Tokio, March 29.—A document purporting to be a transaction of a secret treaty concluded some months ago between Russia and China has been published in Shanghai. It is a strange and scarcely credible document. China, in consideration of the northern power's good offices in backing her bills upon France for a paltry sum which England would have supplied unconditionally, and in combining with Germany and France to drive the Japanese out of Llao Tung, places any for all of her harbors at Russia's disposal for belilgerent purposes and also permits Russia to secretly raise levies, buy horses and obtain coolies in Chinese territory. These various privileges, if challenged by another power, are to be ascribed to force majeure, China pretending lnability to oppose Russia's action. But at the same time China is to enjoy the pleasure of openly attacking Russia's enemies should she so desire. Further, when the Siberian railway is finished, Russia is to be at liberty to build a branch line to Tallen on the northwest coast of the Gulf of Pechili, or to any other point she pleases; and will be allowed to occupy and fortify an island for the better protection of the terminus of the line. She also obtains leave to select favorable positions on the Chinese coast opposite Vladivostock and to attack Corea with Manchuria should difficulties arise with Japan about the peninsula. Per contra Russia promises to use persuasion or force if necessary against any power attacking China, to lend several hundreds officers for the drilling of 100,000 Chinese troops in Manchuria, and subsequently in the five northern provinces of Chipa proper, and to hand over the branch railway built to her in Manchuria should China at the end of fifteen years have proved herself competent to manage it. The opinion of intelligent observers in the east is that no such treaty can have been concluded.

The unusual sight of crows flying at night was seen on the Hingston-road on Friday between 10 and 11 p.m. There is a large rookery in the grove lying at the foot of the village, and the birds rose straight up from it in numbers sufficient to give the appearance of a black cloud. The night was an exceedingly bright one, and the crows evidently mistook it for the morning light.

The easterly gale drove the ice, which had packed in the eastern part of the had packed in the eastern part of the harbor, to the western gap, where it is fast breaking up. On the lake shore of the Island the breakers were very righ, and the spray could be seen from the city wharves. The waves dashing against the breakwater at the eastern gap were fully 20 feet high. It is not probable, however, that the works were damaged to any great extent.

Henry A. King & Co. received the following despatch from Chicago: The wheat market opened strong. It acts as if there was a strong power underneath it and the general impression was that Armour's hand was visible in the big operations. Advices from Kansas are unusually favorable, and there are more reports of rains in California. Outside trade was very limited and the crowd bought quite freely. There was a large business of a local professional character and a nervous feeling. The majority of the leaders are looking for an active, choppy market for the next thirty days with the weather as an important factor. Closing cables were quoted dul and unchanged. We think there are too lany bears for a weaker market, and would advise buying. Near the close there was a heavy buying of wheat on bad crop news, advancing the price to the highest point for the day. Corn and oats were absolutely without feature to-day. The lack of demand from local dealers noted for the past few days still continues, and there is no business either in corn, and oats are being worked for export. We look to see light interior movement for some time to come as farmers will be busy with their spring wheat and thus be unable to make free deliveries.

Provisions—The markets were very quiet and very little outside buying, as holders have been generally shaken out. Lunham was the best buyer. The Chicago Packing Co, bought considerable. Estimated hogs for Monday 28,000. CHICAGO GOSSIP.

SEVENTEENTH YE! THE CABLE CONFERENCE

POSTPONED UNTIL THE FIRST WEEK | gg IN MAY.

This Will Enable Sir Mackenzie Bowell to Attend-The Halifax-Bermuda Strategic Cable-Exhibit of Canadian Fish-In Memory of Col. Amyot-General Notes From the Capital.

Ottawa, March 30.-(Special.)-The Government have been informed by Gra Mr. Chamberlain, the Colonial Secretary, that the conference on the Pacific cable question has been postponed until the first week in May, and that if the Canadian delegates leave Ottawa during the last week in April they will be in time to be present at the opening of the conference. This postponement will suit the Canadian Government admirably, as it will enable Sir Mackenzie Bowell, who is admittedly the one man in the country who should attend the conference, to be present. His co-delegate will, of course, be Mr. Sandford Fleming, originator of the cable scheme.

The Bermuda Cable.

The Government has under considertary, that the conference on the Pacific

The Government has under consideration the request of the Halifax-Bermuda Cable Company for ald to the proposed extension to the West Indies. The company have decided to keep scret the position of their cable from Halifax to Bermuda. The cable goes out the western side of George's Island, but after that its course is not known outside the office of the company. Its course after leaving the coast of Nova Scotia is also kept a profound secret, and is not marked on any of the public charts in use. The cable is considered to be of great strategic importance, and its location is desired to be kept secret to prevent any possible attempt in time of war to cut this line of communication between Halifax and Bermuda, which are often British men-of-war rendezyous.

Under the direction of Prof. Prince, Commissoner of Fisheries, an admirable collection of specimens of the fisheries of Canada has been got together here to be sent to the Imperial Institute in London for the permanent exhibit there. The collection will be shipped to England this week.

Col. Amyot's Death.

General regret has been expressed here regarding the untimely decease of Col. Amyot, M.P. for Bellechasse. The flag on the Parliament building was half-mast out of respect to the memory of deceased, while a beautiful wreath was placed upon his desk by the Conservative members of the House. Col. Amyot's death makes the fourth vacancy in the Hause, the others being Pontiac, Missisquoi and Soulanges.

have a monopoly of the winter coal supply now.

Mr. McDougall, M.P. has induced the Government to connect Seattarle Island by cable with the mainland. The cable will be laid as soon as the ice disappears.

Notice appears on the order paper to night in Mr. Dickey's name for appointment of a new Superior Court Judge in Quebec, at a salary of $4000. Up to midnight no answer was received from the Imperial Government to the offer of the 8th Brunswick Husgars for service in the Soudan.

MR. MARTIN BREAKS LOOSE.

Mr. Speaker White.

Ottawa, March 30.—(Special.)—The House got down to private business this afternoon, with about the smallest attendance of any day of the sestion.

On Col. Amyot's desk lay a beautiful memorial wreath of white roses and lilles of the valley, entwined with maiden hair fern, the floral offering of the deceased member's fellow-representatives on the Conservative side of the House.

The first order of the series of t sentatives on the Conservative side of the House.

The first order of the day to provoke discussion was the bill to incorporate the Hudson's Bay Canal and Navigation Co. On motion to go into committee, Mr. Martin rose to oppose the measure, and Mr. Martin, being in one of his peculiarly nasty humors, was not long in getting into difficulties with the chair.

The member for Winnipeg was proceeding to read clause by clause, for purposes of comparison, the bill as originally introduced, and in its present amended form.

Mr. Speaker quoted the rule which forbids discussion of a bill in detail on motion to go into committee.

Mr. Martin undertook to argue out the question with the Speaker, regardless of cries of "order," which arose from the Government side.

Mr. Charlton essayed to help his hon, friend out of the snarl, but only intensified the tangle. He did not understanding. He could only quote the rule and point out the transgression of it.

"Then," said Mr. Martin, testily, "I Bopeal to the House from your rul-

"Then," said Mr. Martin, testily, "I appeal to the House from your rul-

Sir Charles Tupper interposed with the observation that he hoped the hon. member would not proceed to that extreme. It would be a matter of regret were the House to be appealed to from the ruling of the chair, and if Mr.Martin really desired only to discuss principles of the bill, he could surely do it without reading over the clauses of the bill.

Mr. Laurier Interferes.

Mr. Laurier admitted it would be a matter of regret were the Speaker's ruling to be challenged, but he hoped that, in view of Mr. Martin's assurance, some relaxation would be allowed. Mr. Devlin wanted to know what

Mr. Devlin wanted to know what was to be done about his objection that the bill was not printed in French.

Mr. Speaker ruled that the objection did not hold at this stage of the bill.

Mr. Laurier finally implored his supporter from Winnipeg to abandon his attitude of Parliamentary insubordination, which he did, but with very bad grace. "I shall not persist in my appeal against your ruling, Mr. Speaker," said he, "although personally I don't consider it correct." This observation evoked another chorus of protests from the House, but Mr. Martin proceeded. He went on to talk of railway freight rates and to impugn the character of the commission which investigated them a year ago. From that he wandered to the Hudson Bay Railway Co., accusing the promoters of that enterprise of gross dishonesty.

Mr. Speaker again intervened to ask what all this had to do with the bill before the House, and not satisfied with Mr. Martin's explanation, observed further that he could not see what connection there could be between the railway company and this canal enterprise, unless the hon. member wanted to show that the passage of this bill would operate against the railway.
