National Union, for the year 1890 is truly interesting to the large membership of that order in this city. The National Union had a net increase of over 6,000 members during the last year and paid to the families of 141 members "who passed to that bourne from which no traveler returns" the snug amount of $456,000. Since the organization of that order, May 1, 1881, the families of 483 deceased members have received benefits amounting to $1,527,000, the production of 91 assessments spread through the nine and one-half years of the order's existence.

Court Middlesex, No. 118, C. O. F., was visited recently by Bro. H. C. R. Towe, of this city. The visitor complimented Court Middlesex on its financial position and the efficiency of its staff of officers. This energetic court has now in full formation a juvenile court, and only awaits the necessary documents to enroll. At the annual district meeting of No. 2 chaplain.

At the annual district meeting of No. 2

The supreme session of the Sons of Canada will be held in Peterboro, Ont., on Feb. 14, the delegates from Tecumseh Lodge, this city, being Messrs. H. R. Abbott, F. G. Westlake and A. D. Hodgins. London Lodge, South London, has not yet chosen its representatives. Among the items of business to come up will be the question of memorializing the Ontario Government to have a "Hoisting of the Flag" demonstration at all the schools in the Province on Dominion Day; also an application to the Minister of Militia to allow the regulars or volunteers, as the case may be, to take part in the same. FRATERNAL ALLIANCE.

Among the most interesting society events of the week was the organization of a branch of the International Fraternal Alliance in this city. The branch owes its inception to the efforts of Mr. J. C. Thompson, the attorney of the alliance, who has been at work in the city several days. The following is a list of the officers elected: Francis Whittaker, speaker; Chas. E. Keene, vice-speaker; W. D. Thomas, exspeaker; F. Barnard, treasurer. J. B. Allenby, secretary; Fred Lapthorn, sergeant-at-arms; W. F. Brown, chaplain, and Wm. J. Holmes and Goo. Stevens, doorkeepers. Addresses were given by several members present, all speaking chiefly of the advantages of the order's system. Bro. J. C. Thompson, attorney-sgeneral of the order, also spoke a few words of seasonable advice. Bro. Thompson is a opleasant speaker and his explanations of the workings of the order was greatly enjoyed. The members of the new branch are confident of their success in the fraternal world, believing that their order is equal to any other. The future meetings will be held in Sherwood Hall the first and third Monday of each month.

MASONIC. FRATERNAL ALLIANCE.

ANCIENT ORDER FORESTERS.

The meeting of Court Brighton on Tuesday evening promises to be unusually interesting, as considerable business of an important nature will be disposed of. The entertainment tendered by the adult court to the juveniles will take place, and in order that the session may be terminated at a reasonable hour business will be commenced half an hour earlier. The balance sheet to be presented to the court on Tuesday shows that despite a large amount of sickness during the year the funds are in good condition. The total receipts for the year amounted to $1,745 67, of which $1,621 48 was expended in various ways, largely in sick pay, leaving a balance on hand of $124 19. The number good on the books is 180. The preparation of the balance sheet is always attended to by Bro. H. Sutherland, and reflects great credit on his ability. This is one of the most energetic courts in the city.

Court Pride of the Dominion, No. 5,660, A. O. F., at its last meeting passed a hearty vote of thanks to Chief Williams and the members of the police department for their kindness to the late C. C. Pope, as well as for the courtesy shown the order by the department in making the arrangements for the funeral. MASONIC. Elwood E. Thorne, past grand master of New York, is dead. In all thoroughly civilized countries the members of a family and their guests partake of meals while collected around a central board, but this is not so with the majority or even a fraction of the semi-civilized and barbarous nations. The Maldivian Islanders dine alone, retiring to the most secret parts of their hust for the purpose of eating their food. This custom probably arose among them in an early period in their history, for fear, perhaps, that another with equally as sharp an appetite and more bodily strength would deprive the feaster of his meal.

The coasters of the Fiji Islands will not eat until they can sit flat upon the ground directly over a triangle made of three small fish bones; then they only handle the food with the left hand.

The inhabitants of the interior of the same islands will not partake of food while a cloud is in sight, especially if the cloud lies in the west, fearing that the "Great Air Whale," whose bellowing (thunder) is often heard in that country, will pounce upon and utterly annihilate them for such irroversence.

Unlike the Maldivians the natives of the Man's First Dwelling.

Long, long ago, some men traveling in the low counties of South America came upon a remarkable dwelling.

Only a little one-story habitation seven feet by nine, left by its owner sweet and clean. There were two entrances to this primitive mansion, one at the front and one at the rear, not very large, to be sure, but large enough for one to crawl through comfortably, and these entrances, scalloped and cut with a perfection not to be excelled —were always open, too, as if waiting for an occupant.

—were always open, too, as if waiting for an occupant.

There were unmistakable proofs, too, of its having been inhabited, and by savages, undoubtedly of a very ancient day. Furtheresearch and study convinced them they had found not only a perfect armor of the Glyptodon, the gigantic armadillo of prehistoric times, but, what was still more wonderful, that his armor, abandoned by its original wearer, had become probably the very first habitation of man.

The only perfect one of these dwellings now known to be in existence is in the possession of the French Government, and is kept in the Jardin des Plantes in Paris.—[St. Nicholas.

London has added another to the long list of healthy C. O. F. S. Thomas, of the street was marked by High Scortestry T. While of Bardon, Clayton, of Listowel; Clarke, of Granton, Clayton, of Clarke, to the hand which was numb before. He continued the use of the Compound, and today this official rejoices that he is made whole again. All feelings of nervousness are banished, and the hand and arm are restored to a perfect and natural condition. This is another convincing proof of the great value and efficacy of Paine's Celery Compound, as a remedy for all nervous troubles, as well as for paralysis.
