THE GRANITE TOWN GREETINGS

One on The Editor.

Booth Tarkington, according to Every-body's, says that in no state have the newspapers more "journalistic enter-prise" than in his native Indiana. While stopping at a little Hoosier hotel in the course of a hunting trip Mr. Tarkington lost one of his dogs.

"Have you a newspaper in town?" he asked of the landlord.

"Right across the way there, back of the shoemaker's," the landlord told him. "Best little paper of its size in the state."

The editor, the printer and the print-er's devil were all doing justice to Mr. Tarkington with an "in-midst" paragraph when the novelist arrived.

"I've just lost a dog," Tarkington ex-claimed after he had introduced himself, "and I'd like to have you insert this 'ad' for me—Fifty dollars reward for the return of a pointer dog answering to the name of Rex. Disappeared from the yard of the Mansion House Monday night."

"Why we are just going to press, sir," the editor said, "but we'll be only too glad to hold the edition for you 'ad.'"

Mr. Tarkington returned to the hotel. After a few minutes he decided, however that it might be well to add "No ques-tions asked" to his advertisement, and he returned to the Daily News office.

The place was deserted, save for the skinny little freckled face devil, who sat perched on a high stool, gazing out of the window.

"Where is everybody?" Tarkington asked.

"Gawn to hunt th' dawg," replied the boy without removing his gaze from the distant fields.—New York Tele-gram.

The following good story is told concerning Ysaye, the famous violin-ist. A millionaire bootmaker invit-ed Ysaye to dine with him last year in Nice. After dinner the million-aire brought out a violin and asked Ysaye to play. The musician bit his lips, but taking the instrument he played several beautiful morceaux. Afterward, in Paris, Ysaye invited the millionaire to dinner in his turn. There was a distinguished company pres-ent. After dinner, as they were all sitting in the saloon, a servant brought the host a pair of old boots. Ysaye took the boots and handed them gravely to the millionaire guest. "But what am I to do with these?" the guest demanded, holding the boots awkwardly in his lap beside his cup. Ysaye smiled vindictively and flung his long locks behind his ear. "In Nice," he said, "you ask-ed me after dinner to play for you. Now I ask you to mend these for me. Each to his trade, you know?"

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain condition of the system—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of this new very popular Stomach Restorative—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Acting direct-ly on the stomach nerves, alone brought back the normal action of the stomach and the bowels. It found out that original and highly vital principle, so soon having recovered himself was able to lead.

For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, head-aches and other complaints, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and you will recov-er what is lost and will do. We sell and cheer-fully recommend.

Homes Wanted

Our nature demands home. It is the first essential element of our social being. This cannot be complete without the home relations; there would be no proper equilibrium of life and character without the home influences. The heart when bereaved and disappointed turns for refuge to home life and sym-pathy. No spot is so attractive to the weary one; it is the heart's mortal brain. There is the mother's watchful love and a father's sustaining influence; there is the husband's protection and a wife ten-der sympathy; there is the circle of loving brothers and sisters happy in each other's love. Oh, what is life with-out these! A desolation, a painful, gloomy pilgrimage "through desert heaths and barren sands!"

Rheumatism

A very bad case that was cured by persevering with an old time remedy

"Were it not that I had great patience and perseverance," writes Mr. Fritz Kelter, well known in London, "I would still be racked by chronic rheu-matism, which was my unhappy lot for three years."

"I didn't have acute rheumatic fever as so many have—with me the pain and stiffness came on gradually. When I kept quiet, as on Sunday, I was free from pain,—but being a working man I had to move about and the pain was simply awful, though after an hour's resting it would subside."

"I got the idea into my head that al-though the pain was in my joints, the rheumatic poison was in my blood. My druggist said 'Ferrozone' was a won-derful blood tonic and I began to use it. At first it did not help at all, only change was a better appetite and more strength. Not being a doctor I did not know that Ferrozone was all the while working at the root of the disease. I kept right on with Ferrozone and in three months was cured. There is no more stiffness, no pain, and I am as limber as forty years ago."

Every kind of Rheumatism, Sciatica, Nerve Pain and Blood disorder is quick-ly cured by Ferrozone. Satisfaction guaranteed, 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers.

Miss M. Eager, the lady who for some years was in charge of the Rus-sian imperial nurseries, tells a charm-ing story concerning the youngest of the Czar's four daughters, the Grand Duchess Anastasia, who is now seven years of age. We were driving in the Nevski one day," says Miss Eager, "and got into a block of traffic. A great many people as-sembled to see them. Among the crowd was a young student, who stood with his hands in his coat poc-kets, neither smiling nor taking any notice beyond frowning severely at the children. Anastasia, who was sitting in my lap, turned to me and said: 'Just look at that boy. He is rude, for I bowed to him and he took no notice.' I told her he might not have seen her bow, and she bowed two or three times to him, and only met a very cold stare in re-sponse. Then she said: 'Poor boy, perhaps no one taught him any man-ners.' He doesn't know it's polite to bow when a lady bows.' She put her face through the carriage window and kissed her little hand to him again and again. Even our student could not resist. He smiled broadly, and took off his cap and bowed to the child, who turned to me and said: 'Oh, the dear boy. Now he knows. I taught him.'"

Condemned by Physicians

Unscrupulous dealers often prepare corn remedies with caustics and acids. Refuse such and insist on Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. It's purely vegetable, safe and sure.

The Good Housewife.

You look at a housewife who has a place for her things, and these things in their places, and find a woman who is systematic in her work; and when she needs anything she can put her hands on it in a moment. She plans and calculates whenever there is going to be extra work, extra cooking, extra washing, etc., and she knows beforehand just what there is to do, and what she wants to do it with. Her work moves along like clockwork, and when the clock strikes twelve she is ready to put the victuals on the table. The men are not hindered—they eat their din-der and get out of the way, and her work goes on according to pro-gramme, and nobody's time is wasted by her procrastination. She is on time, the glory of her husband, the beloved of her children, and the ad-mirer of all who know her. And this same woman, so exact in her doings gets more time to rest and read and instruct her children in the paths of right and the social duties they owe to all. Ladies, we hope you are of this class receiving the blessings of your husband, and the praise of all who know you.

To a young lady who, apropos the question of Sabbath observance, "ask-ed if she might bathe in the Atlantic on Sunday, Bishop Potter replied: "That, my dear young lady, is a sec-ter which I have no jurisdiction."
