dence seemed to close the gates against paths she would have trod, she cheerfull said, "He knows best.' In all the scening ills and reverses of life, and when her dearest earthly hope was required to be laid on the altar, she yielded, trusted and believed that God was in it all and it was for her greatest good. The secret of her deeply pious and useful life, was her sanguine trust in the wisdom and righteousness of Providence.

But sickness came while teaching in Halifax county, in that insidious form, consumption-and her "school was dismissed," finally. She wrote to me, "I I think the end is not very far; perhaps a ycar or less. But his will be done. If he spare me I hope I shall be more than ever His; if He take me away I shall be more than ever His, I shall go to rest securely with Him-the cares, heart-aches, unsatisfied longings, pain, sorrow, and sin ended. In either case I bow my head and say, 'Father I thank thee."

She came to the parental home to meline in the arms of gentleness and love. Six months ravages of the disease wrought dissolution. Medicine, sympathy could stay it. I saw her then. She said to me, " I have told you about my three wishes in childhood, viz .- to teach school, write a book, and die of consumption. The first two have been fulfilled, and the last will come in a few days. How good of my Father to grant me those three wishes. I did not think to go before you, but I will now be your welcoming angel to the beautiful h aven we have talked so much about. I have not much spiritual rapture, but my feet are on the Rock."

A few days later, surrounded by her sorrowing friends and breathing words of heavenly trust, she sank into the arms of God-died as she had lived, trusting in him. Her words, her life and death point. ed upward. Rev. Mr. Craig improved the funeral occasion by an impressive sermon from these words chosen by herself: "I am the resurrection and the life;" after which Mr. M. Lodge gave a deeply affecting address in which he reviewed the Christian life and example of the deceased-then they laid her under the shadow of the "maple tree" that watches over the kindred sleepers on the green-hill side, to await the voice, "Lo the morning breaketh." Sweet spirit, "Thy troubles are o'er," the bright eternal gates have opened for thee, angels have led thee to thy Father and placed thy hand in his. We hope to meet thee in the mystery to come. May all thy relatives and friends be comforted concerning thee.

A nobleman, who died a few years since, had a chest all locked up, but marked, "To be removed in case of fire." When he died his friends opened that chest, supposing of course, that some valuable document or deed of property, rich jewels or costly plate would be found in it. But what did they find ? They found the toys of his little child. who had gone before him,-richer to him than the world's wealth, richer than his coronet, brighter than the jewels that sparkled on his crest. Not his estate, not his jewels, not his equipage, nothing glorious and great in this world: but the dearest objects to him Black Silk Fringes and Trimmings, Colored were the toys of his little child .- Children's Friend.

UNDERGROUND CURIOSITIES.

At the city of Medina, in Italy, and about four miles around it, wherever men arrive at the distance of sixty-two so. feet, they come to a bed of chalk which they bore with an auger, five feet deep. They then withdraw from the pit before the auger is removed, and upon its ex. traction the water bursts up through the aperture with great violence, and quickly fills the newly-made well, which continues full, and is affected neither by rains nor drought. But what is the most remarkable in this operation is the layers of earth as we descend. At the depth of fourteen feet are found the ruins of an ancient city, paved streets. houses, floors and different pieces of mason work. Under this is found a soft 002y earth, made up of vegetable, and at twenty-six feet, large trees en. tire such as walnut trees, with the walnuts still sticking to the stem, and the leaves and branches in a perfect state of preservation. At twenty-eight feet deep a soft chalk is found, mixed with vast quantities of shells, and the bed is eleven feet thick. Under this, vegetables are found again.

ABSTRACT EFFECTS.

Fellows' Hypophosphites, on being introduced into the stomach, unites with the food, and immediately enters the circulation ; and, being perfectly miscible with the blood, speedily pervades every part of the system. Its effects are first declared by a pulse slightly increased in full fess and strength a general exaltation of the organic functions, and exhibit a specific function of the intellectual powers. Its specific influence is on the brain and nervous substance, increasing the activity of the absorbents, and rtnewing the blood, thus causing the healthy muscular formation so necessary in restoring the functions of the previously weakened organs.

Being then, a tonic of the nervous and circulatory system, it follows that, when there is a demand for extriordinaty exarcion, its use is invaluable, since it supplies the waste through the circulation, and sustains the general system.

At no period of life is watchful care over the functions of the brain more requisite tdan during the acquisition of knowledge by the youth : ploiding, persevering study requires a store of vigorous nervous force, or the child may sink under the mental toil.

Stern necessity may compel the student to strain his powers beyond the dictates of prudence, and the early promise of excellence may be blighted thereby.

To such we recommend Fellows' Hypophosphites it will not only restore the sinking patient, but it will enable the toiling student to preserve his men-tal and nervous standard with ut detriment.
