AT KIMBERLEY
Speculation as to the Extent of French's Operations.

But He Got There, Just the Same—Boers Leaving Magersfontein—Effect of a British Bayonet Charge.

London, Feb. 15.—It is supposed here that had Lord Roberts inflicted a decisive defeat on the Boers he would have mentioned it, as such a success would be greatly paramount to the relief of Kimberley. However, Gen. French's entry into Kimberley has been effected, and doubtless brings joy to the hearts of those who have been shut up in the city for 122 days. Their defenders number about 4,000; while Gen. French's force is estimated between 6,000 and 8,000 men. The sixth and seventh divisions have already crossed the river, and are probably with Lord Roberts at Jacobsdal. What has happened to Gen. Cronje and the whereabouts of his forces puzzles the experts.

BOERS LEAVING MAGERSFONTEIN.
A dispatch from Cape Town, dated Wednesday, Feb. 15, received this morning, says: The Boers are leaving Magersfontein to reinforce other positions. It is estimated that between 7,000 and 20,000 men remain there. Lord Roberts' wide turning movement, via Jacobsdal, may have cut off their troops from Bloemfontein. But while the British forces are endeavoring to intercept the Boers' communications, there is a parallel Boer communication.

TRYING TO CUT OFF THE BRITISH LINES.
To De Aar, and it is apparently meeting with some success, though later dispatches referring to Gen. Clements' retirement to Arundel say the movement was undertaken for strategic purposes, and that during the course of the march the Boers were driven off by a heavy fire, the Boers' communications being cut off, and inflicting great loss on the burghers.

A Boer dispatch from Lorenzo Marquez, dated Thursday, Feb. 15, says the initial attack on Colesburg on Feb. 12 resulted in a federal loss of 9 men killed, 14 wounded and 5 prisoners. The British, it is added, were driven off of their camp and one of their Maxims was captured.

THE NEWS ON 'CHANGE.
The news of Gen. French's entry into Kimberley was received on the stock exchange here today with rousing cheers. No boom in stocks was created, but a satisfactory, strong undertone prevailed. De Beers rose 1 1/2, but subsequently receded 1 1/4 on a Paris rumor that Gen. French had merely fallen into a Boer trap.

The dispatch referring to the condition of Ladysmith is regarded as reassuring. There is no further word from Gen. Buller, and nothing startling is expected to occur in Natal in the immediate future.

BIG BOER GUNS DISABLED.
According to a dispatch from Chieveley, dated Wednesday, Feb. 14, it has been ascertained that the Boers' guns were disabled.

General French

At Kimberley!

He Reached the Beleaguered Town Thursday.

Brief Description of the British Troops' Triumphal March—The Boers Beaten Back at Every Point—Tremendous Jubilation Marks the Receipt of the News in London.

Interesting Story of a Correspondent Who Lately Escaped From Ladysmith—The British Retire From Rensburg to Arundel—Twenty-One New British Batteries and 300 Battalions of Infantry To Be Formed.

London, Feb. 16.—The war office announces that General French reached Kimberley Thursday evening. Following is Lord Roberts' message to the war office:

Jacobsdal, Feb. 16, 2 A.M.—
French, with a force of artillery, cavalry and mounted infantry reached Kimberley this evening, Thursday.

Riet River, Orange Free State, Wednesday, Feb. 14.—Gen. French, in command of the cavalry division, and with a strong force of horse artillery, left Modder River Sunday morning for Rensburg, 12 miles east of Enslin, where the whole division concentrated.

The next day he made a rapid march to Riet River, where a party of Boers contested his passage at Dekiel and Waterfall Drifts. After some hours' shelling, Gen. French DROVE THE BOERS AWAY, and crossed the river. Yesterday (Tuesday), the column continued its march to Klip and Rondaval Drifts on the Modder River, where a short engagement ensued, Gen. French shelling the Boers vigorously and forcing a passage.

The Boers precipitately retired, leaving five laagers in the hands of the British, besides a great quantity of cattle and 2,000 sheep. The rapidity of Gen. French's march and the overwhelming nature of his force, enabled him, in spite of the difficulties of water transportation, to thoroughly outwit and surprise the Boers.

The British casualties were slight. BEFORE THE GOOD NEWS CAME.
London, Feb. 16.—The military adepts spend much time in studying maps, topography and figuring out the possibilities of Lord Roberts' communications, and what there is left for the Boers to do. Gen. Cronje's communications with Bloemfontein have already been cut. The best news he could hear would be that he elects to give battle along the low hills and ridges west of Kimberley. Should he determine not to do this, he must raise the siege of Kimberley and retreat to a point where he would prefer to fight. This retreat could be a long drive around the head of the British advance to Bloemfontein, or, as seems to military students more practicable, he could withdraw to the north, using the railroad for his guns and heavy baggage, moving to Fourteen Streams station, and thence into Transvaal territory. The Boers have made no preparations to defend Bloemfontein, and there is no particular reason why Gen. Cronje should risk a battle to protect the capital of the Free State.

ISOLATED.
The London Standard's military expert says: "Cliff Drift appears to be just above David's Graaf. By holding this point Lord Roberts has penetrated the Boer position, which extends from Magersfontein to Jacobsdal. Any Boer forces that may be at Jacobsdal have been isolated from Cronje's main body. The British commander can develop his flank attack against the Boers' left, and has, as a further point in his favor, that the line of retreat of the Boers to Bloemfontein is intercepted. Through the gap which French holds with some eight thousand men, the sixth and seventh divisions will advance and move against the Boer flank."

No word has been received regarding Gen. Gatacre's 12,000 men at Stormberg. Impression is that these forces are on their way to Lord Roberts.

BADEN-POWELL.
Col. Baden-Powell, in a dispatch from Mafeking, dated Jan. 29, after mentioning matters already sent out by correspondents, gives his total casualties up to Jan. 26 as follows: "Killed, 5 officers and 60 men; wounded, 8 officers and 123 men; missing, 24."

SATISFACTION AND JUBILATION.
London, Feb. 16—1:45 p.m.—There is tremendous satisfaction and jubilation here at Field Marshal Lord Roberts' and Gen. French's success. But those best suited to judge the situation are inclined to the opinion that pending more definite information the news had better be regarded as assuming, rather than as accomplishing, the relief of the beleaguered city of Kimberley. A careful study of the ambiguity of the wording of Lord Roberts' dispatch leads these people to believe that the actual relief of the place is STILL A MATTER OF TIME.

Kimberley, it is pointed out, can scarcely be termed relieved till it is feasible to take provisions there. The rapidity of Gen. French's march indicates that he was unable to do this, and whether he left his lines behind him open is only a matter of surmise. It is considered most probable that Lord Roberts' and Gen. French's brilliant tactical success (for such it is under any circumstances), resembles the first relief of Lucknow, when the dispersal of the enemy's forces was by no means immediately effected.

A REMARKABLE FEATURE of Lord Roberts' brief cablegram is the fact that it is dated from Jacobsdal, which was General Cronje's advance base of supplies, and there is no word explaining the British commander's presence there nor word of any opposition.

From Ladysmith.
ESCAPED CORRESPONDENT'S STORY.
London, Feb. 16.—The correspondent of the Associated Press at Ladysmith, from which place he escaped Feb. 10 and arrived at Durban Feb. 14, sends the following, written before he left Ladysmith:

"Since the furious cannonade in the early part of the week quietness has reigned. The hills on which the relief column's lyddite shells were bursting in hundreds a few days previously are now only occupied by grazing cattle. Further away on the north side of Spion Kop the Boer laagers can be seen, evidently bigger than before, showing they have no idea at present of retiring from their position.

DISAPPOINTED.
"Much disappointment is felt at the non-appearance of General Buller, as from the severity of the fire every heart was aglow with hope and excitement at the prospect of immediate relief; not that we are at all in the fact for every one capable of shouldering a rifle is confident of our ability to hold the town against any force the Boers are capable of putting in the field. Still the continued diet of horse and mule flesh is getting somewhat monotonous, although the health of the camp, taking everything into consideration, is better than could be expected. Enteric fever and dysentery have abated. The camp fever is not virulent but is slightly increasing. The scarcity of vegetables is very trying to the troops.

COSTLY Eatables.
"Luxuries are beyond the means of the majority. Eggs are 3s a dozen; a small fowl is 15s 6d; pumpkins, 12s each; small vegetable marrow, 6s; a tin of jam, 12s 6d; a tin of milk, 6s; a box of sardines, 3s; tobacco 90s a pound. A case of whisky was raffled for £145.

"The Boers are smuggling tobacco into camp, following the usual local factory is turning out excellent horse sausages, and another is making nourishing soup, which is much appreciated by the troops, who certainly have increased in strength since these were served out.

THE ESCAPE.
The escape of the Associated Press correspondent was most adventurous and arduous. Leaving Ladysmith the evening of Feb. 10, guided by a native, he soon encountered a Boer patrol, who fired upon him. Escaping the patrol he crawled 22 miles over the roughest and stoniest paths, hiding in native huts and kraals during the day, and proceeding at night. Once a Boer patrol came to the door of the hut, where he was hidden under blankets. He swam the Tugela river, and reached Chieveley the morning of Feb. 13, where he took a train for Durban.

ANOTHER ARMY.
London, Feb. 16.—The war office has issued orders for the formation of 21 new batteries and 300 battalions of infantry. The cabinet council was in session yesterday for two hours. It will meet again today. This is quite unusual.

BRITISH RETIRE TO ARUNDEL.
Arundel, Wednesday, Feb. 14.—Gen. Clements withdrew from Rensburg during the night, his rear guard arriving at Arundel early this morning. The Boers promptly followed, recouping their old position in the Taarboosh hills, whence they have been shelling the British cavalry patrols ineffectually. The British guns returned the fire, making fairly accurate practice.
