

The Bitter Chaff Removed

The men who bleed, prepare and pack Red Rose Coffee know well what will please good judges of coffee. They crush—not grind—the fresh-roasted bean into small, even grains which brew readily and settle quickly to pour bright and clear. The chaff is removed, and with it the bitter essence you have distilled in other coffees. You will surely like Red Rose Coffee.

The Dominion Coal Company have chartered three vessels to replace their large steamer, the Glace Bay, which was wrecked on the Newfoundland coast May 2. The vessels are the Glenora, and the Norwegian steamers Sommerstad and Thyra. The latter has already engaged in the trade. The steamers Malmstead and Bernicia, now discharging coal for the company at their Hochelaga towers, Montreal, will be loaded with grain and consigned to Europe as soon as their coal cargoes have been shipped.

Mr. Downie Back From West. Wm. Downie, general superintendent of the Atlantic Division of the C. P. R., returned to St. John on Saturday after a trip to the Pacific coast. During his trip he met many men from the maritime provinces and all of them seemed to be doing well. In the western provinces he found no diminution in the real estate activity, but in British Columbia the business was dull although prices remain firm. Mr. Downie was greatly impressed with the agricultural development of the west, but said that he regarded New Brunswick farms as of least value.

Gerald Mandell, the three-year-old son of Matthew Mandell of Fountain Springs, Pa., was the sixth member of the Mandell family including the mother, to submit to an operation for appendicitis in two months.

MAKE BACKWARD CHILDREN INTO GOOD CITIZENS

Work Being Done in Potter School in Detroit

SYSTEM OF TESTS

Types Heretofore Unreached Are Now Being Taught—Boys in The Majority—A Visit to The School and Description of The Work

(Detroit Journal). The Potter school, located on Tilden avenue, near Myrtle street, was built in 1888, and named for Henry C. Potter, a public-spirited and universally popular member of the Detroit school board. The interest of the present article mainly concerns the pupils in a special class, in charge of Miss Anna M. Ziegler, doing according to age and ability, a portion of the work outlined for the four primary grades.

On account of various untoward circumstances, the mental progress of these children has been hindered more or less. Some have been afflicted with mental retardation, some with other less definitely understood causes, have prevented them from passing with their grades.

For about two and a half years an interesting and somewhat elaborate system of tests has been employed, to estimate, as far as possible, the intellectual capacity of the backward children.

The intelligent sympathy of twentieth century educators and physicians throughout the United States is recognizing types of intellect that a generation ago were allowed to go unheeded and untaught.

Experiments were conducted by research among European scientists have been combined with the work here, until there is now a reasonable basis for grouping and a growing definiteness in terminology. Not "the survival of the fittest" is the aim of present-day education, but "how shall we best fit the largest possible number to survive and enjoy the blessings of civilization?"

The special class is one of the answers to this question; it calls for a high order of teaching ability in the instructor and it makes no appeal whatever to selfish, worldly-minded or indolent parents. The membership in such a class is limited in Detroit to eighteen.

Boys in The Majority. On my first visit to Miss Engel's room all the seats were occupied. There were fifteen boys and three girls present. In these classes the boys are always greatly in the majority. Questioned as to the reason for this, the principal, Miss Engel, said: "It is often commented upon, but I am not aware of any satisfactory explanation having been made to account for it. Some have thought that possibly it is because girls have more pride than boys, and when they find themselves falling behind their class-mates, they try harder to catch up."

"We are encouraged by the good quality of the handwork done by the boys. Their basket weaving is very good. They make a ready market for the best and strongest baskets. The children take home what they earn in this way, the price of the baskets being deducted from their earnings. Hardly anything could be more encouraging to a child, after falling in one of the regular classes, than to find himself able to earn money by making useful and pretty things. It is just the outlet which the nervous energy of a restless and seemingly naughty child needs."

Success in lines of practical work gives the children confidence to attempt abstract studies which were formerly disheartening and hateful.

The children proudly displayed their work when they saw the visitor's interest. One boy was finishing a lemon basket of pleasing shape that had been purchased to use in a fruit store. The handwork of the boys is much better than that of the girls, owing to their superior strength.

Make Nursery Ties. The children make many attractive articles for the nursery and play-rooms, toy hammocks and furniture for the doll's house; caps, hats, muffs, knitted slippers and various other doll garments. There are also numbers of useful and ornamental articles, suitable for adults.

For the girls the most-urging is of special interest and value, as it leads easily to the earning of home in later lessons.

The woodworking in the manual training classes is an advantage to the boys. It is one of the best activities of their hands in disciplining their mental powers. A highly interesting case in point is recorded in Dr. Shuttleworth's book, "Mentally Deficient Children, Their Treatment and Training." A boy of twelve, entering one of these special classes, could neither read nor write, but after two years of instruction he was able to read, write, draw and make simple articles in a joiner's shop. After ten years' training he was an excellent joiner and won prizes in arts and crafts exhibitions. Five years later he had gained a fluent command of English and was made an instructor in wood carving. He is now an accurate and artistic wood carver, and makes his own panel designs.

The duty and blessedness of being brave, strong, and hopeful are constantly taught—both directly and indirectly in Miss Engel's room. Children, weakened by the humoring and misplaced sympathy of relatives, find a much more wholesome moral atmosphere within the school building. They learn that they can and should co-operate with the school physician, and their teacher in overcoming their own handicaps. In fact, the mental progress of these exceptional children depends so much upon their bodily well-being that the teachers and school physicians are constantly comparing notes.

Spitfire marches with good music and carefully planned gymnastic exercises help them obtain muscular control. In fact, singing and instrumental music of all kinds have a distinct remedial effect. The children respond to it heartily. Some sing very well.

Approves Outdoor Work. Miss Stuart is a strong advocate of outdoor work for all children, both the ordinary classes and the exceptional. Gymnastic exercises are conducted

You saw the speed and accuracy of his accomplishment seem wonderful. Not a moment is ever lost in finding the right tool for every part of his work. He is never hampered by any other thought than that of the execution of his work. You have watched the boy throwing red-hot rivets to a structural iron-worker and marvelled at the two minute work done in unison and the accuracy with which the bits of heated metal are hurled just as they are needed.

NAVAL POLICY MUST BE LEFT TO THE PEOPLE. London, June 6.—The Times says of Canada and the naval issue: "Political controversy there should take its course free from any suggestion, however shadowy, of imperial influence or concern. The British government has provided for the benefit of the Canadian people and at their request gave their elected representatives information on matters of fact which were necessary to a clear understanding of the naval problem. THIS MUCH IS NOW CLEAR. THAT NO NAVAL POLICY, WHETHER TEMPORARY OR PERMANENT, CAN BE CARRIED INTO EFFECT WITHOUT REFERENCE TO THE ELECTORATE. WHETHER OR NOT REFERENCE IS MADE AT ONCE, AND IN WHAT FORM, ARE MATTERS ENTIRELY OUTSIDE THE SCOPE OF INTER-IMPERIAL DISCUSSION."

YOUR HAIR IS TURNING GREY AND IT MAKES YOU LOOK OLD. TO KEEP POPULAR KEEP YOUR APPEARANCE OF YOUTH. A young man was surprised to have his application for a position "turned down." He was better equipped for the position than the fellow who got it. He discovered that his grey hairs did it. He was "too old" looking. It's the same everywhere. There is no doubt but that grey hair does make a man or woman look old. There is no use waiting another minute—don't lose your position or fall in getting a better one.

Daily Hints For the Cook

CHOCOLATE PUDDING. One pint milk, three tablespoons grated chocolate, one egg, three tablespoons sugar, two tablespoons cornstarch; flavor with one teaspoonful vanilla. Place over a slow fire until it thickens, remove to a baking dish and bake until slightly brown. Serve with meringue on top.

RUSSIAN SALAD. Have ready cooked peas, string beans, cut in pieces, beets, cut in slices, and potato balls; also hard cooked eggs, cut in slices, and potato balls; also hard cooked eggs, cut in slices, and potato balls; also hard cooked eggs, cut in slices, and potato balls.

Bodily Health Affects Character

Character, as well as success in life, depends very largely on the condition of the health. You cannot imagine a sufferer from indigestion being cheerful in disposition. Nor do you expect a person with exhausted nerves to be other than nervous, irritable, easily excited and short-tempered. There was formerly much guess-work in the treatment of exhausted nerves, but since Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has proven so successful in restoring nerve force to the system there is no necessity for experimenting. Some experiments are necessary for the advance of science, but they need not be at your expense or your risk.
