He then went on to point out that this city is full of buildings, churches and charitable institutions which, if they could speak, would tell of the social life of Mr. McCormick. Not only did he do much publicly, but there were multitudes of little helpfulnesses and charities which few heard of. There is little doubt, but that there are many poor people, both in this city and in other places, who will look upon his death as the loss of a true friend. We must not look upon him as a man who was squandering millions, throwing his money hither and thither, but as a man who came to this city without a copper, and by hard work and strict economy, had put himself in a position where he could, out of his own abundance, help others. # CHURCH UNION

Baptists Cannot Accept Dogma of Historic Episcopate-The One Authority.

"A Baptist View of Church Union" was resumed by Rev. T. T. Shields in his discourse last evening at Adelaide Street Church, when he took as his text the words, "One Lord, one faith, one baptism," Ephesians, iv., 5. Mr Shields referred to that part of the Bishop of Huron's charge, in which he made a full and frank statement of the basis upon which the Anglican Church would be prepared to unite with the other churches, and read the four propositions laid down by the Lambeth Conference of 1888, already published in The Advertiser. "The first and third propositions," said Mr. Shields, "Baptists would readily accept. In the second proposition we would much prefer the word 'ordinances' to 'sacraments,' and would insist that the two ordinances be those ordained by Christ, Plank and Powers.
