C.P.R. ADVERTISES THE BOOM WHICH RECIPROCIITY WILL BRING

This is a photograph of the window of the Canadian Pacific Railway's land department in Seattle as it appeared on August 29. Hon. Mr. Skifton is declaring that reciprocity would mean a tremendous drop in the value of land in Canada, particularly in the west. Tory newspapers have scared themselves into a panic as to what would happen to the Canadian railways in the event of the Canadian people supporting the trade agreement. And the Canadian Pacific Railway answers as per the above photograph.—(Toronto Globe).

EVIDENCE GIVEN IN CARLETON JUNK CASE

Name of Fourth is Mentioned—A Harbor Police Chase—Today's Court Proceedings

The case against the two boys, Wiley and McCauslin, charged with stealing scrap iron from the Wiggins' ship in Carleton, where the Onanogony is being broken up, occupied the attention of the police court this morning. E. S. Walker, plumber, who is the owner of the boat, said that he went to a junk store in Carleton on Friday last and identified a quantity of iron there as his property. He also identified some which had been taken to the west side police station. The iron had been lying on the old ferry steamer Onanogony which he had purchased some time ago. He did not miss the iron until Thursday last. It was valued at $14 a ton, and he would judge that there were three tons missing. Only about one ton had been recovered.

Isaac Babby, junk dealer, told of buying scrap iron from Wiley and Campbell. He said they called at his place of business in Winslow street three times, that on one occasion Campbell took his slings, went away and brought back a load of junk. The witness was stood aside until tomorrow morning in order to produce his sales book.

Sgt. Finlay told of arresting Campbell from Wiley and Wiley selling Carleton. He, Hammond, McCauslin and Campbell were all implicated. He had seen the four together on several occasions before. He had found some of the iron in the Union Foundry, and two loads in Babby's store. Police Chief Owens said he saw McCauslin and Campbell leaving Rodney wharf in a row boat on Wednesday night last and of following them in a row boat in company with Policeman Lee. He was positive that these were the two in the boat that he followed. As it was dark he lost track of them and did not see which way they went. He had often seen the four men mentioned together. Wiley had told him that Campbell wanted him to escape also, but that he was sick of the gang and wanted to get the matter over. Campbell was occupying the cell next to Wiley and made good his escape by breaking down the door.

Cross-examined by Mr. Mullin, who appeared for McCauslin, he denied having any threats that he would get even with McCauslin for giving evidence against him in a recent trial.

The case was then adjourned until tomorrow at 10:15 o'clock, in order to secure more witnesses. Mr. Mullin applied to have McCauslin admitted to bail, but the court would not allow him out. The witnesses who gave evidence this morning entered into a recognizance to appear before the next county court, and give evidence if the prisoners are sent up.

Campbell or Hammond have not yet been located by the police.

William Foran and Timothy O'Brien were fined $8 or two months in jail each on the charge of drunkenness. Mary Duigan, arrested on charge of being drunk in Brassey street, and also for ill-treating her eight months old baby, was remanded until tomorrow morning.

Marjory Bower, a seventeen-year-old girl, charged with being drunk and lurking in Union Alley on Saturday night and not giving a satisfactory account of herself, was also remanded.

Edward Jones was fined $20 or two months in jail on the charge of fighting with John Owens on the Haymarket Square on Saturday night. Owens was also arrested on the same charge, but according to the evidence given this morning, Jones was responsible for the trouble and Owens was allowed to go.

BISHOP CASEY SPEAKS ON NEXT WEEK'S ELECTIONS

In the cathedral at 9 o'clock mass on Sunday morning His Lordship Bishop Casey spoke at some length in connection with the election next week, taking opportunity to do so as his confirmation tour would keep him out of the city next Sunday. His Lordship read from the letter of the fathers of the church at Plenary Council held in Quebec that portion dealing with the privileges of citizenship.

He supplemented the letter by comments on various portions of it. He said he had heard that a large amount of money was to be used in this election for influencing voters and he spoke very strongly against any man selling his franchise. He urged upon all the duties of exercising the privilege of the ballot as conscience dictated and for the best interests of the country.

WOULD NOT BET IN SPITE OF HIS TALK THIS EVENING

A Conservative who has been proclaiming his belief that the Conservative party would be victorious in the elections of next week, was in an up-town store last week and offered to bet $100 to back up his statement. Much to his surprise, the store-keeper produced $100 to take up the bet and the city hall man retired without posting his money. He was willing to talk but when it came time for action he was not there.

MADE TO ORDER AND MADE TO FIT

He was so pleased with his Suit that he brought in a friend. "I want one just like it," said the latter.

"Rather not," replied our cutter. "Don't believe it would suit you."

"But why?" protested the new customer.

"Because what looks well on one man won't look well on another. Your friend is of dark complexion and is much stouter than you. Here's something—and here—at the same price. You'd look far better in either."

The result was a Suit made to suit the customers personality—and a pleased wearer.

This making Clothes to suit is a specialty of Oak Hall's in which it has few competitors. We mention $25 and $28 specifically today because of the great range of styles at these prices, although the selection is wide at every price.
