by a Grandmother, by Comtesse de Segur. Adapted from the French by Mary Virginia Merrick. It is a powerful appeal to an ianoceut child whose heart is always so sympathetically responsive to the call of love.

of love. THE CARDINAL DEMOCRAT. Henry Edward maning. By J. A. Taylor. It is a true portrait of the Cardinal whose own ideal of a good bishop he surely realized. THE LORD'S PRAYER AND THE HAIL MARY. Points for Meditation. By Stephen Beissel, S. J.

Points for Meditation. by technical overhead of the COME, HOLY GHOST ; or Edifying and Instruct-ive Selections from Many Writets on Devotion to the Third Person of the Adorable Trinity, by Rev. A. A. Lambing, LL. D. With Preface by the Right Rev. Camillus P. Maes, D. D.

Right Rev. Camillus P. Maes, D. D. THE MANTILLA, by Ri hard Aumerle. The Mantilla is a romantic tale of insurrectionary Cuba, with Bob Weldon, engineering student and foot-ball king, as hero; and Mary Dunieaven Meicz-deres, otherwise Corita, for heroine.

ARNOUL, the Englishman, by Francis Aveling. JACK SOUTH AND SOME OTHER JACKS, by David Bearne, S. J. Elders as well as juniors may read it with both profit and pleasure.

AURIEL SELWODE, by Emily Bowles. Woven with strands of history are dark threads of jealousy, plots and forgeries; but there are also bright weavings of love; and, of course, all's well that ends well.

ends well. ORCHIDS. A Novel by Lelia Hardin Bugg. THE MASTER MOTIVE. by Laure Conan. A Tale of the Days of Champlain. Translated by Theresa A. Gethin.

Theresa A. Genni. CHE MAGIC OF THE SEA; or, Commodore John Barry in the Making, by Captain James Connolly, It is a historical novel, and well fit to take its place beside 'Richard Carve'.

TRAMMELINGS AND OTHER STORIES, by Georgina Pell Curtis,

Mother Agnes awaited them at the door; the young nun had disappeared. By some strange coincidence, the child's uncle has just come in to see him," she said. "I have told him. May he say good-by?" "He is satisfied?" asked Susan. "Oh, my, quite so! He is starting West to night; that is the reason for his sudden appearance now. Just as well. Had he waited it would have been too late."

David went away in Mother Agnes' arms, and into the brightly lighted little reception room at the side of Uncle William! Uncle William! cried David, "I've found a mother ! The man sitting on the edge of a small chair, balanced his hat careful.

ly on his knee. He was thin-lipped, "Mother Agnes told me. Do you like her Davy ? " "She's awfally nice. My father's nice too." He stood leaning against the man's knee, looking up into his face. The man winced.

"I saw her, I think. The door was 'Twas the lady was holding you ?

That's the one," said David. "She's got the look of your own mother on her face, though your mother was a wee woman,--a wee woman, Davy." "Yes, Uncle William."

"She had blue eyes like yours,blue eyes like stars, Davy. Don't forget that, lad. Blue eyes like yours, that never showed a mean thought. Don't forget that either.' "No, Uncle William, I won't."

"You must love these-these people.

"Oh, I shall! Did you see my nev father ? Was my other father like him,-big and fine and strong ?" The thin man hesitated.

"No he wasn't like him. But he was good—he tried to be good. Your mother's eyes were so blue, Davy. Even the memory of them could make a man good."

"We shall now refer briefly to the principal instances of intervention on the part of Sovereign Pontiffs in the interest of peace. One of the first instances is that of Alexander

II., who excommunicated Harold movement. King of England, who was found guilty of perjury. Gregory VII. espoused the cause of Rudolph against Henry IV. Clement III. sought by all means at his command to reconcile England with France so hat they might join forces in the third Crusade. Gregory IX. excom-municated Frederick II. as a perseoutor of the Church and oppressor of public liberty. Boniface VIII. writes to Philip the Fair to respect the truce ciate signed with England. Eugene IV.

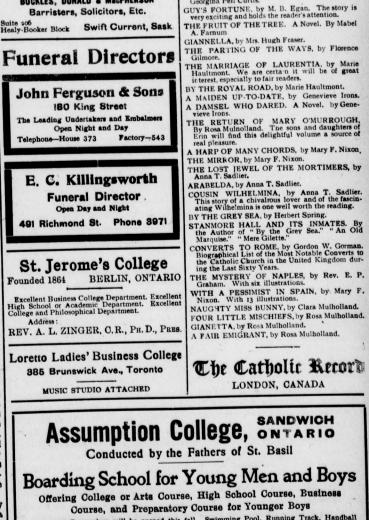

addressing the whole Christian world and inviting all to rise together against the Crescent, desires and ordains in virtue of his supreme authority that the whole Christian world be at peace. Those individ-uals refusing obedience are threatened with excommunication and com munities with interdict. Pius II. commands the subjects of Ferdinand of Naples to be subject to their prince and declares that peace is a luty and that it shall not be toler. ated to have recourse to arms to settle the Neapolitan question. Paul II., seeing himself obliged to inveigh against the King of Hungary because he had disturbed the peace in declaring war against Podiebrad and who on the other hand seeing Florence, Naples and Milan, in spite of his efforts, unwilling to lay down their arms, proceeds against them with his supreme power, and under pain of interdict commands them to lay down their arms within thirty days.

The religious revival in the French army is so general, so public, it causes great anxiety to the organs of anti-clericalism, as, for instance, La Lantern, and L'Humanité. They wish steps taken to prevent the religious propaganda in the hospitals and among the troops ; they lemand "the laicisation of the front." Is this not a positive acknowledg nent of the strength of the Catholic A militant Socialist of the eight eenth division recognizes this fact published by L'Humanité : "I was able to make a number of psycholog ical studies. Conventions, preju-dices had fallen off, leaving life stripped. Men showed themselves for what they really were, brave or cowardly, noble or base, unselfish or egotistical. And I could apprethe religious awakening so much noticed to day, and so much talked about. . . COMMUNION AT A REQUIEM general Communion at an open air Mass for the dead said over the still fresh graves of his comrades, is described by a soldier from Toulouse He says : " If amongst those some had been incredulous ' If amongst those present foole in the past, they were so no longer. From the general to the youngest rooper, from the wildest to the wisest, they were as one man. Shells burst at a little distance, but no one budged. Believe me, in these times no one thinks about his neighbor ; he just does what his conscience dict The officers were the first to kneel around the priest, and then, one after the other, we all knelt on both kness on the wet ground to receive Com-munion. No one did it because he had to, but because he wanted to."

The same impression is given by another soldier : "Before the war a great many fellows were ashamed to kneel down and make the Sign of the Cross. You don't find any of these around now. On Sundays if we are where we can hear Mass, there is never room enough. Afterwards new Gymnasium will be opened this fall. Swimming Pool, Running Track, Handball Acres of Campus extending to the banks of the Detroit River. New Dormitory Building pened in September. Private Room accommodation for 100 students.

FALL TERM OPENS MONDAY, SEPT. 6, 1915 For Catalogue and particulars address Rev. F. Forster, C. S. B., President.