LOCAL NEWS.

Permission to build a railway up the Piz Languard in the Engadine could not be secured, but the authorities, it seems, were not actuated by a desire to prevent what some consider vandalism, but by the wish not to deprive the guides and porters of their jobs.

William Thompson, of Rockville, Kings Co., a highly respected farmer, took a dose of carbolic acid by mistake yesterday morning. He finally rallied under the treatment of Dr. White and s now considered out of danger. Thos. Stevens, section foreman, was severely cut over the left eye yesterday by a spike flying when hit by a hammer. His cheek and nose were alto a higher court. Judge McLeod has granted a certiorari to remove the action to the supreme court of New Brunswick, and the case will be argued on Nov. 8. The prosecution will move to quash the order of Judge Ritchie, made last June, dismissing the information that was then laid.

Overcoat buying is now at its height, arousing con selves with these necessary garments 30 for the latter for the inspection of the public. It is its own recommendation, and the usual high standard of excellence shines out in every coat. New shapes, new cloths, new colors, but the same old reliability. See them tonight.

The death of Frederick Woodley, formerly of this city, occurred in Chicago yesterday. Mr. Woodley was the second son of the late John Woodley, of St. John, and sixteen years ago, when a youth, took up his residence in the States. He first located in Denver, but of recent years had resided in Chicago.

He was a brass finisher by trade, and was employed here in T. McAvity & Sons' foundry. Mr. Woodley is survived by his mother, Mrs. John Woodley, of 25 Broad street, and eight brothers and four sisters. Of these two brothers reside in Denver, and one in Winnipeg. The remainder are still in this city. The funeral will take place on Sunday in Chicago.

James Lawlor, better known as "Jumbo," was the only prisoner on the police court bench this morning. He pleaded guilty to being drunk, and then Mrs. Ada McKay made a charge against him for trying to force his way into her house on Westmorland road on Thursday, also with using bad language to her.

Policeman Semple, who made the arrest, said that Lawlor had no visible means of support, that he has been drunk and hanging about the Marsh road for over a year, excepting a short time he had been working. He sleeps in barns and the other night he slept in the grave yard.

The magistrate said he had been try-The death of Frederick Woodley, for on Sunday in Chicago.

Mrs. Hall is of the opinion that this winter will not be a very hard one on the poor. Last winter there was an exceptionally large number of cases of specific sciences, some of which are still on the society's hands.

Spent the greater portion of last winter here, a guest at the home of her uncle and aunt, Hon. John L. and Mrs. Carleton. While here she was a social favorite, and it is with pleasure that Woodstock people have learned of her sickness, some of which are still on the society's hands.

Robert Corbett has been reported by that given half a chance they generally manage to pull along all right.

Mrs. Hall says the greatest harmony now prevails among all denominations, who now all, without exception, work Water street to the sidewalk.

A spaniel dog was run over by an electric car and killed on Mill street yesterday. Policeman Scott has the dog's collar at central station.

Over 100 cars of grain and package freight have arrived, and there are advices of many other cars of freight common together through the Associated Charities. When this society first began seven years ago it met with considerable resistance and at first it was decidedly up hill work.

Mrs. Hall is very much in favor of compulsory education and thinks it probable that the matter will be agitated this winter. If we are not to have compulsory education, Mrs. Hall thinks we should at least have a truant officer. The work among children she thinks, it probable that the matter will be agitated. The work among children she thinks, is worthy of special attention.

Another plan which is likely to be discussed during the winter is that of widening the scope of the society, as has been done everywhere throughout the United States, to take in the power of correction. To give the society that power special legislation would have to be tax very own, cared for and tended as no other pet could be, and never to be tax very own, cared for and tended as no other pet could be, and never to be tax very own, cared for and tended as no other pet could be, and never to be tax very own, cared for and tended as no other pet could be, and never to be tax very own, cared for and tended as no other pet could be, and never to be tax very own, cared for and tended as no other pet could be, and never to be tax very own, cared for and tended as no other pet could be, and never to be tax very own, cared for and tended as no other pet could be, and never to the stay own, cared for and tended as no other pet could be, and never to the stay own, cared for and tended as no other pet could be, and never to the stay own, cared for and tended as no other pet could be, and never to the fashion to present to the baze the other parted with.
