A NOVEL SUBJECT FOR THE PULPIT.

Probably no class at the present day is more looked after by the Churches than the young men. Wherever we go we see the announcements of sermons and lectures addressed especially to them...

Selecting his text from 2 King x. 15, "Is thine heart right? If it be, give me thine hand." Dr. Davidson proceeded to deal with his subject, which he entitled "Hearts and Hands," and considered it under the twofold division—a heart searched, and a hand sought.

In the course of his remarks he said I blame the pulpit for avoiding a subject which will not permit me to elude. I should be less than a man, I should crush and ignore the human that is in me, were I to speak to you of hearts and hands, and not refer to those attachments which have more to do with your future happiness than all others put together.

Where, I ask, more than within such inclosure, is a young man likely to find one who is worthy of his affections, and fitted to be a true helpmeet to him in life? It is not the least interesting thought to myself, in connection with my ministry here, that it has been the means, more or less direct of the formation of many unions which have proved as happy as Heaven ever smiled upon.

Countless sufferers find the balm of relief, and the fountain of their health and strength in AYER'S SARSAPARILLA. It is the most potent of all the alteratives to purify the system and cleanse the blood. It possesses invigorating qualities, so that it stimulates the faded vitalities and purges out the corruptions which mingle with the blood, promoting derangement and decay.
