CRIME IN CANADA.

Either Canada is growing better or wicked Canadians are becoming more expert in evading the law, according to the criminal statistics in the recently issued Canadian year book. In spite of the steadily growing population and the increasing number of convictions, the number of crimes in 1903 was less than in any previous year since 1897. It is to be regretted, however, that this province can claim none of the credit for the improvement. The number of convictions in New Brunswick in 1903 was 158, a record for the province, and an increase of 31 over 1901. Some compensating comfort, however, is found in the fact that, even with our increase, we had the least number of criminals of any province in Canada, with the exception of Prince Edward Island. Ontario heads the list with 2,670, next comes Quebec with 1,405, then British Columbia with 817, then Nova Scotia with 418, then Manitoba with 238, then New Brunswick, and lastly little P. E. I. with only 48.

The number of crimes for which sentences were pronounced, larceny, of course, stands first, with 5,043. Assaults of all kinds numbered 1,014; murders 17; cases of fraud 125, house-breaking 257. Of the convictions, 2,133 professed to be Roman Catholics, 518 Episcopalians, 579 Methodists, 428 Presbyterians, and 166 Baptists, while 801 are classed as "other denominations." Of the 5,660 convictions, 4,182 were residents of cities or towns, 5,620 of them were single. Only 547 were women.

Nearly half of the convictions were laborers, 2,206 coming under that class; 675 were men engaged in commercial, 541 in industrial and 215 in agricultural pursuits. Only 44 were men from professional life.

It is worthy of note that of the 5,660 criminals 5,044 were addicted to the use of liquor and 3,335 are classed as only "moderate drinkers."

LIBERAL DEFEAT IMMINENT.

The Independent Liberal Winnipeg Tribune, after a careful survey of political conditions throughout Canada, gives its opinion that the overthrow of the Liberal government is imminent. One of its reasons is given in a recent issue as follows:—

"While extreme party fidelity as a rule is not to be commended, it may, on rare occasions, be of inestimable service to the nation when a great party is led by a clear-sighted, astute and capable general, as the present leader of the Conservatives is proving himself to be. Herein lies one of Mr. Borden's grounds for expecting victory at the polls. He will hold his party together. Sir Wilfrid Laurier cannot. Independence is an essential and essential element in Liberalism. True Liberals always have been and always must be ready to cut loose from party leaders when they think the latter are not true to Liberal ideals. Many thousands of the most intelligent and conscientious men in the party believe that the time has now arrived when duty calls on them to do so. The vote and influence of these men will be a powerful factor in Mr. Borden's favor. Mr. Borden is also certain to obtain the entire non-purchasable independent vote that turns the scale in every election. It is ominous for any government when the entire non-partisan public and press is against it, as is the case at the present time."

BOURASSA DID IT.

The Star a few days ago referred to the clause in the new militia bill which provides that the Canadian militia cannot be ordered on service outside of Canada unless this country is directly menaced. The Ottawa Citizen says that this clause, which will prevent a Canadian soldier, as such, from fighting for the defence of the Empire, was suggested by Sir Wilfrid Laurier himself, and that in view of its insertion Mr. Bourassa agreed not to offer any amendment. The only inference to be taken is that Sir Wilfrid Laurier yielded to the pressure of Mr. Bourassa, whose anti-imperialist influence over the government is becoming daily more evident.

REV. E. L. COFFIN GOING AWAY.

Rev. E. L. Coffin, of St. Philip's church, leaves tomorrow for Yarmouth to attend the conference of the African Methodist Episcopal church. Accompanying him will be the Rev. J. C. Colman, of Halifax, and Geo. Walker, of St. John. Rev. Mr. Coffin says that the conference may transfer him to Halifax.

George Walker, who is a son of Dr. A. B. Walker, L.L.D., H. A., will be ordained to the ministry at this session of the conference.

R. K. Y. C. ON ANNUAL CRUISE.

Fleet Left Millidgeville Early on Saturday Afternoon.

A large number of spectators gathered at Millidgeville Saturday afternoon to witness the start of the twelfth annual cruise of the Royal Kennebec Yacht Club. The fleet started out under a most favorable breeze from the southwest.

The yachts presented a pretty appearance as they lay with mastsails hoisted and idly flapping in the wind, everything on board having been put in readiness for the final start when the gun sounded at three o'clock. Shortly before that hour several boats got under way and sailed back and forth waiting for the signal. The flagship Scionda, with J. M. Robinson, W. H. Barnaby and others on board, the guests of Commodore Thomson, was anchored a short distance from the shore, while the sloop Dream, with a large party of tourists, lay at the old Jewett wharf. On board the Sunol with Capt. Sinclair were Mrs. Ralph Bonner, Misses Lilla Titus, Mabel Cowan and several other ladies, who enjoyed a sail about the yachts. The ladies on this and other yachts were all dressed in sailor costumes of blue and white and the bright costumes added much to the beauty of the scene. The Grace M. also had a party of ladies out for a sail before the start.

Perhaps the prettiest sight of all were the little tenders that darted back and forth, carrying guests and supplies to the yachts.

Exactly at three o'clock a gun was fired on board the flagship and the fleet started out, most of the yachts being over way in the stiff breeze that was blowing at the time. The picture which they presented as they sailed in a triple line down the Millidge towards the main river was a pretty one. The only schooner rigged yachts were the Windward and Lightning, which, with their large spread of canvas, appeared as leaders among the fleet. The Lightning was formerly in commission here as a pilot boat and has seen many a stiff breeze and heavy sea in the Bay Fundy. The Scionda brought up the rear.

The crowd on shore was one of the largest ever seen at Millidgeville, and the watch tower of the club house was completely filled. The buoys between Millidgeville and the city did a rushing business, being exceptionally busy most of the afternoon, as a large number of clerks took advantage of the half holiday for a trip to the club house.

The fleet proceeded up river with a good wind, which lasted all day yesterday. The reached Carter's Point a few hours ago and anchored for the night. The service at Carter's Point on Sunday next. Among these will be Dr. A. H. Merrill, A. E. Exner and Horace Brown on the yacht Rose.

THE BUDDHIST'S CREED.

If he liveth, learning whence we springs,
Endureth patiently, striving to pay
His utmost debt for ancient evil done—
In love and truth always.

If making none to lack he thoroughly
purge
The life lust of self forth from his blood;
Suffering all meekly, rendering for offence
Nothing but grace and good;

If he shall day by day dwell merciful,
Holy and just and kind and true, and
rend
Desire from where it clings with bleeding roots;
Till love of life have end.

No need hath such to live as ye name
life;
That which began in him when he began
Is finished; he hath wrought the purpose through
Of what did make him Man.

Never shall yearnings torture him, nor slain him, nor ache of earthly joys and woes
Enslave his safe eternal peace; nor death
And lives recur. He goes

Unto Nirvana. He is one with life
Yet lives not. He is best cleaving to be,
Om, Om, Padme, Om! The dew-drop
slips
Into the shining sea.

THE HOLIDAY.

The clerks were scarcely as well treated by the weather as the second holiday as they had been on the first. Still there was no rain, and judging from the numbers that went out of the city to various points the clerks were determined to make the best they could of their short breathing space. The Seaside park attracts a large number, and the Street Railway Co. transported several hundreds of holiday makers to their pretty new park. The trains, too, were well patronized, and hundreds went to various points down the line to spend Saturday afternoon and some to stay over Sunday.

In the city itself there were few attractions. Base ball in the afternoon accounted for a few, and the band concert in the evening attracted a large number of the stay at home.

Our laundry closes at twelve o'clock Saturday. Whose? Why, Ungar's.

DR. DANIEL RETURNS.

Dr. J. W. Daniel, the conservative representative for this city, returned home Saturday. The present session has been a long one and Dr. Daniel has borne his share of it. The weather in Ottawa has been very hot and sultry. The house of commons chamber is extremely ill-ventilated. Dr. Daniel says, and he is very glad to return to the cool and bracing atmosphere of his constituency. He says that the session is now considered near its close, and unless the government bring in some expected measure the end will be reached about the first week in August. The date for the general elections will be in the early fall, if general opinion is any guide.

LOCAL NEWS.

Exmouth street S. school will picnic at Watters' Landing tomorrow. Sir May Queen will leave Indian at 8.30 and 1.30. Returning, leave grounds about 4 and 6.30 p. m.

The Beatrice Waring left Indian town at 10.30 yesterday morning on an excursion to the Cedars. Over 100 persons were on board. The boat arrived at Indian town about half-past six in the evening.

The body of the late Captain Garrett Vanwart was taken to Hampstead for burial Saturday, and was met at that place by a large number of people. The City Cornet Band, which accompanied the steamer up river, went on to the wharf at Hampstead, and while the body was being put ashore, played "Nearer My God to Thee," the passengers on the boat singing the same tune.

Rev. John de Soyres conducted service at the Riverside church yesterday.

A match was to have been shot by the City Rifle Club on Saturday last, but owing to the foggy weather, few turned up, and the match had to be postponed.

Several complaints have been made as to the very bad state of the sidewalk on Broad street. On Saturday morning a lady severely twisted her ankle in one of the holes which exist there.

The death occurred at Fairville on Sunday of Mrs. Sarah Mulcahy, after a long illness, at the advanced age of eighty-six years. Deceased lady is survived by three daughters, Mrs. J. D. Kelly and Mrs. D. Brophy, Fairville, and Mrs. John Sheahan, Fredericton.

The death occurred at Margareville, N. S., on Saturday of George, wife of William McGranahan and fourth daughter of Samuel Torrey of the north end of the city. Deceased lady was a bride of less than a year and had many friends in this city and Nova Scotia, who will regret to learn of her early demise. Her father and sisters, Tillie Torrey, Mrs. Daniel Chisholm and Mrs. Amy Torrey, leave today by steamer Prince Rupert to attend the funeral. The sympathy of many friends is extended to the bereaved husband, father and sisters.

THE FLORIDA DROWNING.

The bodies of the late Captain Peck, his wife and eldest daughter were brought from Key West, Florida, by train and arrived in New York Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

There was considerable difficulty experienced in getting the bodies from Key West. The undertaker at that place had embalmed the three bodies and telegraphed that the expense would be $750. A draft for this amount was at once sent, but the undertaker would not receive nothing but cash and he wired back to that effect. In the meantime he also telegraphed asking $200, $400, $600 or $800 cash. The price seemed exorbitant and Dr. Peck, son of the deceased, consulted an undertaker in New York city. The latter advised taking the cheapest cash in order that the bodies might arrive as soon as possible.

Still the undertaker hung out for cash. The president of the company operating the steamer, Captain Mae, of which Captain Peck had been master, gave orders to embalm the bodies and to spare no expense. The undertaker was given permission to hold the Mae until the amount was paid, but this was to no purpose. The cash had to be forthcoming or the bodies would not be forwarded to New York.

Mr. Weed, son-in-law of Capt. Peck, and a noted lawyer in New York, wished to contest the matter, but Captain Mae, one of the surviving daughters, urged him to pay the $1,350 demanded and have the bodies brought on. This was not been heard of the case, as Mr. Weed considers the action of the Key West undertaker to be an outrage.

SAVED FROM THE SEA.

MONCTON, July 17.—The three-masted schooner Strathcona arrived here Saturday, coal laden, from New York with two men, Antoni Rossi and Manuel Domingo, on board, who were picked up in a dory about fifty miles off Cape Cod. The men belong to the scho. Ida, W. Brook, of Gloucester, and were lost Sunday, July 16th, and were adrift till Tuesday morning. They had no food, and only a small jug of water in the boat and suffered greatly, but are now all right. They will be sent home by the United States consul.

JOHN C. HENRY'S FUNERAL.

ST. STEPHEN, July 18.—The remains of the late John C. Henry were interred this afternoon with Masonic and Pythian honors, the officers of the local Orange lodge and the mayor and members of the town council attending. The Pythian service at the grave was conducted by Jas. Moulson of St. John, and other prominent members.

The procession was a long one and the services in the beautiful cemetery were very impressive.

FIREMEN'S MUSTER AT CALAIS.

Wills Hughes, of the Calais Fire Department, and William Fleet, a Fredrickton fireman, are in the city today interesting the local firemen and labor unions in the firemen's muster, which is to take place in Calais Sept. 5, 6 and 7. The celebration is to be on an unusually large scale, and efforts will be made to attract a large number from this city.

Liquor and Tobacco Harmless if You Keep Blood Cool and Avoid Indigestion, Says David Milley, Aged 103.

(New York Herald.)

"You need not bother about alcoholic drinks and tobacco if you keep your blood cool and avoid indigestion," said David Milley, who says he is 103 years old, when seen at his home, No. 1,329 Hathgate avenue, Bronx, last night.

"I never rode on an elevated train or in a car, because I care for my stomach. My father lived to be one hundred and twenty-five years old, and I am out to beat his record."

David Milley lives with his son-in-law at the above address and is a well known character in that section of the Bronx. When he wandered away from his home and did not return at night his disappearance was reported to the police. Search conducted by four generations of his descendants, aided by the police, resulted in his being returned to his home.

Milley has lived in this country for nearly seventy years. He attributes his long life to the fact that he selects all his own food. He is not a "medicine man" and frowns on all drugs except those he has prepared himself. He does not like to tell what plants and herbs he uses. After rising in the morning he works awhile in his son's garden, and then goes to the bakery and selects his own stale bread, which is the only kind he uses. With a pot of weak tea or soup this constitutes his meal. After smoking his pipe for some time he takes a walk for a mile or more, though he has been known to walk from his home near 175th street, as far as Twenty-sixth street.

"The creation of a thousand forests is in one acorn," and the "big stores" of ten years hence are probably the "little shops" of today. But the little shops of today whose owners are not good advertisers will still be the little shops ten years from now.

THREE GENERATIONS OF CLERGYMEN.

The services in St. Paul's church, Hampton, yesterday, were conducted by Rev. Withrow Walker, the son, and John W. Walker, the grandson, of Rev. William Walker, who for fifty-three years was rector of that church. Rev. Withrow Walker, who is the brother of Dr. Thomas Walker, of this city, has recently retired from the rectorate at Norwich, Connecticut, on account of ill health, and is now residing at the old Walker homestead at Hampton. His son is a student at the Berkley Divinity school at Middleton, Conn.
