

basis of Canadian farm policy. The Committee therefore recommends that any reform tied to the concept of decoupling take place only after in-depth consultations with all those involved in farming.