FORTY-EIGHTH YEAR.

RUSSIAN BOMB THROWERS BUSY

Desperate Attempt Made Yesterday to Take Life of Premier Stolypin.

MANY KILLED AND WOUNDED

Horrible Outrage by Revolutionaries—Villa Was Entirely Wrecked.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 25.—Four revolutionaries arrived at M. Stolypin's villa on Aptekarsky Island at 3:30 p. m. today in a coach. Two of them were dressed in uniforms of officers of the gendarmes; the third was dressed as a driver and was on the box of the coach, and the fourth man was in private clothes. Two of the men entered the villa under the pretext of making an important report to the Premier, but they were not permitted to enter his office.

One of the men threw a bomb into the reception room and a terrible explosion followed. The house was nearly destroyed. The man who threw the bomb was instantly killed, but the Premier, who was in his office, was uninjured. His daughter received fatal injuries, and the Premier's three-year-old son was badly wounded.

Firemen who arrived on the scene immediately after the explosion found a horrible scene. Many mangled corpses and a large number of wounded and mutilated persons were lying around the spot where the bomb exploded. About 50 persons were killed or wounded.

Among the dead was General Zamenin, who during the war with Japan was chief of communication. The two revolutionaries who remained in the coach were severely wounded. One of them was killed.

At the moment of the explosion a large reception room at the left of the ante-room was with a great concourse of officials and visitors, as today was the Premier's reception day. M. Stolypin himself received his guests. After the explosion of the bomb

A few moments of stupefaction followed among the injured survivors and persons in the neighborhood, including a number of soldiers from a grenadier regiment, rushed to the spot and commenced to carry away the dead and wounded from the villa, which had now caught fire as a result of the explosion of the bomb.

It is believed 25 persons were killed and 24 wounded, taken to a nearby hospital. For over an hour after the explosion there was a scene of confusion at the villa. A great concourse of spectators gathered there, handling horrible remnants of the tragedy and carrying some of them away as souvenirs. The police apparently lost their presence of mind, for they did little or nothing until the arrival of M. Stolypin, the assistant minister of the interior, under whose orders the villa and Grounds Were Cleared and an investigation of the tragedy begun. According to statements of the survivors, none of the overpowered men accompanying the Premier probably was the one prepared last summer for the Assassination of General Treppoff and which was gotten up as a case, or else was one similar to it. A woman was to have presented the bomb to General Treppoff, but she lost her nerve owing to her long wait in his ante-room and departed without seeing the general. Later the woman was arrested, but the bomb, which was a very expensive article and difficult to prepare, is said to have been held in reserve for another occasion. While the correspondent of the Associated Press was at the villa, a copy of a letter of torn, bloody paper was taken from the fragments of flesh representing the dead revolutionaries. This was the Premier's

Sentence of Death passed on him by the fighting organization of the social revolutionaries, and which, contrary to the usual custom, was not sent to the Premier in advance. With what was left of the revolutionaries, three revolvers were found.

Immediately after the outrage the long avenue of lime trees in which the Stolypin villa is situated was barred at both ends by cavalry, and no one was allowed to pass except high officials going to the house to express their condolences and ascertain the full extent of the calamity. Additional Troops Arrived From All Directions and excited crowds gathered in the neighboring streets. According to one account, the Premier just previous to the explosion had received Count Alexander Mukhomov, a former marshal of the nobility at Tcherigov, who was a member of the lower house of parliament, and whose arrest had previously been ordered for political reasons.

The ambassadors and ministers all expressed their deepest sympathy with M. Stolypin.

When M. Stolypin accepted the commission of his personal danger, he was perfectly conscious of the fact that he was taking a great risk. He said: "I have no doubt that attempts will be made upon my life, but I hope that order will be restored and the stability established in Russia before they are successful."

Story of the Tragedy The correspondent of the Associated Press described the scene of the explosion as follows: "The Premier's secretary and a sergeant of police and from some of the survivors the following account of the event:

The police sergeant who was standing at a corner of the house about 20 feet from the villa noticed a hand-drawn by a good pair of horses roll up the carriage-way and stop in front of the door. The three occupants of the carriage, an officer of gendarmes, the others being in the livery of functionaries of the ministry of the interior and who were ostentatiously bowing and chatting as they approached the carriage, one of them carrying an article about a foot high

Resembling a Gilded Vase They ascended the steps, passing directly in front of the policeman at the door, and he scarcely disappeared inside the door when a thunderous explosion was heard. The police sergeant who had started to walk towards the landau, thinks the revolutionaries carrying the bomb must have dropped it accidentally or intentionally, in the little ante-room of the porter's lodge, just inside the entrance. The explosion, which was louder than the report of a cannon, tore out a large section of the front wall of the villa, demolishing the partition walls inside and Brought the Upper Story Down in clouds of mortar and splintered wood. When the dust had cleared away slightly, the sergeant saw the mangled bodies of the porter, a policeman and three revolutionaries on the ground in front of the door. The landau, which had stopped directly in front of the house, was lying in a driveway, a mass of twisted and shattered wood and iron. About ten yards from the door was the driver, who it is thought was killed. The porter and policeman had been killed, but one in their hind legs, showing that they were partly protected from the force of the explosion by the wall of the villa.

Subsequent to injuries St. Petersburg, Aug. 25.—M. Stolypin's daughter died this evening as a result of her injuries.

TWO TRAINMEN KILLED. Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 25.—Two trainmen were killed and three injured today in a collision of heavy ore trains near Millon on the Bessemer and Lake Erie railroad. The dead are: Fireman Cole and Fireman A. A. Dermer, the property loss is large.

IRELAND'S NEW AUTONOMY BILL

Mr. Gladstone's Dream of Local Self-Government Revived.

IRISH COUNCIL IN DUBLIN

Having Legislative Control of Finance Land and Education.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—The Daily Chronicle this morning, forecasting the government's proposed devolution scheme for Ireland, says that legislative union was not to be touched and that Irish representation at Westminster and the powers of the Imperial parliament will not be changed.

The chief feature of the proposed measure will be the establishment of an Irish council at Dublin directly elected, consisting of 108 members, the same as the Irish representation in the House of Commons, with the addition of 48 councillors directly elected for larger areas by electors having rateable property exceeding $100, among them, city electors being eligible.

This is almost the same as the legislative council and legislative assembly of Mr. Gladstone's bill, only they form one body instead of two. The Nationalist party, as now organized, would not easily gain a large majority in the council. The chief secretary would name the new scheme be ex-officio chairman of the Irish council, as representative of the Lord Lieutenant, and would consult with the leader of the majority in the council regarding the appointment of the chief clerk of the department of the chief clerk of the department occupying a position analogous to that of premier, who with his colleagues, would hold their posts dependent upon the vote of the council.

The scheme includes the reorganization of the Irish government into three departments, finance, land, and education. The judiciary will not be changed. The secretary of state for the department of the council and its ministers to parliament. All Irish legislation would still be introduced into the House of Commons, bills being sent to the council for approval. The Daily Chronicle seems to intimate that Irish members of the House of Commons will be members of the Imperial parliament is not sitting. The scheme will be open for revision after five years.

RIFLEMEN AT OTTAWA RANGES

Dominion Association's Annual Matches Commenced—Bad Weather.

COL. SAM HUGHES' SCORE

"Lowery's Claim" is Deprived of Mailing Privileges—The Hindoo Immigrants.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 27.—The weather today was very unpromising for the opening of the annual matches of the Dominion Rifle Association. Drizzling showers fell at intervals, but it did not matter much as the first scheduled match was not to come off till after lunch. In the afternoon the rain cleared away, but a strong breeze from the right marred the Tyros who were sent first to the butts. Scoring was excellent despite this drawback.

For the Bankers' match the wind had decreased and ideal weather conditions prevailed. The feature of the day was the excellent showing of the western men. Lt. Webster, of Winnipeg, was top notcher in the Bankers' match with a possible.

One of the jokes of the day was when Col. Sam Hughes, a crack shot, came on the ranges with a crack shot, one of which he is a warm advocate. He wanted to show the good points of the weapon. The gallant colonel fired five shots at 200 yards and missed every time.

Two men tied for top place in the Tyro match. T. Bird, of the Royal Scots, and Sgt. Sampson, 53rd, each made 34 and won $18. Wm. Rocky Mountain Rangers won $5; Lieut. Ferns sixth, $4.

The top scores in the Bankers' match, 7 shots at 800 yards, was Lieut. Webster, T. M. C. Winnipeg, with a possible 74; the Tyro $4 each. The day was a success, with a possible 74. Sgt. T. Carr, 5th, 50; Corp. Fryer, R. M. Rangers and Capt. Duff, 6th, 48; Lt. L. B. Boulton, 6th, 47; Bliss, 4th, 46; the Tyro $4 each. The day was a success, with a possible 74. Sgt. T. Carr, 5th, 50; Corp. Fryer, R. M. Rangers and Lieut. Ferns, 83.

Hindoo Immigration A despatch from British Columbia, stating that great alarm is experienced in labor circles there by reason of the influx of hundreds of Hindoos, appears to be grossly exaggerated. W. D. Scott, superintendent of immigration, states that not more than fifty East Indians have arrived in the province, and that there was not much ground for complaint. Mr. Scott leaves for the West tomorrow and will inspect all immigration agencies from Winnipeg to the coast.
