THE LATE CAPT F A BROWN

Referring to the death of Capt. F. A. Brown, at Middleton, the Berwick Register says: died at his home in Middleton.

"Capt. Frederick A. Brown on Wednesday of last week. He was a native of Windsor, where he was born in 1850, and where his early life and school days were spent. At the early age of 21 he received his captain's certificate. The home of his early married life was in Hantsport, from which place and from Windsor his first voyage as master mariner were made.

His later voyages were chiefly to the Eastern Mediterranean, to Siam and to China. During these he had many varied and interesting experiences. After leaving the sea, Captain Brown was, for many years, the trusted Superintendent for the Hong Kong and Kowloon Wharf and Godown Company, of Hong Kong, China. After his second marriage, Capt. Brown and family made two visits to Nova Scotia before returning here to remain permanently, which he did in 1909. He resided for two years in Berwick, his home being on Main Street, in premises now owned and occupied by Capt. W. T. Warren. From here he moved to Middleton, where he built a residence on Main Street, but gave his chief attention to his farm at South Farmington.

Until within the last six months, Capt. Brown had always enjoyed excellent health. During the early part of the present year it became apparent that his heart was affected, he suffering repeated nervous attacks. His death from heart trouble took place as we have said, on Wednesday. Capt. Brown was first married to Miss Maud Davidson, of Hantsport, by whom he had four children; Minnie, first wife of the late Harry W. Davidson, formerly of Berwick, and mother of Mrs. Roy D. Chisholm; Gordon D., of Cranbrook B. C.; Wm. Murray, now of St. Louis, Mo.; and Elsie, wife of J. A. Beckwith, of Berwick.

In 1891 he married Hattie, daughter of Capt. William Hibbert, then of Yarmouth, who, with her son, Max, survives him.

This household commodity seems to be a popular booze substitute for those addicted to intoxicants in the Valley. In this instance a man drank two 2-oz. bottles and landed in jail charged with being a common drunk. The finding will occasion some interest among grocers throughout the Province.
