THE CANADIAN SIDE. WINNIPEG, Sept. 15. Local industries, representing capital investments of millions of dollars, in statements before the tariff commission urged the retention of a protective tariff, which they hold made their existence possible. Several local farmers definitely told the commission that any drastic lowering of the tariff would result in their having to cease business on account of competition from the United States.

DEMANDS OF ITALIAN LABOUR. MILAN, Sept. 15. Plans for a new law providing for the collaboration of workmen in the management of industrial plants, which will be presented at the next session of the Italian Parliament, have been placed in the hands of a commission appointed by the Socialist members of the House of Deputies. The leaders of the workmen insist that the agreement with employers must admit the men to the management of the technical departments, finances, and the offices for the engagement and dismissal of men. They assert that such powers should be exercised by organizations appointed by Labor Unions. The leaders declare the occupation of plants throughout the country will continue until employers' privileges are suppressed and the new right of labor acknowledged.

PROMISES PROTECTIVE TARIFF. NEW YORK, Sept. 15. The complete text of the speech delivered by Senator Harding, at Marion, Ohio, yesterday, which was received here to-day, shows that the presidential candidate forecast the possibility of a Republican protective tariff against Canadian wheat. It may be that a long list of our farm products will require a Republican protective tariff policy, he said. He then included Canadian wheat in the list of products, which he cited, and which he said, may threaten the life of production in the United States.

Joy Once More Holds Sway in McDonald Home

Daughter Again Picture of Health After Several Months' Illness.

"Tanlac has certainly brought joy to our family for it has restored my seventeen-year-old daughter to perfect health," was the statement made a few days ago by Mrs. Mary McDonald, of 16 South Kinross Street, Halifax.

"Florence was operated on about a year ago and she has never been able to get over the effects of it until now. She didn't seem to have any strength or energy and just had to drag herself about all the time. Often she went all day long without eating scarcely a bite of anything, and that kept me worried all the time. "Every morning she complained of feeling weak and dreary, and it just seemed to take all the strength she had to get out of bed and dress herself. Quite frequently she had awful headache spells and we could not get a thing that would relieve them. In spite of everything we did she gradually grew worse and fell off in weight all the time."

"Finally I decided to get her some Tanlac, and as several of our friends spoke well of it. That was two months ago and today she is the very picture of perfect health. She looks like a different girl and all our friends are surprised to see her so well and strong."

"Her appetite is just splendid and everything she eats seems to agree with her perfectly for she never complains of even so much as an uncomfortable feeling now. Those headache attacks have all left her and she has gained back all her lost weight and strength. She is bright and cheerful all the time and takes a new interest in everything. I am certainly thankful that I tried Tanlac, and I wish every mother in Halifax knew what I know about it."

Tanlac is sold in St. John's by M. Connors; by Reg. Sullivan, Pouch Cove; Sound Island Store, Sound Is.; Dennis Flynn, Avondale; J. J. O'Brien, Cape Broyle; J. W. Smith, Baine Harbor; W. A. Burdock, Belleoram; John Morey, Femeuse; Mrs. Jos. Quinn, Renew.—adv.

ALBANIANS WANT SERBS REMOVED. WASHINGTON, D.C., Sept. 15. STILL SAVING THE COUNTRY!

A great deal has been said about the new Fishing Regulations. The Advocate and Mr. Coaker have defended them very strenuously, while the bulk of the Exporters seem to be very much opposed to them.

Mr. Coaker has been meeting the Licensed Exporters at St. John's, but has refused admission of any newspaper men and only "cooked" reports are allowed publication. This takes us back to Charles's methods.

In the Advocate of last Thursday appears a pathetic letter from Edwin Keen, of Brookfield, B.B., who being very uneasy about the cull, asks for information. The reply of Mr. Coaker's is probably as purile a piece of deception as can be well imagined.

Beginning by a couple of paragraphs of self-inundation, he goes on to say—"The Fish Regulations are all that stand between the fishermen getting $6 for fish and $10."

But in the very next paragraph he admits—"Our salvation this year is . . . a short catch. If the catch this year was equal to last year, the result would prove a public disaster." Mr. Keen must be still wondering whether the Regulations or the short catch, or both, or neither will "save the country."

THE "SNIFF."

An Insult to Notre Dame South.

Everything that had been said about the Senef, Mr. Coaker's new Bay Boat, was found to be true on her arrival on Wednesday; in fact, as the Queen of Sheba said of Solomon, the half was not told. In a word this little ship is absolutely unsuited to the traffic, and a deliberate insult to the travelling public of the South side of this bay.

The "saloon," so called, is not half as good as the cabin of many a coasting schooner. Three little state-rooms open off the saloon with a total of ten berths, one being dignified with the name of the Ladies' cabin. There is only one lavatory on the ship, that is on deck and on the opposite side of the ship to the entrance to the "saloon," which is below and absolutely unavailable for female passengers during fall weather on this coast. No woman can travel on such a contraption as the Senef, unless absolutely forced by urgent necessity.

Compared with a $200 monument for his dog Smutt's, Mr. Coaker's action in removing the Clyde, which suits the needs of this bay and substituting this horrid little tug, shows what his regard for Notre Dame Bay South is.

The steerage has bunks for eight and is situated forward. It is quite as good as the first-class, however, but the whole accommodation is altogether too cramped for the passenger traffic on this route.

As for freight, there is but one little hatchway, which is utterly useless to handling bulky cargo, being only about four feet square.

It is time that the people of Twillingate and surrounding settlements are protected against such an imposition on the part of a Government, which seems to think that any old thing is good enough for them.

AT PELLETIER'S.

At Pelletier's the ponies play Unbridled round the yard all day And Shetland babies scare knee high Utter a sad and plaintive cry From time to time as if to say "Oh dear, my mamma's gone away!" The mother hears and promptly stops Devouring orchard clover tops And on the gallop comes to see Just what this fearful grief can be.

Majors and Perfect, Tinker-Toy, Names to delight each girl and boy, Larry and Hal and Fairy Queen, Surely their master must have been A youngster once himself to know The names which charm the children so.

While age may stop and welcome be This glorious Shetland herd to see I know by all I've seen and heard That little children are preferred.

I've watched the master at his side Teaching a little boy to ride, And in his eyes there's been a glow Born of the by-gone long ago, When he was young and yearned to own A pony he might mount alone; I've seen my youngsters eyes grow bright.

With all the sunshine of delight, Nor could I tell, while watching there, Which was the happier of the pair.

Teacher or pupil—weight of years Is little marked at Pelletier's. Age seems to be so blithely glad As is the little girl or lad; And when the ride has come to close Two hands caress the pony's nose, Two hearts spill out the joy they hold, And neither one of them is old.

At Pelletier's—the spot in truth Is just a fairy land for youth.
