

SHE LED ME ON.

Whoe'er that bright face looked upon
Would swear that she was fair,
She led me on; my heart was gone
Before I was aware.

I smiled within, I smiled without;
'Twas happiness to see
And feel she cared, beyond a doubt,
For no one else out me.

We drove at night beneath the moon,
Her willing hand I pressed,
She led me on; I told too soon
The love that filled my breast.

Then how she laughed! "Youe love
suodue,"

She said in accents gay.
"I am engaged. I thought you knew,

My wedding day's in May."
My startled brain was in a whirl,
But 'twas in vain I raged.

'Tis hard to love a charming girl
And find that she's engaged!

Good Rule for All.

1. Do not use profane or vulgar language. 2 Avoid all vices and aim at usefulness. 3 Never be ashamed of honest labor. 4. Never act the hypocrite. 5. Keep good company 6. Speak the truth at all times. 7. Never be discouraged, but persevere and mountains will become molehills.

A man, who gives his children habits of industry, provides for them better than by giving them a fortune.

Every base occupation makes one sharp in its practice and dull in every other.—Sir Philip Sidney.

If a man be endowed with a generous mind this is the best kind of nobility—Plato.
