Pte. McLaughlin, 77th 34 Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 23. - With romising samples of coarse gold in his pockets and a hair-raising story of several days spent as a castaway on a driftheap in a plunging Alaska river, when he lived on a diet of dog and an occa-sional fish, Arthur Baer arrived at Se-ward the other night, according to pas-sengers who have just come down from the north. Baer made his gold find near Mt. McKinley, and affirms he can stick a shovel into the ground and scoop up colors anywhere. On his way back, in a frail boat, he was wrecked in the Chulitna River, his little craft being hurled against a blocked heap of drift on a small bar in the middle of the

DOCTORS TALK ON LIVE TOPICS.

Pure Milk Supply and its Importance to All.

The Model Home and How it Will be Furnished.

Conferring Degrees Upon Many Eminent Men.

Toronto, Aug. 24.-Many subjects of sections of the British Medical Association vesterday.

The views of the members of the sec tion on State medicine and the subject of the control of the milk supply were epitomized in a resolution passed by that body yesterday. This expression of opinion was a recommendation to the Local Government Boards of Eng-land and Ireland and the Provincial Board of Health that there should be a more rigid enforcement of the regula-tions governing the handling and dis-tribution of milk and the supervision of dairies. This oversight, it was felt: dairies. This oversight, it was felt; should be vested in the central authority, in view of the reluctance of local bodies to take drastic measures of enforcement.

Prof. Hewlett contributed a paper Prof. Hewlett contributed a paper emphasizing the need of compulsory veterinary inspection as an essential factor in procuring a pure milk supply. He advocated the enforcement of the law to that effect by the central authority, under the Government Board of Health. As a precautionary measure the immediate chilling of milk was advocated. Sealed bottles for distribution were recommended. were recommended.
P. H. Bryce explained the Ontario legislation respecting the super-vision of dairies and the licensing of tario legislation respecting the supervision of dairies and the licensing of milk dealers.

Dr. J. Groves, Carisbrooke, Isle of Wight, regretted that even with the care taken in England, conditions were not ideal; while Prof. Gloister, Glasgow, lamented the fact that executive action was deferred until after harm had been done, instead of being preventive.

At the close of the discussion a resolution was unanimously passed to the effect that the time had now arrived when the existing provisions of the law with regard to the housing of dairy cattle, milk storage, and milk distribution, and the periodical inspection of such cattle and dairies should be more strictly enjoined upon the local authorities. The resolution will be forwarded through the Council to the Local Government Board of England and the Provincial Board of Health of Ontario.

The Model Modern Home.

When the important topic of hygiene in the home and public institutions was taken up Dr. J. J. Cassidy, of the Ontario Board of Health, read an able paper on the subject.

The medical inspection of schools was the subject of an instructive paper by Dr. Helen MacMurchy, of Toronto.

the doctor advised.

"In large municipalities the solution of the large death rate is the establishment of milk depots and ice stations, where pure, wholesome milk may be obtained at a nominal cost, or free where the parents are too poor to pay for it," said the doctor.

During the discussion of abdominal operations in the section on obstetries, the question was raised as to whether or not the vermiform appendix, the seat of the disease known as appendicition snould be removed, whether diseased or not, whenever an operation was per-formed for any other abdominal trou-ble... One or two doctors favored its ev-cision, on the ground that the organ was unnecessary, and likely to cause trouble. The majority who spoke, however thought it better not to remove the appendix unless it was diseased.
