Move.

Move.

At this time last year criticism was being heard concerning the decision of the Dominion Steel Corporation management, not to go after shell orders. At least one large contract of this nature was offered to the company and at cone time it had almost been decided to take it, but after further deliberation, the board decided to go on making steel for shells and leave the rest to other manufacturers.

Move.

Intere was a large run of lambs and prices dropped $1 to $1.50. Sheep were fairly steady, but were slightly lower in price. Fleavy fat sheep and culls were not wanted and very difficult to dispose of even at very much lower prices. Veal calves of the better kind were active and strong, but common calves and sattern grassers were slow and lower in price. Hogs were steady all week, selling at $1.75 fed and watered, and $12 weighed off cars. Icave the rest to other manufacturers. The experience which some corpora-tions turning out ammunition have had in the past twelvementh leads to the belief that there is no occasion for the board to regret its decision. The Do-minion Steel plant has been occupied to full capacity in turning out steel, a process for which it was already equipped, and the trend to prices has been such that profits have been unusually large, the result being seen in the

H. B. Wills, in his weekly letter, says: With an advance of 11 points already recorded this week in Newray, and the buying demand apparently only begun, this security has been the outstanding feature. Heavy profitaking, as was only to be expected, has been indulged in, but with what s actually transpiring at the property t is likely the predictions emanating rom inside sources may be confirmed within a reasonable length of time. In view of the fact that surface prospecting has only been under way or a very short time, the results obtained have been truly spectacular, and today Newray has three separate and distinct orebodies of tremendous possibilities under development, each occurring in identically the same foroccurring in identically the same lor-mation as at the world-famous Hollin-ger. These orebodies range from 12 to 50 feet in width, and values obtained in careful assays made run as high as in careful assays made run as high as $589.80 to the ton. That such remarkably high values must needs be given most serious attention goes without saying, and further strengthens my unshakable opinion.

Sheep and lambs--Receipts, 12,000; market, weak; native, $6.25 to $7.50; lambs, native, $6.50 to $10.75. Another feature which places this company in a foremost position is the fact that a ten-stamp mill is ready to start operations at any time so desired, and with three such orebodies of size and length, it would appear to me, only a limited time will be necessary to assemble a large tonnage of LONDON. Sep. 1.—Money was in better demand, and discount rates were steady today. Trading was limited on the Stock Exchange owing to the holiday tomorrow. provisions varying 45c decline to a rise of 7½c.

Depression regarding the possible capsizal of the strike settlement did not become a dominating factor in the wheat market until about midday. Previous to that time the likelihood seemed to be that time the likelihood seemed to be that the action of congress would be a nature to result in the strike being called off. Accordingly, buyers of wheat were decidedly active, and prices made a rapid upturn. Bearish sentiment was eraphasized by disturbing reports from the Balkans, especially announcement that the King of Greece had resigned office, and that Greece would fight on the side of the Anglo-French allies.

Large Export Business.

Word that a large export business has been done at the seaboard helped the wheat market to recover a little just at the close. There were also late advice that northwestern mills were heavy buyers of cash wheat in the southwest the best premiums of the season. Returns continued extremely bullish as yields in the spring wheat states and Canada.

Corn prices were highest during the last first hour, and lowest during the last The changes in the course of the market hinged almost entirely on the varying prospects of the success of efforts to avert the strike.

Oats were governed chiefly by the action of other cereals. The fact, however, that deliveries on September contracts were less heavy than expected made the September option relativly firm.

Provisions finally gave way under the influence of a sharp decline in the hog market. The chief setback was in port.
