NEW GOODS! NEW GOODS!
More About Colorado.
[From our Washington Correspondent.] COLORADO SPRINGS, Sept. 14.

The title of "Saratoga of the West" is claimed for Colorado Springs and Manitou, which, though three miles apart, are considered in the same category. The mineral springs are the attraction at Manitou—the name given to a few hotels and cottages located around the springs and at the foot of Pike's Peak—but the railway station is at the town of Colorado Springs, a really beautiful place with about 4,000 inhabitants. Between the two tourists resort towns, according to taste, communication being by a line of buses and stages, or private conveyances. Many spend several weeks here—especially the fashionably inclined, as there is more of the ways and manners of a fashionable resort than at Denver; or anywhere else in Colorado. At the Manitou Hotels the ladies "dress" for dinner as elaborately as at Cape Mayor or Long Branch. The Spring waters are strongly charged with carbonic acid and contain carbonates of soda, lime, and magnesia in various proportions.
Broad claims are made for the medicinal properties of these waters; the opinions of professors of chemistry being quoted to the effect that they excel the "Ems" and the "Spa," two of the most famous groups in Europe. The elevation of this locality is higher than that of Denver, or a little over 6,700 feet. There are splendid drives in all directions, and within a radius of seven or eight miles are numerous attractions and points of special interest, including the Garden of the Gods, Glen Eyrie, Ute Pass and Monument Park. The formations from which the latter takes its name are among the greatest curiosities to be seen in Colorado. Pan cannot well describe them.
They consist of a series of curiously shaped monuments which have been formed from sand-stone rock solely by the action of the weather, a thin strata of iron on the top having protected these particular pieces and preserved them. No accurate estimate can be made of the hundreds of years this work of the elements has been in progress. There are perhaps a hundred of the peculiar formations of different sizes and shapes, some of which are really fantastic. The Garden of the Gods is also a remarkable freak of nature, partaking somewhat more of the grand and imposing.
It is a secluded spot, hemmed in by great rocks stood up on edge and end. They are some of the more marked of the numerous evidences of every hand here of a grand upheaval some time in the past.
Imagine tremendous flat rocks, large enough to cover a quarter of an acre of ground, stand up on edge, 350 feet high, and you will have some idea of what forms the chief wonder of this garden.
So much time had been consumed in our wanderings that our party were obliged to abandon the trip to the San Juan mining country, much to our regret.
Mining being the leading interest here, we were naturally desirous of visiting the most extensive region yet discovered. But the trip involves some staging and a good deal of time. Next year, therefore, we will go to Leadville, the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe branch, via the Arkansas valley and the Denver and South Park, from Denver.

Our Cheap Sale still continues and gives increased satisfaction. This lot of Goods has been marked proportionately low.

VARIOUS MATTERS.
A cannibal—one who loves his fellow-men.
The folly of some is a fund of wit for others.
The boy with a big watch said time hung heavy on his hands.
How should a wife speak to a grumbling husband? "My dear, I love you still."
A man who is good company for himself is always good company for others.
There is no good substitute for wisdom, but silence is the best that has been discovered yet.
Early to bed and early to rise Will save you some trouble from hungry flies.
One style of hats for ladies is called the "Huzza." That is because it is so cheerful for the husband who pays the bill.
A sign posted up in a Wisconsin sawmill reads: "The saws are running—no use to touch them to convince yourselves."
Honor and shame from no condition rise;
Act well your part and then go advertise.
The Princess of Wales, the Crown Prince of Denmark, her brother, and the heir to the Belgian throne, are all partially deaf.
They say thine eyes like sunny skies,
The chief attraction form.
I see no sunshine in those eyes, They take me all by storm.
In England when the corn and wheat used to be threshed by means of the flail and the grains were consequently subject to the ravages of mice, a tame owl was as common in the barn as a cat in the house.
Portugal had but one university, Coimbra, founded in 1200. It has seventy instructors and 1,100 students. There are 2,450 elementary schools, and parents whose children cannot read and write by fifteen, lose their political rights.
Beside the grand old ocean She stood in rapt devotion, With a look that seemed to grasp some visionary land;
Then turned about her paces,
One of the bare-foot graces, And her fairy feet retreating made possibilities in the sand.
—Boston Post.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.
A fresh cut of watermelon is good for fever.
Ginger ale will relieve stomach cramps and cholera.
Carbolic acid or ammonia, in the foot bath, will cure perspiration of the feet.
A bit of sandpaper in the house will keep needles sharp and save sawdust.
Fresh cream is the best cure for sunburn. It draws the fire, soothes and heals.
Furniture polish can now be had by the pint; applied with a cloth it makes the furniture look like new.
Powdered borax sprinkled around the base-boards and on the shelves will drive cockroaches and ants away.
A bottle of cement, a bucket of paint, with hammer and nails, will save to any household ten times their cost every year.
Branches of the elderbush, hung in the dining-room of a house will clear the room of flies. There is an odor which the insects detest.
Kerosene lamps which are trimmed daily rarely explode. The carelessness of the house-wife can be blamed for most of the lamp explosions.
Save your washing soda for the garden; if they are poured over the roots of the plum trees they will kill the curculio; if turned at the roots of geraniums, roses, etc., they will enhance their beauty tenfold.
To cure weak eyes, take rose leaves, the more the better, and put them into a little water; then boil; after this strain into a bottle and cork it tight. You will find this liquid very beneficial in removing redness and weakness from the eyes.

POULTRY NOTES.
Care in feeding and housing, especially in protecting from dampness, is very important in the case of young turkeys, till they get a full dress out of their feathers.
A poultry house overrun with "red mites" was speedily cleared by burning a pint of turpentine in the house, and it took two pounds of sulphur on a coal fire in a hand furnace, the doors and windows being tightly closed.
To rid young chicks of vermin The American Poultry says that the best way mopping the feathers and fluff of the mother hen in the evening with a sponge dipped in kerosene and squeezed dry.
According to The Farmer's Friend, a hen of any breed will yield only half as many eggs the second as the first year after she begins laying, and, therefore,
"old fowls kept after they are two years old are kept at a loss."

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.
The Russian evacuation of San Stefano has been completed.
The town of Tula, in Russia, has surrendered to the Austrians.
Sir Richard John Griffith, civil engineer and author of a geological map of Ireland is dead.
At the next anniversary on the anniversary of Pope Leo XIII. the Nuncios at Paris, Madrid, and Lisbon will be created Cardinals.
A Vatican organ, Voces Della Veritas, denies that any difficulties have arisen in the negotiations between Germany and the Holy See.
It is stated that the iron-clad Northampton, 10,584 tons, is being put in repair for the conveyance of the Marquis of Lorne to Canada from London.
On Sunday night an eruption of Vesu-vius occurred of a moderate and intermittent character. The crater appears nearly full of lava, and the activity of eruption continues to increase.
A Constantinople correspondent reports that it is said France is about to abandon the exclusive protectorate over the Catholics in the East, and the Pope is consequently expected to send a Nuncio to Constantinople.
The Italian Consul at Targier has telegraphed repeatedly that the situation there is intolerable. The British Con-sulate and Custom house have been attacked by the mob. Italy will probably send a man-of-war to Targier.
