Pounded by Footpads.

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 24.—A dastardly attempt was made to murder Engineer John Price, of the post office, by a couple of young footpads last night just after dark. He had just come out of his home in Wellington street and was going up to the office. He had proceeded only a few steps when two men emerged from a dark corner, and one of them struck him a vigorous blow over the left eye with a heavy cough! which stunned him. Several more blows followed in quick succession and Price was rendered unconscious. It is supposed his assailants were frightened off by an approaching pedestrian. He was taken into his house, and it was found that he had an ugly cut over less loft eye, and that the lower part of the optic was terribly blackened. mage is under contract to write for no other tirm.

The World Publishing Co. inform us of another most unusual thing in the book trade, viz., that so far as orders have been received, they are four-fifths of them for the best morroco binding, this feature is never found in the sale of sensational or common books. All agents who want to make big money should apply to the World Publishing Co., of Guelph, for circulars and terms. This is the same book that was recently given such a splendid notice in the Teronto Globe.

FOR BETTER FACILITIES.

Whitby and Other Towns Agitating

for Railway Accommodation—
Whitely, Jan. 24.—The council is again moving in regard to betterment of our railway arrangements. The public is awakening to the disadvantages of a railway station two miles from the centre of town and dangerous of approach. Whitby is not alone in this respect. The towns east are more or less the same way. A special committee of the town council, to which the matter is referred, propose holding a conference with representatives of these municipalities to see what can be done before the Grand Trunk double tracking through here further confirms the mistake of the original alignment. The Canadian Pacific Railway also might relieve these suffering communities by the proposed line from Agincourt on the Ontario and Quebec division through these towns. for Railway Accommodation.

The Ontario Bank Officials.

The Mail of this morning has the following with regard to the Ontario Bank: The Ontario Bank case was advanced another stage at the Police Court yesterday.—Wm. H. Godwin was charged in one information with embezzling $300 from the Ontario Bank on January 2nd, and with embezzling $20 of the monies of the same institution on the 13th of December. He was remanded till Wednesday next, and bail was fixed at two sureties in $1,000 each. Half an hour afterwards bondsmen were secured, and he was taken away from the unpleasant atmosphere of the police cells. Godwin seemed to feel his position keenly, and evidently had not slept during the night. Whenew. R. Moffatt was called the Crown Attorney announced that his case would also stand enlarged until Wednesday, according to arrangement with the defence. Messrs. W. F. W. Creelman and W. W. Vickers appeared for the defence. During the afternoon the many friends of Mr. Moffatt discussed the lardshins he was undergoing, and they promise that some peculiar revelations may yet be made in connection with the case. Moffatt does not complain of his treatment at the gaol. Bailiff Edward Gegg, whose evidence the bank officials will ask to be taken, denies the statemont that any money was sent to him while in England by Moffatt.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 24.—The coroner's jury in the case of the four-teen men drowned in the bridge casson on January 2th, rendered the following verdict: "We believe the said accident was the result of the men in the casson becoming panic stricken."

The contractors are exonerated.

Obsequies of Mr. W. H. Billings, Whither, Jan. 24.—The funeral of W. H. Billings, one of Whithy's oldest barristers, took place yesterday and was largely attended.
