IN THE YEAR 1932

how much will you have accumulated at your present rate of saving? Most men will have little or nothing saved if conditions are at all similar to those of to-day.

Every prominent young man appreciates the wisdom of accumulating for his own benefit at least, and looks forward to an old age of comfort and enjoyment relieved from want and worry. And every thoughtful man endowed with manhood feels that a duty rests upon him to make some provision for others dependent upon him.

The safest, simplest and most profitable way to accomplish all this, and to be sure of a snug competency by the year 1932, is by investing in a Canada Life Endowment Policy for $5,000 or $10,000, according to your means and requirements. The policy can be bought on easy instalments and facilities are provided to assist in carrying and enjoying the insurance.

Send in your name and age and let us submit to you a good proposition.

Making Good.

The fifth annual congress of the International Chambers of Commerce which was held in Boston recently, was attended by 800 representatives of 46 different countries, and in the speeches made 16 languages were severally used. The representatives of Bermuda were Sir Thomas Wardrow and Mr. Pierce Hand. Mr. Hand is a native of St. John's and an ex-pupil of the Christian Brothers Schools, and was assistant in the office of Messrs. Harvey & Co. He left here about six years ago and located in Bermuda and has now a flourishing business there. The Bermuda Colonist gives him a flattering reference in connection with the excellent work he did for the Island while at the Congress. Mr. Hand is a nephew of Capt. Pierce Whalen, of the Tug Co., and his friends here will be glad to learn of his success at Bermuda.

Reducing Labor.

Any kind of a Motor Engine is better than none, as nearly all engines are good, at least for a time, so when a person buys an engine for the first time it is such a departure that he is quite delighted and thinks it is the best obtainable. It is only after a year or so when he has familiarized himself with Motors, that he realizes that some motors can be had to run better than others. So it will be with the FAIRBANKS. When you see it running you will at once understand the difference between it and the engine you are now using, and you will then realize the superiority of it over all others.

It has displaced all others in the Maritime Provinces, where all makes advertised on this market were for sale, and it will also displace all others here.

Ex-Convict Statesmen.

British Annals Show Several Remarkable Instances.

There are several instances in colonial politics where ex-convicts have risen to positions of eminence after their release from prison.

There is Sir Starr Jameson, Bart. C.B.E., better known, perhaps, as "Dr. Jim," who, as all the world knows, led the famous raid into the Transvaal in 1895, after the failure of which he was tried in London and sentenced to ten months' imprisonment. Less than ten years afterwards, in 1904, that is to say, he was chosen Premier of Cape Colony.

His was, of course, a political offence. So was that which caused Sir Charles Gavan Duffy, some time Premier of Victoria, to be branded as a felon. He was implicated in the Irish rebellion of 1848, a fact which was afterwards to gain him the enthusiastic support—and the votes—of all his compatriots in Australia when he elected to go in for politics.

Another Australian Premier who "did time" was Sir Charles Dibbs. He served a sentence in Darlinghurst Jail, Sydney, for contempt of court. Afterwards, when a turn of fortune's wheel made him Prime Minister of N. S. Wales, he had to appoint a new governor of Darlinghurst. He selected the warden who had charge of him as a prisoner.

Edward Gibbon Wakefield, another famous Australian statesman, was actually at one time a convict, his offence being the abduction of an heiress, a fairly common crime in England seventy or eighty years ago, but one which the laws always regarded seriously and punished severely. The Australians of his day, however, were many of them ex-convicts or the descendants of such, and these did not regard his offence as reflecting on his honor in any way, while the romantic circumstances surrounding it gained him many sympathizers among the ordinary colonists. On his release these rallied round him, and before long he became the most powerful political personage in the sub-continent.

Yet another old convict who rose through politics to high honor in Australia, after having served out there the sentence of imprisonment passed on him, was Dr. O'Doherty. He was convicted and transported for treason, and on his release he became a popular hero. He sat in both Houses in the Queensland Parliament, and afterwards filled several high official posts in that colony.

Children Love Syrup of Figs

Gently cleanses the stomach, liver and waste-clogged bowels.

Every mother immediately realizes after giving her child delicious Syrup of Figs that this is the ideal laxative and physic for the children. Nothing else regulates the little one's stomach, liver and 30 feet of tender bowels so promptly, besides they dearly love its delightful fig taste.

If your child isn't feeling well; resting nicely; eating regularly and acting naturally it is a sure sign that its little insides need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or your little one has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, tongue coated; give a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs and in a few hours all the foul, constipated, clogged up waste, undigested food and sour bile will gently move on and out of its little bowels without nausea, griping or weakness, and you will surely have a well, happy and smiling child again shortly.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging your children, being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics, it cannot be harmful.

Mothers should always keep Syrup of Figs handy: It is the only stomach, liver and bowel cleanser and regulator needed—a little given to-day will save a sick child to-morrow.

Full directions for children of all ages and grown-ups plainly printed on the package.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. This is the delicious tasting, genuine old reliable. Refuse anything else offered.

Starved to Death. In Sight of Food.

London, Nov. 15.—Ashmead Bartlett, correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, at the Turkish headquarters, at Hademkeui, sends the following dated Friday, by way of Constantinople:—

"The Turkish soldiers are starved. They are suffering from the effects of the terrible Lule Burgas battle, and are falling ready victims to the cholera and dysentery, even close as the army is in Constantinople, the men are receiving only a bare ration of bread with rice occasionally.

"This is all the more extraordinary in view of the fact that the whole country between the lines and Constantinople is crowded with live stock driven in by the refugees. Although the Turkish Commander has everything else required for some inexcusable reason, he has made no effort to use the immense quantities of fresh meat at hand.

"At Lule Burgas, where a Commander-in-Chief's army was starving, enormous herds of sheep grazed under the fire of the enemy and were driven off with the routed army. Yet hundreds of men died of starvation in sight of food.

"Any other army would have considered it a God-send. The Turk is not a meat eater, and seems to be unable to change the habits of his life-time even to meet the exigencies of actual starvation. Moreover, the Turkish soldiers are quite incapable of looking after themselves in the field and would not kill a sheep without an order from an officer.

"The men openly declare that they don't want to fight. It is impossible to arouse in the Asiatic Turkish soldiers any enthusiasm over a war in European Turkey. They hardly seem to regard the country as part of the Turkish Empire, and their minds are far more exercised over the loss of Tripoli than the disasters which have overwhelmed their armies in Thrace and Macedonia."

Saw Gibson Grasp Throat.

Goshen, N.Y., Nov. 20.—"I saw Gibson seize Mrs. Szabo around the neck with his left arm; I saw the right hand thrust at her throat; then they both fell out of the boat."

John Minturn, eye witness of the death of Mrs. Rose Menschik Szabo, for whose death on Greenwood Lake Burton W. Gilson, of New York, her lawyer, is charged with murder, so testimony was introduced to bear out the State's contention that Mrs. Szabo was strangled by Gilson, and did not die of drowning.

"Gilson and his companion were standing back to back in the center of the boat," Minturn said. "Gibson wheeled as they were passing and seized Mrs. Szabo—they struggled for a moment, the boat rocked. They fell out, the woman first, the man afterwards."

"Presently the woman was lost to sight. The man then swam over to the boat, put his arm over it and turned it over. The boat remained right-side up when they fell out, and stayed in that position till Gilson tipped it over."

Public News

FOR OUTPORTS.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir.—Here's another sample of the so-called "Public News" that was despatched to the Outports on the 21st inst., from St. John's:—
"Annual Sale of Work in aid of Wesley Church, St. John's, was opened yesterday afternoon by Lady Morris, wife of the Premier, who was introduced by Rev. F. R. Matthews, pastor of Church."

While P. T. McGrath can use the Public Telegraph wires to such an extent and for the purpose the above would betray, he only sends very few words of war news which is a matter of deep concern to everybody. Here is the war news sent us on the same day as the above:—
"Armistice prior to arranging Peace terms has been proclaimed by Turks and Balkan allies."

We are not concerned as to who opened the Wesley Sale of Work, or whose purse they tried to open, unless indeed Sir Edward Morris becomes a better man by this extra spiritual influence. But we are interested in the present war and want a fuller despatch sent to the Outports, more particularly when the freight traffic is allowed to interfere with the regular transmission of His Majesty's mails, as is the case to-day.

Further, we most strongly object to our public telegraph lines being used, as they are to-day, for the partisan purposes of the present Government, at public expense. If Sir E. P. Morris needs boosting, and apparently P. T. McGrath thinks he does, then let him pay for the telegraph messages out of his own pocket.

No one is led to think for a moment that the compiler of local telegraph despatches wishes to benefit the Methodist people, or cause, for there are so many important things happening in the Methodist connection that never find a place in the "Public despatches." So you can console yourself, Mr. P. T., with the fact that no one is deceived by your tactics to-day.

Yours truly,
Nov. 22, 1912. OUTPORT.

Do You Know How a Suit of Clothes is Made?

Do you know how a pair of shoes is made? Are you a judge of fabric and of leather? Are you a judge of workmanship? Do you know that there are 152 parts in the average suit of clothes, and that the workmanship on any one of these parts can be skimmed and cheapened?

Did you know, for example, that in some factories they give you a hand kneaded collar which takes a tailor fifteen minutes to make and that in other factories they have a machine that does the work in three-fifths of a second?

Did you know that there are sixty-two parts to the average pair of shoes, and that every one of those parts can be cheapened to make a price?

Did you know that your shirt can be made in twenty different ways with twenty different qualities, so that, while you can hardly tell them apart, one shirt will last many times longer than another?

Now, what are we getting at? Simply this: If you know merchandise, you can buy your clothes, your shoes, and your shirts, any place. But if you don't know merchandise, then there is only one thing left for you to do, and that is to buy it from the man who does know merchandise and whom you can trust.

Now what men are the best experts on merchandise and how are you going to be able to know them? The answer is very simple. The leaders in every business line are the best merchandise men, because they have to be the best in order to become leaders.

Next in order to find these leaders, all you have to do is read the advertising in your daily paper. In every line the men who advertise are the leaders in their lines. You know that as well as anybody else.

And last, these men are safest to deal with because the man who advertises, while he has most to lose, also has most to lose.

Therefore the natural conclusion is that in buying your overcoat and suit, and your shoes, and shirts to-day, all you have to do is to look through this paper and buy these things from the men who advertise.

This is all so clear and logical that the next thing now for you to do, is simply to open your paper and begin looking.

The man behind his merchandise is the man you want to know.
