William Thompson of Rondeau Ont., writing to The Advertiser regarding a story that was recently published from Chatham, denies that he was fined for preventing Mrs. Alice Bass from seeing her child. He says he had no objections to Mrs. Bass seeing her child, but did object to her taking the child away without the consent of Mr.
Bass, as he left it in Mrs. Thompson's care. Mr. Thompson says he was only required to let the mother have the boy, and did so.

PATRICIA

George Walsh in "Jack Spurlock, Prodigal," at the Patricia Thursday Friday and Saturday.

George Walsh, a favorite screen comedian, will be seen at the Patricia Theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week in his new photoplay, "Jack Spurlock, Prodigal." Jack is a Harvard student. He brings a large black trained bear to the university one night. The next morning the bear gets loose and swats a professor in the jaw. Five minutes later Jack is no longer a student at Harvard and is in bad standing with his father, who owns a chain of department stores. Father sends Jack to a lowly job in one of his stores. George buys so many carloads of onions that the employees all quit with tears in their eyes. Jack works in a "silent" restaurant until he meets Col. Jackson, a patent medicine man. The colonel gets a big order. He lacks ingredients.
He tells George the necessary requirements are onions. Jack's father makes a fortune and takes Jack to his heart again. Jack also wins an heiress through his big sale of onions. The trained bear is a riot of fun.

MAJESTIC

"The Whispering Chorus," a Superb Photoplay, at the Majestic Thursday and Friday.

Widespread public interest has been aroused in the presentation at the Majestic of the superb photoplay, "The Whispering Chorus," a story of Cecil B. De Mille production for Artcraft. The story of the picture play is one of absorbing heart interest, and its various scenes, all of intense dramatic strength, are interpreted by well-known screen stars. The story is by Perley Poore Sheehan and the scenario written by Jeanie Macpherson, author of many cinema successes.
The theme of the photoplay, that involving supreme sacrifice, is compelling, and there is not a moment's lag of interest throughout its action. It is safe to predict that a more impressive picture never was shown in this city, and Manager T. W. Logan has spared no expense to procure all those essentials in the way of music and other accessories needed to make this production one of the most impressive of the season.
Also a Lonesome Luke comedy, news weekly and a Billie Rhodes comedy.

YOUNG AUSTRIAN AGAIN REMANDED

GODERICH, April 30.—Magistrate Kelly, who resigned from the bench recently, finished his duties today when he remanded Frank Novack for another week until the authorities get in touch with Inspector Reynolds of the immigration department. The young Austrian was arrested a week ago by Chief Postlethwaite as a vagrant and an alien enemy. He says he was bumping his way on the M. C. R. and did not know he was in Canada until he appeared in police court. He has failed to register here, but says he registered in the States.
