But Harbor Main will not be misled as were St. John's West and Bay-de-Verde. Neither of these districts, in the byeelections of 1920 had had any actual experience as to the maladministration of the present party in power, as the latter had not been long enough established, and had not at the time started on its real career of misgovernment. Yet signs are not wanting to-day to prove that had St. John's West and Bay-de-Verde electors their time over again, the result of 1920 byeelections would have been different. And therefore it is up to Harbor Main not to repeat the mistake made by these districts. Their "error in judgment" -to quote a familiar phrasehelped bring about many of the calamities which have befallen the country, because they approved the policy of the Government and gave them a mandate to carry on. And they have well done so: but not in the best interests of Newfoundland, nor yet of the two districts which endorsed their putative policy. Now that Harbor Main in particular, and the country generally have seen the fruits of the real policy of Messrs. Squires and Coaker, et: al: there is not the shadow of a doubt that the former, in whose hands is the key of the situation, will place that key where its possession can be obtained by the men whom the Prime Minister and his following have selected to defend their outrageous acts of administration in the district of Harbor Main. Rather will the voters turn down with contumely the candidates of a party which is now so thoroughly discredited and condemned, and resent, by casting their sale of those interested in the sale of fish to Portugal was called by the Board of Trade to-day, when matters in connection with the recent cashe from the Oporto merchants was lard fight to-night if they want to win.

discussed. The Premier, Hon. R. A. Squires, was present at the meeting. The line SAINTS are message of acknowledgment was sent to Oporto. The situation there seems to be getting critical in spite of Mr. Coaker's supposed sales. Exporters here are none too sanguine and many are of opinion that it were better the recent negotiations had never been begun. Mr. Coaker, it appears, insists now on controlled prices of cargoes sold on consignment. The Spanish market has also become demoralized and very little Newome demoralized and very little New-foundland fish is being handled. The regulation price had the effect of per-mitting Norwegian and French fish to enter into competition with ours. with the consequence that, being sold cheaper, it is now mostly consumed.

Recently a large exporter, who has fish in that market, received a message from his London brokers intimating that Messrs. Hawes, Lazo, Compos and other large merchants of Spain held a meeting by agreement at Madrid, when efforts were made to stabilize the price of our produce. All the firms excepting one were agree able to the arrangements put for f the man Nolan charged with the ward. This firm being influenced by connections here, the matter was allowed to fall through for want of
