SERVE FIFTEEN MONTHS*Stole a Bicycle From in Front of the Public Library.

Richard Powers, thirty-seven years old, who came to Canada seven years ago, was sentenced to serve fifteen months at the Central prison by Judge Elliot at the court house Saturday morning.

Powers pleaded guilty to the charge of stealing a bicycle belonging to Gordon Wootton, of 714 Maitland street, from in front of the public library some days ago and of attempting to pawn it with a Clarence street broker fifteen minutes later.

He has already served terms for theft, including nine months in the Central. He claims to have no relatives in this country.

$100,000 BETTER
THAN YEAR AGO*Building in September Was Excellent —Figures' Increase From Friday.

Building seems to be on the move. After the statistics had been compiled Saturday at 2 o'clock, the London Concrete Machinery Company took out a permit for a building on Cabell street to cost $6,000.

City Architect Nutter, in his official statement, shows that buildings to the amount of $148,950 were commenced in September.

This amount is nearly $100,000 better than September last year, when but $54,890 worth were taken out. The total for the first nine months of the year is about $70,000 less than last year.

TRUTHFUL MAN
REGISTERED BIRTH*A Humorous Incident Over the Registration of a Birth.

Many amusing incidents occur at the city hall, but the clerks are laughing at a real funny one today.

It took place over the registration of a birth. One of the questions asked on the new form is the following: "Were you present when the child was born?"

One truthful man answered today: "No, but the mother was."

MAY BUILD NEW

The property, bonded some time ago, has been purchased and the houses have been rented for the winter.

Next spring the plans will be considered. It is said, and it is expected that this construction work will be completed about July 1. The temple will be ready for occupancy by Jan. 1, 1912.

CITY CLAIMS COMPANY
WILL BUY POWER*Look to Have Street Railway for Niagara Product Customers.

The hydro-electric commission have not submitted a new schedule of power rates to the London street railway.

So far as can be learned matters are at a standstill, both sides apparently waiting for the other to make a move.

The London street railway is using all the power it can produce, and very shortly arrangements will have to be made for more power.

The winter load is heavy, and unless something is done very shortly the company may have difficulty in obtaining power.

In addition to paying $31 per horsepower on the peak load basis, the company will have to install motors to change the alternating to direct current. Exact figures could not be obtained, but it was thought this machinery would cost at least $5,000.

It is claimed that negotiations will be opened within a short time, and it will likely result in the city having the company as customers.

A SPECIAL RECRUIT
CLASS FOR 7TH*Vacancies for a Few Good Men Are Open.

The Seventh Regiment will shortly resume drill, and the vacancies caused by members leaving the city during the summer will give a number of young men an opportunity of joining the regiment.

A special recruit class is being started, so that those joining now will be trained and ready to turn out with their companies when battalion drill commences.

Those desiring to join the regiment should apply at the orderly room, the Armories, on Monday evenings between 8 and 9 o'clock.

R. GRAHAM NAMED
TEMPORARY ENGINEER*Will Superintend Installation of Electrical Machinery.

Mr. R. Graham has been appointed electrical engineer for the city temporarily. He has been connected with the hydro-electric commission for some time, but was loaned to the water commissioners until such a time as Mr. Van Cleve is able to be on duty, and look after the appointment of an engineer to succeed Mr. Roberts.

Mr. Graham will oversee the installation of the machinery at the Horton street plant.

EXPLAIN THE BYLAW
TO THE CONTRACTORS*At the Present Time Nobody Seems to Know What Is Demanded.

Mr. Frank Harding, who had a barn on Maitland and recently streets moved and repaired some time ago, appeared in the police court Saturday morning to answer a charge of violating the bylaw, prepared by City Architect Nutter.

The matter will be settled to the satisfaction of the inspector.

The magistrate recommended that the city architect address a meeting of contractors and explain to them what the bylaw requires. His work is also of the opinion that every man should have inserted in his contracts a clause to the effect that all work must be done in accordance with the building regulations.

RALLY DAY IN EMPRESS AVE. CHURCH*Large Congregations Were Present at All the Services.

Yesterday was rally day at the Empress Avenue Methodist Church, and the attendance at all the services was the largest in the history of the church. In the morning Rev. George Dewey preached on the "Meaning of Rally Day," under the headings: revival, all together, light, love, you, the first letter of each word, put together, forming rally. Mr. Dewey's remarks were listened to with great interest. In the afternoon addresses were given by Dr. S. P. Reynolds, of Askin Street Church, and Rev. David Williams, of the High Street Church. It is estimated that 325 people were present. In the evening Mr. Dewey preached.

THIRTY YEARS
A Slave to Coffee.

Many persons do not realize that coffee-drinking may become a powerful, enslaving habit.

They are not all aware that coffee contains a drug, caffeine, which ought never to be taken into the system except when prescribed by the doctor.

The coffee habit grows on most users and is more harmful to some than others. But a drug that acts upon the heart and nerves in the caffeine does is not without greater or less harm to all who drink coffee.

"For thirty years," writes a Washington housewife, "I have been a steady coffee drinker. I wanted it at every meal.

"But I would have sick headache most of the day, and often throw up my food. I really suffered awfully from coffee, yet thought I never could stop it.

"Then I heard how good Postum was for such cases, and began to use it. At first I did not care for Postum. I felt sleepy and had headache. I soon found that this was because of the bold coffee had on me, for in about three days after I quit coffee I was again to use Postum the headache left me, had no more nervousness and palpitation. In about a week I felt like a new woman.

"I have used Postum three years and when it is made according to directions (boiled 15 minutes) it is as pleasant as coffee and don't hurt anyone. I ought to know for I was bad off. Now I am well."

The new officers are: Hon. president, Rev. Dr. Thos. Manning; president, A. Cowley; vice-president, F. W. C. McCutcheon; secretary, Geo. F. Copeland; associate secretary, Reyburn Hourd; treasurer, J. Cahill; past president, D. C. McNaughton.

Executive Committee—J. C. Richardson, Sld. Martin and Dr. Moore. Representative to the Methodist Athletic Association, Clarence Armstrong.

The report of Will. Armstrong, the secretary, showed an increase over the attendance of the year previous, while the treasurer, Roy Thomas, reported a splendid balance.

Week-night meetings will be instituted, and if the enthusiasm of the members counts for anything, the club has a prosperous year ahead of it.

Clubs and Societies*"A Winning Miss" Tonight.

The surest way to judge an attraction nowadays is by the criticisms of larger cities that have witnessed the attractions we are to have in the near future at the Grand. Among the many notices of the good things in store for this city is Boyle Woolfolk's "A Winning Miss," a large musical show, direct from the Grand, Chicago, where it played 220 performances. All the criticisms of the larger cities in the States are of a very laudatory nature, and an ideal musical show is guaranteed for tonight, Monday, Oct. 3. Seats now selling.

"A Travelling Salesman."

Dallas Tyler, who plays Beth Elliott in "The Travelling Salesman," this season, but who has been out of the business for the past two years on account of illness; has been spending that period at her childhood's home at Cloughton, Birkenhead, England, and owes her recovery largely to the exercise obtained from horseback riding.

Miss Tyler, when a child, rode a great deal, and was wont to follow the hounds on cross-country jaunts after the nimble red fox, her father allowing this on account of the way in which she sat her saddle, her riding comparing favorably with the older hunters in the country. When she came to America and took up dramatic work, her riding was forgotten, and she doubtless would never had returned to it, but for the fact that the memories of her childhood were so closely associated with it. When she became convalescent two years ago, she asked permission of her doctor to ride, and one of the best hunters in the country, the Duke of Westminster was placed at her disposal; his country seat at Chester, on the River Dee, being near her home. So enthusiastic did Miss Tyler become, that she brought back to America with her her favorite horse. Since riding has had the beneficial effect of restoring to the American stage one of its most promising leading women, Henry B. Harris has instructed the advance agent of "The Travelling Salesman" to secure a saddle horse in every city for Miss Tyler's use, and during the engagement at the play at the Grand Tuesday night, Oct. 4, she will doubtless spend her mornings in the saddle. Guaranteed attraction.

Aborn Opera Company.

The majority of the music lovers of London were not present at the Grand Opera House on Saturday, when the Aborn English Grand Opera Company produced "The Barber of Seville" and "Faust." It is a pity for the reputation of the city that two such sterling performances should have been practically ignored.

No more delightful singing was heard in many a day.

The opera selected for the afternoon was "Lucia." This extremely tuneful, but tragic opera of great favor, and it was done full justice by the excellent company. Miss Edith Helena Russo gave a splendid impersonation to that of Lucia.

Miss Helena was excellent. Her voice is a pure lyric soprano, of wide range, and sweet in quality. She is an artist in her finger tips, and with the endorsement of super voice, she made an ideal Lucia. It is an exacting role, but never once did she fail to measure up to her opportunities.

Her singing of "Mad Scene" was a treat, and she did not suffer from comparison with the very best in the profession. Russo is a standard artist, and is well remembered. As the passionate, sorrow-stricken lover, he was magnificent. The other roles were well taken, and the chorus was superb.

Harry Luckstone, as Sir Henry Ashton, possessed fine baritone voice, while William Schuster, as the chaplain, showed marked ability both as an artist and vocalist.

In the evening Miss Paula Braendle, the American dramatic soprano, sang the role of Marguerite in "Faust." Her reputation as an artist had preceded her, but she more than lived up to it.

Russo sang "Faust" with striking success.

George Shields sang the part of Meville, with rare judgment.

Harry Luckstone, Louise Le Baron, Hattie Belle Ladd, and Frank Wooley, in the other roles, were very capable.

Many Londoners certainly missed a treat when they failed to take advantage of the opportunities afforded them of hearing the Aborns.

THE CULTURE OF FISH FOOD.

There is no state in the Union that has a greater extent of watercourses, rivers, lakes and inlets from the sea than Louisiana, yet few commonwealths do less to protect and replenish the fish supply than this state. It is true that our stock of fish has been so plentiful in the past that there has seemed to be no special need of protection or artificial propagation, but this fortunate state of things cannot last forever—in fact, the supply of fish in our waters has greatly dimin-

That an unknown, highly cultured people, of whom neither history, tradition nor legend has preserved any record, flourished in or near the valley of Mexico and enjoyed spiced chocolate and aromatic beverages from transplanted tropical fruit grown by them in a marvellously built garden at Oaxtepec from 1,500 to 2,000 years ago, is the latest theory of Guillermo Telles regarding the recently discovered garden of Montezuma.

Mr. Telles applied to the department of public instruction for a special permit to make explorations in the garden.

He has been devoting a large part of four years to studying the plants found there. Through the inscriptions he has been able to glean historical data concerning 21 successive civilizations. Tropical trees, flowers and fruits were transplanted from the isthmus of Tehuantepec and Central America to this garden, and there were grown cocoa, vanilla, papaya, yucca, loxochilli, mezoachilli and another rare flower which gives off its odor in the night.

These plants and their friends were which were the favorite beverage of the Aztec lords when Cortes arrived. The garden was visited by Acamaixtli and Ihuicamina, the second named being identical with Montezuma. It is claimed that Montezuma Ihuicamina appropriated this beautiful garden to his personal royal uses and pleasure.—Exchange.

SETTLING THEIR NICKNAMES.

"A traveller from Liverpool got hopping man the other day because he the proper name, for people who live in Liverpool. He pointed out that it isn't easy to designate the inhabitants of all cities by a euphonious name. New Yorker, Londoner, Parisian, Chicagoan, are so obvious that it would be difficult to say anything else, but how about cities that do not affiliate so readily with 'er,' 'an,' or 'ite'?" Those are the suffixes most commonly used to designate a set of natives. Take Cork. A man from Cork may be a corker, but that does not

Neither does Corkite nor Corker sound right. Then there is Memphis. What do you call a man from Memphis, or from Amsterdam or Dallas or Bruges or Bath? By the time you have studied out the proper appellation for inhabitants of all cities you will be apt to strike something that sounds funnier than Liverpoolian.—New York Times.

He was so well pleased he has ever since recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla." Delle Aline Begin, Lewis, P. Q.
