The Grizzly Bear.

By GEORGE FITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Sivas."

The grizzly bear is the most bear that is contained in a single hide. He lives in the Rocky Mountains and vicinity, and until the high power rifle was invented was not bothered much by his neighbors.

The grizzly is sometimes 10 ft. long from the top of his nose to the end of his very brief and economical tail and when he stands up on his hind legs and prepares to embrace a friend or foe he looks as tall as a light-house. A large grizzly weighs almost a thousand pounds, but he does not have to roll over on a personal enemy in order to kill him as an automobile does. He can bite through a gun barrel with his teeth and he can scratch furrows in a battleship's sides with his claws. Nothing is more discouraging than to meet a provoked grizzly and to have to attempt to reason with him while being hugged into a small bundle of messy remains.

The grizzly is amply equipped to take care of his own affairs and his greatest virtue is the fact that he always betrays an earnest desire to do this. He does not attempt to interfere with the plans of the passer-by so long as he is let alone. The grizzly is a whole peace commission by himself. He spends a placid vegetarian life, digging up roots, eating berries and occasionally attacking a mouse or a ground squirrel for desert and whenever man appears on the horizon he retires to some secluded spot. However, when some foolish enemy mistakes his peacefulness for cowardice and attempts to exterminate him the grizzly becomes a cyclone, an eruption, a catastrophe, a Mexican revolution and a destroying besom, all at once. Only those who are extremely good shots and who have plenty of ammunition and a large tree in the immediate background should attempt to show up the grizzly's cowardice.

The grizzly on account of his great willingness to defend himself let severely alone by all the animals and most men and should form a very instructive object lesson to those earnest advocates of peace who declare the United States should set an example to the rest of the world by throwing its guns in the ocean and arming itself with a Chautauque salute.

Dead Man's Wife Knows Where the Cached Treasure Is.

Savannah, July 13.—Mrs. Charlie Craven, whose husband, a desperado, was killed five months ago, leaving her $54,000 worth of cash and valuables secretly buried, is being watched by Secret Service men. Rather than let them know where the treasure is located, Mrs. Craven says she will suffer poverty.

Before being killed on a robbery expedition in Wellwood, Fla., Craven had been a successful crackman in Georgia, Alabama and Florida. According to his wife, he blew open a safe in the Owensboro Ky. post office and got away with thousands of dollars. After cracking successfully other cribs in Atlanta and Augusta, Craven joined his wife in Savannah. "He came back with $38,000 in cash and $16,000 worth of jewels," said Mrs. Craven. "He went out one night and buried the whole lot and no one knows except me where the treasure is."

Start Repairs to Storstad.

Quebec, July 14.—Work of repairing the damaged collier Storstad, which rammed the Empress of Ireland, was started Saturday night last about an hour after the vessel entered the Lewis dry dock. George T. Davis, proprietor of the dock, is supervising the repairs, and he has day and night shifts to rush the work.

The whole of the ship's stem is already removed. It was ripped and torn as far down as the keel, so that the repairs are expected to cost in the vicinity of $50,000.

It is not expected that the Storstad will be able to take to sea before a month or six weeks.

Crocker for Tammany Again.

New York, July 14.—Richard Crocker, the old-time leader of Tammany Hall, will return to New York from Ireland next September and seek to oust Charles F. Murphy from the leadership of Tammany Hall, according to Harry W. Walker, a confidant of Crocker, who reached here yesterday from a visit to Crocker in Ireland.

"Big things are going to happen when Crocker comes here in September," Mr. Walker said. "He has in his possession confessions that he is going to make public. These will have an important bearing on his fight against Charles F. Murphy, which he will vigorously renew."

Old Tom, Famous Shark, Is Killed.

Big Fish Lived in Waters of Port Royal Harbour for Twenty Years.

New York, July 15.—Old Tom, a shark, that has lived in the waters of Port Royal Harbor, Jamaica, for twenty years and is known to thousands of travellers and seagoing men, was put to death by the island authorities several weeks ago, according to officers of the schooner Caleb Martin, which arrived here yesterday with coconuts from Kingston.

The famous fish was one of the sights of the West Indies. He was to be seen every day in the clear waters of Port Royal and was fed regularly by the men of the British war ship fleet stationed there.

He preyed upon the other fish in the harbor and was equally as quick in attacking human beings. His presence precluded the possibility of sea bathing by the sailors and deserters among the crew of the British war vessels were few, as none had the fortitude necessary to swim ashore when old Tom was in the vicinity.

The shark always could be found near the war ships and the boatloads of tourists who daily went out to see him were never disappointed. If he chanced to stray away for a few minutes the loud beating of a tin pan would invariably bring him back.

During the twenty years that old Tom has been a familiar object a number of persons have lost their lives in the waters of Port Royal, due, it is believed, to his mad eating proclivities. He was never seen, however, to kill a person until a few weeks ago, when he attacked a native boy who had fallen overboard from a war ship cutter. The sailors tried hard to save the boy, and although their efforts were in vain several well directed blows, crippled Old Tom so badly that his capture a few hours later was an easy matter.

When the boy's death was reported the authorities decided that Old Tom must go. He was barely able to swim when they found him near one of the war ships and harpooned him. The carcass was taken ashore and after being mounted will be placed in a museum at Kingston.

The shark was nearly twenty feet long. Native fishermen said he had the most vicious teeth of any shark ever killed in the vicinity of Port Royal. Among the articles found in his stomach were three fathoms of chain; a gold watch; a marlin pin and a miscellaneous collection of nails, bolts and other small objects.

Lady Assassin's Charge Against Russian Monk.

St. Petersburg, July 15.—The Emperor of Russia's court physician, Professor Sergius Petrovitch Fedoff, and the Empress' lady-in-waiting, Mile. Virubova, started to-day for Tynnum, Siberia, according to the Courier, to attend the mystic lay monk and imperial confidant, Gregory Rasputin, who is suffering from a wound inflicted on him by a woman who tried to kill him.

In a newspaper interview to-day Guseva, the would-be assassin, now in jail, said she had long meditated killing Rasputin and thus "putting an end to the awful evil wrought by him in Russia by his impostures under the guise of a prophet." She declared "he had shaken Christianity, was sowing temptation and was blasphemously mocking the most holy feelings of true believers and the added that he enjoyed absolute immunity and had openly and without conscience ruined the lives of young girls."

Guseva concluded: "I as a simple Christian could not suffer his abuse of the church. I wanted to kill him last year. I went to Yail but could not approach because he was so closely surrounded by aristocratic women followers. I regret that I failed to kill him. All the same he will not live. The Russian people will not endure such disgrace."

Rasputin, in an interview said: "It is all that cursed Heliodorus, abbot of Tarsitayn. But to the confusion of himself and all my enemies I will live and they will have nooses put round their necks."

Heliodorus was a great rival of Rasputin's influence with the emperor. Rasputin is recovering from his wound.

WIRE WOUNDS.

My mare, a very valuable one, was badly bruised and cut by being caught in a wire fence. Some of the wounds would not heal, although I tried many different medicines. Dr. Bell advised me to use MINARD'S LINIMENT, diluted at first, then stronger as the sores began to look better, until after three weeks the sores have healed, and best of all, the hair is growing well, and is NOT WHITE as is most always the case in horse wounds.

DIPHTHERIA.—Diphtheria has been reported at British Harbor, Shill's Sound. Three persons are stricken with the disease and they are being attended by Dr. Chisholm.

Starvation In The Midst of Plenty

Many are actually starving, even though eating heartily three times a day. They are starving because the usual diet lacks certain essential elements.

In making white flour, the outer coat of the wheat, containing the phosphate of potash and other vital mineral salts, is discarded. These mineral salts are absolutely necessary to nerve health and therefore to body health.

Grape-Nuts

contains the whole nutriment of wheat and barley, including the mineral salts. The malting of the barley starts digestive processes and the 20-hour baking breaks down the starch cells. Grape-Nuts food digests in about one-third of the time required by white bread.

Ready to serve—convenient, healthful and appetizing.
