A KICK FROM NORTH END. Douglas Avenue People Complain Regarding Postal Facilities.

Residents along Douglas avenue think they have good reasons to plain of the entire absence of lette over a mile long, and those who have any letters to mail are compelled to walk in to the corner of Main street. This, they consider unjust, and think the post office people should provide one or two boxes on the avenue.

Another complaint is that the collection service is not up to the mark. The street boxes are emptied at 6 a. m. and 2.30 p. m. Postmaster Hanington said today that if residents on the avenue want letter boxes their proper course is to present a petition to the postmaster general, setting forth their wishes and reasons for having the boxes. Regarding the collection service, Mr. Hanington thinks it is quite satisfactory.

MAIL TROUBLE NOT SETTELD. The trouble between the Shore line and the postal department has not yet been settled, but as mails have to be tied up, the department has arranged to send mails by courier. The railway refused to provide teams for this service on the ground that this work was not specified in the contract. The matter was referred to Ottawa for set tlement, but meanwhile the local branch of the postal service will de everything possible towards keeping up connections. Mails left St. John by team this morning for St. George.

CIRCUIT COURT. The adjourned sitting of the last St. John circuit court was resumed this morning by Chief Justice Tuck. The case of Ingram vs. Brown came up, but was postponed. The court was
