only seen him twice.
"Who expects you to know him? We have not yet adopted the English habit of allowing girls to form intimacies with men. Remember you have already vexed your father twice by refusing two very eligible offers. Do not disappoint him again by rejecting M. de la Croiserie, the most eligible of all. He is coming to a little dinner ble of all. He is coming to a little dinner ten famille, so that you may judge of one another. And now I leave you to choose your dress."
Melanie stood at the window graing drearily out upon the view. Her heart sank within her. The count was a fine sank within her. The count was a fine match from a worldly point of view. It was very flattering that he should wish to make her his wife, but she felt it would be impossible to love him. Suddenly there came a loud peal at the door. Who could be ringing so violently? While she was wondering, her mother came rushing into the room, holding a card in her hand.

"Here is young Mr. Paget come to see your father. How provoking! just as he has gone to the prefecture. Do go down and see him. You can speak English and you must tell him where to go."

Melanie stood transfixed. The event which seemed so commonplace to the mother seemed a miracle to the girl. Mr.

Punctual to the moment M. de la Croiserie arrived, a well-preserved man over 50. "A galvanized mummy," thought Tom, but his opinion was not very valuable, He had learned the state of affairs from M. Pontoise, and had at once conceived a strong prejudice against the count. He had always liked his sister's pretty Frenchfriend, but he had no definite plan or scheme in coming to see her. Now that he found her again—no longer a school girl, but a beautiful woman whose life-happiness was trembling in the balance—his feelings were stirred and deepened. When they went into the drawing-room the mother was suddenly called

A steer was recently sold in Cincinnati weighing 4250 pounds. The animal was raised near Decatur, Ind., is of fine form, perfectly developed, six feet four inches the less startling when it is remembered that not five per cent. of the patients presenting themselves to the regular practitioner are high, girths twolve feet, and measures twelve feet in length. It is 6 years old, a beautiful roan and in perfect health. —All sufferers from blood disorders can use Ayer's Sarsaparilla with the fullest assur-ance of happy results.

In Duncee, Scotland, a milkman permitted a pail of milk to remain for some time in a room in which a child was sick with scarlet fever; the milk absorbed the poison of the disease, and seventeen persons who partook of the fluid were infected, four of them dying.

The "turtle-dove" simile is no longer in order. The Schenectady Star says that a gentleman in that vicinity has a beautiful pair of turtle doves which for the last three months have fought continually, and now the male will not allow his consort to eat at the same time with him.

-Mrs. W. J. Lang, Bethany, Ont. writes: "I was one of the greatest sufferers for about fifteen months with a disease she ran quickly down stairs. A tall, sanburst young man was standing in the saiddle of the room, looking eagerly toward the door.

"Oh, Monsieur Tom," the cried, "est-il possible?"

"Why not?" he said, smiling; "am I so altered? But, I say, you mustn't talk French, you know. I can't understand a word of that!"

Melanie langhed, but the tears so recently repressed were very near the surface.

"Papa will be very glad to see you," she said, with her pretty accent.

Mr. Tom looked moderately elated at the assurance.

Catarria—A New Treatment.

Perhaps the most extraordinary success that has/been achieved in modern science has been attained by the Dixon treatment for catarrh, Out of 2000 patients treated during the past six months, fully ninety per cent have been not five per cent, of the patients presenting themselves to the regular practitioner are benefitted, while the patient medicines and other advertised cures never record a cure at all. Starting with the claim now generally believed by the most scientific men that the disease is due to the presence of living parasites in the tissues, Mr. Dixon at once adapted his cure to their extermination; this accomplished, the catarn is practically cured, and the permanency is unquestioned, as cures effected by him four years ago are cures still. No one else has ever attempted to cure catarn in this manner, and no other treatment has ever cured catarn. The application of the remedy is simple and can be done at home, and the presentescen of the year is the most favorable for a speedy and permanent cure, the majority of cases being cured at one treatment. Sufferers should correspond with Mesers, A. H. DIXON & 50N, 305 King street west, Toronto, Canada, and enclose atamp for their treatise on catarn.—Montreal Star. 28

perspired.'

Seldom does a popular remedy win such a strong hold upon the public confidence as has Hall's Halk Rexwer. The cases in which it has accomplished a complete restoration of color to the hair, and vigorous health to the scalp, are innumerable.

Old peop: like it for its wonderful power to restore to their whitening locks their original color and beauty. Middle-aged people like it because it prevents them from getting bald, keeps dandruif away, and makes the hair grow thick and strong. Young ladies like it as a dressing because it gives the hair a beautiful glossy lustro, and enables them to dress it in whatever form they wish. Thus it is the favorite of all, and it has become so simply because it disappoints no one.
