LOCAL & OTHER ITEMS

Ell Gibson and Jessie Robertson skated into a hole at Ferry Sound, Ont., and were drowned.

Henry Palmer, before the courts for vagrancy, was discharged on Wednesday last. No other charge was preferred against him.

The Baldwin Theatre, at Springfield, Mass., was totally destroyed on the 6th following a gas explosion, and several other buildings nearby burned. The total loss is over four hundred thousand dollars.

An earthquake lasting twelve seconds occurred on the 5th at Tenerife, overturning furniture and causing great excitement. The people rushed into the streets in wild alarm, but no serious damage was done.

Washington train-wreckers opened a switch, locked it and extinguished the lanterns near Commercial Point. The Great Northern express was derailed, a fireman killed and several other persons hurt as a result.

At noon on Monday, Robert Emmet Hughes, about 24 years of age, grocer on King Street, died very suddenly. He entered the kitchen and fell unconscious dying shortly after. Apoplexy was the trouble.

In an attempt to escape arrest for stealing pork from a warehouse, George Cox, aged forty, plunged into the river near St. Stephen, N. B., and was so thoroughly chilled that he died from exposure shortly after being rescued. He leaves a widow and three children.

The barkentine McLaughlin and the schooner Arthur Lord, both St. John vessels, were driven ashore at Cape Cod, Mass., during a thick snow storm. Both are lying in a dangerous position. The crews were taken ashore by life savers, after great difficulty.

Agatha, 18 years of age, daughter of Philip Gaudet, Miscouche, died last week of typhoid fever. Her mother, two brothers and two sisters were all laid up with the fever. She nursed them, but her devotion cost her her life. She contracted the fever and died after an illness of two weeks. R. I. P.

It is believed at St. John, N. B., that two hundred men who had been employees of the Intercolonial Railway in Northern New Brunswick last summer, perished in the Italian earthquake, more than this number having returned to spend the winter in Southern Italy. Those remaining are frantic with anxiety.

King Manuel of Portugal was present at a banquet given by army officers in Lisbon last Friday night. A lieutenant publicly warned his majesty that a plot to dethrone him was in course of preparation. The officer declared further that the King was surrounded by spies and traitors. Extra guards are now on duty around the Royal Palace.

A distressing affair took place at Rosetown, N. S., on Tuesday of last week, when Captain Oswald Lohme was drowned in a cask of water in his cellar. He was stooping over the cask, and, losing his balance, fell in head first. He was a well known fishing and coasting skipper. Capt. Lohme's death is deeply felt in the community, where he was a respectable citizen.

The American fishing schooner Atlanta arrived at Lunenburg, N. S., on the 4th, from the Banks, and reported loss of two of her crew, W. R. Deacon, of Nova Scotia and Frederick Burke of Prince Edward Island. They left their vessel on December 10th to overhaul their trawls and failed to return. The vessel searched for the missing men but failed to locate them.

Six night riders have been found guilty of murder in the first degree at Union City, Tenn., two guilty of murder in the second degree. The latter were sentenced to 90 years in prison, while the former will get life sentences. The charges arose from the death of Captain Rankin. Prosecutions have been entered against other participants in the crime.

During divine service in an ancient church at Bern, Switzerland, on Sunday last, the church collapsed, burying the worshippers among the ruins. Practically the whole congregation was killed or injured. The wildest panic prevailed through the village, the people believing an earthquake had occurred. Forty bodies were recovered from the wreck, and sixty injured persons.

Estimates of damage resulting from the recent N. B. asylum fire vary from fifty to eighty thousand dollars. The entire western wing of the institution is destroyed. It is considered almost miraculous that 400 insane patients were banded in total darkness and amid the wildest confusion without one being injured or exposed. The fire destroyed the heating and washing plants, and will result in a great inconvenience.

The following item, showing the manner of winter we had 78 years ago, is from the Royal Gazette of January 18th, 1831: The Hillsboro' was frozen sufficiently firm for foot passengers to cross on Friday, the 14th. Yesterday, however, much of the ice had disappeared and nothing was to be seen but clear water from the King's wharf to the block house, while above the wharf people were able to pass on the ice, and nearly the same state of things continues today. The ice is far from being good, and many people prefer crossing in the ferry boat. Very little snow has yet fallen, so that travelling in sleighs, etc., is still greatly impeded by the bareness of the roads.

The storm of the 6th in New Brunswick was very severe. Highway and railway bridges in many districts were carried away. Vessels were seriously damaged. Railway traffic has been practically suspended. The Montreal express, due at St. John on the 6th, was delayed by a wash-out. The big steel bridge at Kouchibouche was destroyed. Many wooden buildings were carried away. Sussex was practically flooded, one family being rescued from their home in a boat. St. John was practically isolated. The first train from the westward since Tuesday arrived Friday afternoon, bringing hundreds of passengers and exceedingly heavy mails. About three o'clock Friday the trains were despatched eastward, making connection with the steamers from Plouar Saturday morning.
