PERE LACUNFE

Pioneer Missionary, Farmer, Explorer, Lexicographer—First to Guide Plough Through Soil of Alberta

Father Lacunfe who died of a gripe at the Lacunfe Home in Midnapore, Alberta, on last Monday morning was one of the oldest pioneers of the west, having gone there sixty-two years ago to take up missionary work among the Indians and half-breeds. He composed a large dictionary and grammar of Cree language. He was the first man to guide a plowshare through the soil of Alberta. The carriers of the Hudson's Bay Company were guided by his explorations when they first entered the country.

Father Lacunfe was a worthy modern successor of Brecheux and Lallemand, for, endowed with the gifts of a statesman or a diplomat, he spent his life in lonely sacrifice and service of the men of the plains. The life of this historic figure epitomizes the story of the Canadian west. Born in St. John, near Montreal, on February 28, 1827, and carefully educated, he chose the life of a missionary. From 1846, when he settled in Pembina, Manitoba, until his death, he was a brave, noble servant of the Cross, and a people who had few friends and fewer protectors. In 1880 he won the heart of the Metis by serving with them as chaplain during a great buffalo hunt. A little later he went to Fort Edmonton, and thereafter he lived in the foothills, carrying the gospel, stationing smallpox, driving out the whiskey trader and rendering a thousand and one services to his wards. When the railway came he visited the construction camps and fought the vampires that were fattening on the ignorance of the natives. He followed the steel lines through the mountains and by his unselfishness and diplomacy lightened the lonely hours of the workmen.

Condolence to the Indians
During the second Riel rebellion in 1885 the undaunted Little Black Robe was able by his influence with the red men to greatly reduce the area of unrest and thus perform a great service. Later, when the Rutenhians swarmed in, he visited Europe and raised funds in France and Austria for schools and churches for those people. His labors and enthusiasm took him to Ottawa and to Rome on important missions, but he was happiest among the humble inhabitants of the plains. "I am a hermit," he used to say. During the Manitoba school agitation of 1896 he naturally favored the minority, but on general principles he supported whatever government was in power.

Last Years Retirement
For several years past Father Lacunfe had lived in retirement in the foothills near Pincher Creek. Here his wife had lived in a modest log cabin after a life of unremitting effort. His simple faith and outlook are pictured in his own words in conversation with his biographer, Miss Katherine Hughes of Edmonton, whose "Father Lacunfe" is already a classic in Canadian biography. Miss Hughes, who was in Toronto yesterday, expressed regret at the death of the Black Robe, and recalled this conversation:
"After one of his old colleagues had died he said to me: 'All my old brothers are going, and the good Lord will soon take me to Himself, too. I do not know what this heaven is like. I do not want to have to sit quiet and sing songs. I could not be happy so. I think the good Lord will keep me busy there, too.'"

St. Stephen's Cadets
The St. Stephen's Cadets held their 26th annual dinner last evening in their rooms in Charlotte street. The regular business meeting of the year was held previous to the banquet. Among the invited guests were Major Magee and Captain Metcalf, of St. Andrew's Cadet Corps, and Sergt. T. McKnight, of the 28th Battalion, formerly of the 10th Battalion and also formerly of this cadet corps, and Private Sargison, formerly a corporal cadet. New members that have been added to the cadets will take the places of those who have gone to the front.
