

THE HOME

First Aid in Fighting Fires in the Home

Water is the best of fire extinguishers, says an insurance agent in the New York Sun, but the water must be at hand in a readily available receptacle. Buckets specially constructed with rounded bottoms—this feature to lessen the chance of the buckets being utilized for household purposes—filled with water and placed on a suitable shelf, preferably in the kitchen, are the cheapest and most convenient fire extinguishers for a private residence. A bucket of water will do more good through an alia with a dipper or with a broom than dashed on at once.

Smother an oil fire with wet rags, cloth, sand, ashes or flour. A little water thrown on burning oil will aggravate the fire.

Defective flues and stove pipes, over-heated stoves, open fireplaces, naked gas jets, and carelessness with matches and inflammable oils are prolific causes of fires in private houses. If there are flues or stove-pipes in your home see that they are clear of woodwork and free from cracks. An open fire-place should be protected with a wire screen. Open fires make an upward draught of air from the room, and this draught will draw light material into the flames if it comes near enough.

Protect all woodwork above or beside a stove or gas jets with sheets of asbestos or tin.

ANGER OF LOOSE MATCHES.

The dangers from carelessness with parlor matches are numerous. When scratched the head of the match often explodes, or the stick breaks and the flaming head flies off to set fire to any inflammable material it drops on, the clothing of women and children included. Matches left lying around where they may be thrown or brushed off to the ground may cost dear.

Don't light matches in dark closets filled with hanging clothes. Matches should be kept in a metal receptacle, and not distributed indiscriminately throughout the house. Use safety matches. They are just as cheap and far less dangerous than the parlor match.

If a fire is just starting throw water on the burning substance, not at the blaze. Do not leave a door open when you run to give an alarm. If the doors and windows are closed when a fire starts sometimes the firemen can reach the spot in time to confine the fire to one room. After you have given the alarm, work at getting out your things, if this can be done without danger. Don't open the door out of the window and carry out the bedclothes.

DON'T LOSE TIME DRESSING. If awakened in the night by the smell or an alarm of fire don't wait to dress. Wrap yourself in a blanket or quilt from the bed and get out the quickest way. Shut the doors you pass through. If the fire is on the first floor it is dangerous to go upstairs for anything.

You can get through a smoke-filled hall by dropping on your hands and knees and crawling and you might fall choking if you run. Holding a wet towel or any thing made of wool or even a coat collar over the mouth lessens the danger of inhaling the lungs from inhaling hot smoke.

Never jump from a window until all hope of rescue is lost. One should wait for help until scorched or badly choking.

A person with clothing on fire should not run or scream. Running fans the flames and screaming takes deep breaths, which draw the heat into the lungs. To extinguish the flames quickly wrap yourself in a blanket, rug, portiere or anything of a like character available and roll upon the floor. You can help yourself in this way better than by using water, which quickly runs off.

Any one seeing a person's clothes on fire should wrap and roll him. The person whose clothing is on fire has usually to be thrown down by force.

CURE OF BURNS In conclusion a few hints on burns and their treatment may not be out of place. Burns are of three degrees. In burns of the first degree only the outside of the skin is affected. The burned place is red, painfully hot and tender. To stop the pain the air must be kept away from it. Lint or cotton moistened with water to which has been added a little baking soda should be placed over the burn no soda use sweet oil or molasses. In burns of the second degree there are blisters. Blisters are caused by the heat of the blood being released by a needle prick at the edge. Burns of this kind should be covered with soft rags or cotton dipped in caron oil or with cloths smeared with tallow.

Burns of the third degree take the life out of all the layers of the skin and sometimes out of the flesh underneath. A deep burn should have the care of a doctor immediately. Until he arrives the patient should be wrapped in a blanket, or placed in a bath-tub of warm water if the injuries are extensive.

Exercise carelessness with fire and fire breeding materials. Carelessness is often responsible for more than one-half of the average $300,000,000 direct loss by fire in the United States annually.

SCARING THE CHILDREN One of the rights of young children is to be protected from unnecessary fright. They are entitled to this protection as they are entitled to be guarded from falling down the stairs. They come into our life with a beautiful confidence that this is a friendly world. They are as innocuous of malignity as they are of gravitation. They are not naturally afraid of people, or of the dark. Then some body scares them. Somebody tells them that the bogoblins will catch them if they don't watch out, and the simple joy of life is spoiled. Sometimes it is done by a foolish threat sometimes by a ghost story, or by a picture in a book. Folks who do this sort of thing deserve a name which appears a dozen times in almost every chapter of the book of Proverbs. They belong among the mischief-makers, who say afterwards that they "did not know it was loaded."

Ghost stories are not for children, and parents should get this truth into their heads. The temptation to tell them is in the evident response which they awaken in the hearer; they are immediately effective. But they are survivals of the terrors of primitive persons, and they change, for sensitive children, the aspect of the world. They hurt like a wound.

The same is true of the threats of various kinds of torture which some mothers use as aids to discipline. Their first effect is to frighten the children, but their second effect, which follows shortly after, is to assure the children that their mothers do not mean what they say, and they are like barking dogs which do not bite.

POT ROAST. The cross ribs, by the addition of six cloves, a little parsley and celery added while cooking, will give a delicious flavor and convert a cheap pot roast into a luxurious tidbit. If onions are not objected to, add a few slices. When the meat is tender, these flavoring ingredients should be strained out of the juices before the sauce is made.

Mustard is the nearest approach to a universal cure-all. Few pains will not give way before a mustard plaster, and a wide range of internal inflammation from colds and other causes may be stopped by this timely application. It is the first and best resort in threatened pneumonia, congestion of the lungs, or determined colds on the chest.

SCALLOPED CHEESE AND EGGS. Put thin slices of cheese in an earthen baking dish, pour a cup of rich milk over them, break eggs on this, add pepper and salt and a few bits of butter and bake until the eggs are firm. Serve with slices of nicely toasted bread.

THEY GO TOGETHER. Red noses and cold feet generally go together, and imperfect circulation is often at the root of both. Exercise in the open air, such as plain walks, and a nourishing but lean diet should correct them.

When cooking canned corn if you put a piece of butter in the pan and let it melt before putting in the corn it will not stick and sear so quickly.

To cream butter and sugar for cake in cold weather place crock with butter and sugar in pan of hot water while beating and it will cream quickly.

Rust on steel can be removed by rubbing sweet oil well into the surface. Let it stand two days; then rub the steel with unslacked lime until surface is clean.

Shiloh's Cure quickly stops coughs, cures colds, hoarseness, and all throat troubles.

Gas Explosion Kills and Injures Many

New York, December 19.—The very heart and bone of Manhattan Island was shaken this morning by a terrific explosion of illuminating gas in the auxiliary power house of the Grand Central station. Nine persons, two of them women, are known to have been killed, 125 were injured, and property to the extent of $500,000 was damaged.

Four workmen, who are missing, are believed to have perished. Of the one hundred and twenty-five injured, ninety-eight were removed to hospitals, of which eight may die. An investigation by the police of the district attorney's office and the coroner's office is under way. Traffic on the New York Central railroad ceased entirely for some hours and was discontinued for the remainder of the day, but the new station itself in process of construction, was not damaged.

For some hours it was believed that dynamite alone could have wrought such instantaneous and pulverizing havoc, but late in the afternoon Fire Chief Croker said he was convinced that the whole explosion was due to a mixture of air and illuminating gas, used in light rail road cars, touched off by an electric spark. The gas had accumulated in the auxiliary power house from a broken pipe snapped off by a runaway passenger car.

EXPLOSION'S FORCE RAN TWO MILES The force of the explosion ran north and south for two miles along the rocky ridge that is the backbone of the island, and east and west, laterally for a mile. Foundations were jarred, walls were shaken out of plumb, windows were blown in by the thousands, ceilings came crashing down on the heads of those beneath them, and the pavements were littered with pulverized glass that topped the shoe soles. The full amount of the property damaged is as yet unavailable and may exceed the rough and conservative estimate of $500,000.

Alexandria, Ont., Feb. 8th, 1910.

I take pleasure in giving my testimony in re Empire Lintment for it will do what it claims. I have used it on a very bad case of sore throat in my family. Three applications, two in the evening and one in the morning made a complete cure. I have had my children use it for colds and when settled in the chest and the quick relief is wonderful. When you want a liniment you make no mistake in taking Empire.

THE KING. There came a King to Bethlehem town

Two thousand years gone by, Who had no ermine, robe or crown, To mark his royalty;

Who found no throng to pave His road With palms or carpets gay, Nor palace rich for his abode, Nor courtiers to obey.

Yet empire vast awaited Him, On mountain, moor and main; 'E'en Europe's tangled forests chimed Held subjects for His reign.

And soon confusion ceased to hold Uninterrupted power, And some of earth's oppressions old Began to cringe and cower.

There came a King to Bethlehem town

Two thousand years gone by, And angels from the heavens spoke down

A royal prophecy; That while the red sun's central flame

Should warm the peopled spheres, Though every other kingly name Lay dead among dead years.

This King should hold His state above

The weakness of decay Because the eternal power of love Should base His throne away.

There came a King to Bethlehem town

Two thousand years gone by, And still He reigns and still speaks down

The Angel's prophecy: And some fair century yet to rise His power complete shall show, And all earth's scathed crannies Before His throne lie low.

Millions of Lives

An Awful Toll Collected by Consumption. Many Unnecessary Deaths.

If people could only understand that systematic catarrh is an internal disease that external applications cannot cure, they would not need to be warned so often about this malady, which, when neglected, paves the way oftentimes for consumption, at the cost of millions of lives every year. Yet catarrh may be cured, if the right treatment is employed.

The only way to successfully treat catarrh is by employing a medicine which is absorbed and carried by the blood to all parts of the system, so that the mucous membrane or internal lining of the body is toned up and made capable of resisting the infection of consumption and other diseases.

We have a remedy prepared from the prescription of a physician who for thirty years studied and made catarrh a speciality, and whose record in every case where his treatment was followed was prescribed. That remedy is REXALL MUCO-TONE. We are so positive that it will completely overcome catarrh in all its various forms, whether acute or chronic, that we promise to return every penny paid for the medicine in every case where it fails for any reason does not satisfy the user.

We want you to try REXALL MUCO-TONE on our recommendation and we are right here where you live, and you do not contract any obligation or risk when you try REXALL MUCO-TONE on our guarantee.

We have REXALL MUCO-TONE in two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Very often sufficient to make a marked impression upon the case. Of course in chronic cases a longer treatment is necessary. The average in such instances is three $1.00 bottles. Remember you can obtain REXALL REMEDIES in Rochester only at our store.

—The REXALL STORE, W. A. Warren.

If you are suffering from hemorrhoids, constipation, indigestion, chronic headache, or any other ailment, send to Chamberlain Medicine Co., Des Moines, Iowa, with your name and address plainly on the back, and they will forward you a free sample of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and a box of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

Raising of fur-bearing animals has proved a paying investment. Fred Burke, of Minnie, near Amherst, N. S. He started the industry some years ago, and has made some sales rather than in the shade the prices realized for the celebrated beaver of Cumberland. He recently sold a pair of the year-old silver foxes for $1,500, and some time ago sold a single one for $700. Mr. Burke now has five foxes, three females and two males. Asked as to the cost of keeping them, he said that it is only nominal as neighbors take this means of getting clear of their refuse.—EXC.

VICTIMS OF CONSUMPTION. MOTHER AND TWO CHILDREN AT MUSKOKA FREE HOSPITAL.

Are Now Under Treatment—Husband, Too, Had Been a Patient—A Tragedy in Real Life—Heavy Debt on Institution.

A story from the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives tells of a mother who, with her two children, is now under treatment in that institution. The husband had been a patient, but the case was an advanced one when the patient entered, and he has since passed away. There is little doubt but that the wife was infected as a result of caring for her husband, and now she is in the Muskoka Hospital. Her little girl, about five years of age, and a boy of ten are with her, both being afflicted with this dread disease.

The words of the mother are pathetic. She writes: "I went to a doctor and got him to examine my lungs to see whether there was anything wrong with them, and he said that the right lung was affected. A little rest, he hoped, would build me up. I have a little girl, about five years old, and the doctor says that if I could take her up with me it would do her over so much good, as she is not very strong. I have three more children, and one of these, a boy of ten, seems also to be afflicted, and it is advisable that he should enter the hospital."

These three are of the 104 patients who are residents in this deserving institution and being cared for without money and without price. The sorry part of it is that the trustees are carrying a debt of something like $40,000, incurred largely through the additions that have been made within the past year, and that have more than doubled the accommodations of the institution.

Readers who desire to help this great charity may send their contributions to Mr. W. J. Gage, Chairman Executive Committee, 84 Spadina avenue, or to the Secretary-Treasurer, 347 King street west, Toronto.

The Muskoka Free Hospital has ever lived up to its claims of never having refused a single patient because of his or her poverty.
