In Memoriam.
On Friday night last, the 9th inst., the Grim Reaper again visited the old city of Harbor Grace, and removed from the community one of its most beloved and respected citizens in the person of James Warren Harbor Grace. He has been bereft by his death—the Methodist Church by the removal of one of its most staunch pillars and liberal contributors—the Masonic Society by the deprival of its sound and logical advice. The Masons, of whom he was a Past Master and their oldest chartered member, have shown their sympathy and respect by turning out in large numbers, in spite of the inclemency of the weather, in order to perform the religious exercises of their Society at his graveside. The deceased, although having passed the allotted span of life by nearly ten years, was up to the last few hours enjoying the full vigour of health, for only on the day of his death, he went to St. John's to transact some important business, leaving Harbor Grace by the morning train, and on arrival at St. John's, with remarkable dispatch, he attended to business in many places and returned home by that evening's train, apparently in the best of health and spirits. At about one o'clock he retired and at two o'clock his daughter and her husband, Dr. W. S. Goodwin, were aroused and immediately called the Doctor, but before his arrival, the spirit had departed. The writer can truly say that never had he the good fortune or pleasure of meeting a truer and more reliable friend, and we shall never forget the many times being privileged by the opportunity of kneeling with the household at the family altar. At the funeral service conducted by his Pastor and friend, Rev. W. H. Browning, we were struck by the beautiful way the Pastor referred to the "gentle touch" in the removal of his friend instead of the long and faithful suffering. It is very pleasing to his family and friends that, while his enemies were exceedingly few, his friends were legion. We think we cannot more fittingly conclude this memorial than by quoting the very familiar lines:—
"Father in Thy gracious keeping,
Leave we now Thy servant sleeping."
A. H.

PATRICK J. HALEY, Syracuse, N.Y.
"I'm feeling like a new man since Tanlac soothed and toned up my stomach and for the first time in forty years can eat a hearty meal and suffer no distress afterwards," was the remarkable statement of Patrick J. Haley, 107 Prospect Ave., Syracuse, N.Y., a well-known iron and steel worker.
"Only those who have had stomach trouble in a bad form can know what I suffered during all those years. I was almost a nervous wreck, too, and for years I didn't know what it was to get a good sound sleep at night. I got new life and energy from each dose of Tanlac and now I'm a well and happy man instead of a sick and miserable one as I was for so many years. I'll vouch for the merit of Tanlac at any time."
Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

Lest We Forget.
It is now three years since the Great War ended—that is so far as fighting goes. Many of us have suffered little but there are soldiers and sailors still in hospitals suffering from the frightful wounds they received or from the terrible hardships which they suffered. Let us not forget them! Let us not forget that they still suffer for us. In 1919 a number of Ward-Aides were trained to administer to the men in hospital, to provide occupation for them so that the long hours of enforced idleness might not bear so heavily upon them. It is wonderful what the ward-aides have done for the men in hospital and it is wonderful what skill the enfeebled men have acquired in art and craft.
On Thursday afternoon at the Presbyterian Hall, there will be an exhibition of work done by these men. The public are invited to attend and to buy some of the work that will be on exhibition. Oh, let us not forget them! Let us repair to the Hall! Let us buy some of their work! This ward-occupation work has been introduced into the Convalescent Home. It is to be hoped that the Government of the people will be merciful enough to provide for its continuance. In what better way can we show our sympathy with those who suffer than by providing helpful and restorative occupation of mind for them!—COM.

M. J. O'Brien
To his readers to-night would make his last appeal through the press for their kind support on to-morrow when they are casting their votes. O'Brien comes to you extending the open hand of friendship from the new extension of St. John's where he is better known as the "annex" he believes that every right thinking citizen will agree that his portion of the city should have a direct representative to look after its requirements, it is only fair that at least they be given one man from their locality who will see they get some recognition at the Council Board, what have you voters from the old portion to say to this argument? No doubt your minds are in accord that such a request is only fair, reasonable and just, in fact it is the opinion of many that our Councilors should be elected from wards which would eliminate the possibility of having them elected and coming from the one street or vicinity as can now happen but as such is not the case, all right thinking and minded citizens will of course bear in mind that it is only fair that at least they mark one vote for their man. All who have read O'Brien's policy as outlined in this paper have already seen it has been one that was in the main acceptable to all for progress and advance in civic reform, his planks have been accepted and even adopted by others who are also seeking municipal honors. There are many more planks O'Brien could place before you but he realizes that some would no doubt be too far advanced for this community with so many pressing demands already upon her civic revenue, but he asks you to forget selfish or personal thoughts on to-morrow and to vote for those who honestly and fearlessly placed their views for the city's advancement before you. The name of O'Brien like many others that denotes the sons of those who came from Hibernia's Shores has been one that has played no small part in the permanent and government affairs of those larger centres of population on the continent and it is still doing so. Kind voters are you going to help place that name before here in our city to that prominence it deserves after such an outspoken straight forward platform as O'Brien stands on? Are you going to allow the "annex" to show you that they have in him a worthy son of a worthy name? Are you going to help by your support to bring out this talent that has lain dormant because he had no voice in civic affairs? Why, of course you are and by so doing you will help elect a man who will always be your champion and protect your assets such as water, sewerage, etc., from being bartered away for a song. In closing his remarks to-night, O'Brien thanks all his readers for their kindly sentiment and to those who have not had the pleasure of meeting personally he again extends the right hand of friendship and good-will and respectfully asks each and all, his friends or opponents to be sure that when voting on to-morrow to please mark ONE X FOR O'BRIEN—adv.

What We Are Made Of.
"What is the human body composed of?" is the question which once engaged the attention of a scientific paper. It found that a man weighing 150 lb. will contain approximately 3,500 cubic feet of gas—oxygen, hydrogen, and nitrogen—in his constitution, and which would be worth about 11s. 2d. for illuminating gas. Such a man also contains 3,500 cubic feet of water, and a 15 lb. girl, all this, together with his 3,500 cubic feet of gas, he possesses considerable illuminating possibilities. His system contains 22 lb. 10 oz. of carbon, or enough to make 750 doz. or 3,260 lead pencils. There are about 50 grains of iron in the blood, and the rest of the body would supply enough of this metal to make one spike large enough to hold his weight. A healthy man contains 54 oz. of phosphorus. This deadly poison would make 800,000 matches, or enough poison to kill 500 persons. This, with 2 oz. of lime, makes the stiff bones and brains. No matter how sour a man looks, he contains about sixty lumps of sugar of the ordinary cubical dimensions, and to make the seasoning complete there are twenty spoonfuls of salt. Break 1,000 eggs into a huge pan or basin, and you have the ingredients to make a man from his toe-nails to the most delicate tissues of his brain.
