Philadelphia Inquirer: The United States gives notice to Germany that the murder of American citizens on the high seas by these assassins of the sea, the submarines, pust cease. The note to Berlin does not employ those precise words, to be sure, but that is their precise meaning. This government is contending for "the freedom of the seas" it will continue so to contend "without compromise and at any cost."

St. Louis Amerika: The first noteworthy thing in the note is that the president has freed himself from the idea that submarine warfare must be abolished under all circumstances; and again that he concedes that the methods of warfare at sea have, thru submarines, taken on an entirely different aspect."

People With Wilson.

St. Louis Globe (Democrat): "There can be no misunderstanding of this note. The way is open to Germany. This country still desires to be friends, but it cannot for a moment abandon a right that is fundamental. The president has stated the case for the American people. They will stand behind him."

Washington Herald: "If it be true that diplomacy the civilized world over recognizes a deliberately unfriendly act of one nation against another as a deliberately hostile act, and that diplomacy's definition of a deliberately hostile act is an act of war; and fi it be further presumed that the government at Berlin will accord diplomacy's recognition to the term deliberately unfriendly, then the Government of the United States has finally placed before Germany the choice of war or peace."

or peace."

St. Louis Republic: The climax of the note's argument is to be found in the declaration that the United States and Germany, are in the present controversy, both contending for the freedom of the seas, and the declaration that this government, "will continue to contend for that freedom from whatever quarter violated, without compromise, and at any cost." In this note speak at once, the cost." In this note speak at once, the will, the thoughts, the heart of America. Come what may, the nation will stand by Another German Submersible Was Split in Two in Fight With British.

JOHNSTOWN, Penn., July 23.-A letter recieved here yesterday by Andrew McAtee, a prominent business man, from a relative in Scotland, throws a light on the defensive measures being used by England in submarine warfare waged by Germany.

The letter is in part as follows:
"Two of the enemy's submarines were cleverly disturbed the other week, one off Peterhead and the other near Aberdeen. At Peterhead an innocent-looking trawler, in reality a government gunboat, left the habror and was soon spotted and held up by a submarine. The gunboat did not give the submarine time to approach, but opened fire at once, smashing the periscope with the first shot, where-upon her crew rushed upon the deck. The second shot disturbed the conning tower, and down she went like a Was German Spy.

"All the officers and crew were rescued, and, curiously enough, one of the rescued men turned out to be a German who for several years previous to the outbreak of the war had been engaged in the fish trade at Peterhead. He must have been a spy."
"In the Aberdeen fight, a British submarine submerged followed in the wake of some trawlers as they put out to sea. When the trawlers were approached by the German submarine they diverted their course a little. The British submarine then came to the struggle to the end, that is to surface and with the first shot the say until the complete and defisurface, and with the first shot the shell nearly split the German boat in two. JURY LAYS BLAME FOR RIDING'S DEATH

Negligent and Grand Trunk at Fault.

WELDING NOT STRONG

Finding in Inquest on Fatal Explosion at West Toronto.

"We find from the evidence submitted that the Searchlight Gas Company were negligent in not having a more qualified employe in charge of their plant in West Toronto, knowing the dangerous nature of the gas manufactured.

"We also find that the Grand Trunk were at fault in receiving the tanks without proper danger stickers being attached thereto, and we recommend that the government require more stringent rules in the manufacture of acetylene gas and in the inspection of the tanks and containers and in the handling of acetylene gas.

"We are of the opinion that the welding of the tank was not strong enough to stand the pressure of the gas put into it."

The foregoing verdict was returned last night at the inquest held by Coroner J. E. Elliott into the death of Frank Riding on June 14 in Grace Hospital, following injuries received in the morning in an acetylene gas explosion at West Toronto.

an acetylene gas explosion at West Toronto.

The inquest was a very thoro inquiry and in all six sittings were held. R. H. Greer, county crown attorney, had a number of acetylene gas experts summoned, who testified as to the dangerous nature of the gas and the care that should be taken. Last night the jury did nothing but consider their verdict and they were out two hours before it was submitted.

The explosion which caused Riding's death and serious injury to Mark Grabham occurred in the G.T.R. freight yards at the station in the rear of 1712 Dundas street. Nine tanks of gas were being loaded into a freight car for shipment to Parry Sound, where they were to be used in buoys in Georgian Bay. While placing the sixth tank in the car it exploded and caused damage estimated at more than $20,000.
