THE GRANITE TOWN GREETINGS

"Father Morriscy's No. 10"
Cures Coughs, Colds and Lung Troubles.

Father Morriscy's remedies have been known for years throughout the Maritime Provinces, and thousands testify to the remarkable cures they have wrought. The very same remedies, with all their healing virtues, prepared from the late priest's prescriptions, are now on sale throughout the Province of Quebec.

The "Lung Tonic," commonly known as "Father Morriscy's No. 10," is one of the best remedies ever put up for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis and lung troubles of all kinds. It removes the mucus, quickly drives away the inflammation and congestion and heals the membranes, leaving them stronger than before and better able to resist disease.

"No. 10" is absolutely free from Opium, Morphine or any harmful drug, and is perfectly safe even for babies.

Trial size 25c. per bottle. Regular size 50c.

Thoughts From W. E. Gladstone

A will residing within us, and made free to choose the better part, forgets its iron chains link by link in again and again choosing the worse.

All our most faculties may indeed enlarge, multiply and vary their powers by vigorous and judicious exercise, or may stunt and finally lose them by disuse.

I hold that a man, to be a hero, must pursue ends upon himself—must pursue them by legitimate means, and pursue them as a man, and not as a dreamer.

Every act we do is full of the power of reproduction; we are tracked and hunted by our deeds; and after we have lost them from view and from memory, they reappear and claim as of right the mastery over our fate.

In the contrast between the mind of man and such a subject as the being of God, the best men are not like the poppies in Herodotus, towering far above the grain; they are but as blades of grass of which no one is greatly taller than his nearest fellows.

Where there is a brave and gallant spirit in man, it commonly, and in the absence of extraordinary trials, manages to save something of time, thought, of energy, from the urgent demands of his outer life and his bodily wants. There is the blessed rest of Sunday, a standing and a speaking witness of the truth that man does not live by bread alone.

It is the effort to win, rather than the victory, which has real value. For while the victory in a competition may be the means of laying the mind asleep, and inducing it to rest upon what it has done, the effort, the truth, honest manful effort, whether it be successful or not, will have left you more competent and more vigorous for the discharge of every other duty, and better disposed to face and to grapple with the difficulties which in one shape or another must be your lot in life.

250 Good Stories

The Youth's Companion abounds in stirring stories of adventure and heroism. One may describe an escape from accidental peril, another a strange encounter with wild creatures—man or beast.

Many of these stories are true as to facts, and only disguised as to names and places. A score or more of such stories will be published during 1910 in addition to nearly 200 others—250 good stories in all, and no two alike. And this is not counting the serial stories, which it is believed will be considered by old Companion readers as the best The Companion has ever published.

Every new Canadian subscriber will find it of special advantage to send at once the $2.00 for the new 1910 Volume. Not only does he get the beautiful "Venetian" Calendar for 1910, lithographed in thirteen colors and gold, but all the issues of The Companion for the remaining weeks of 1909 from the time the subscription is received.

Famous Tea Drinkers

Napoleon, like Johnson, was a hardened tea drinker, and so, a century later, was Mr. Gladstone, who confessed that "he drank more tea between midnight and 4 in the morning than any other member of the House of Commons, and that the strongest brew of it never interfered with his sleep."

The dish of tea was one of the most important factors in Johnson's life. Proficiency in the gentle art of tea brewing was regarded by him as an essential attribute of the perfect woman, and there can be no doubt that his female friends (and their name was legion) did their best to gratify his amiable weakness.

Richard Cumberland tells us, says the Gentlewoman, that his inordinate demands for his favorite beverage were occasionally difficult to comply with. On Sir Joshua Reynolds reminding him that he had already consumed eleven cups he replied: "Sir, I do not count your glasses of wine; why, should you number my cups of tea?" added laughingly and in perfect good humor: "Sir, I should have released our hostess from any further trouble, but you have reminded me that I want one more cup to make up the dozen, and I must request Mrs. Cumberland to round up my score."

When he saw the complacency with which the lady of the house obeyed his behests he said cheerily: "Madame, I must tell you for your comfort, you have escaped much better than a certain lady did a while ago, upon whose patience I intruded greatly more than I have yours. She asked me for no other purpose than to make a zany of me and set me gabbling to a parcel of people I knew nothing of; so, madam, I had my revenge on her, for I swallowed five and twenty cups of her tea."

Cumberland declared that his wife would gladly have made tea for Johnson "as long as the New River could have supplied her with water," for it was then and then only, he was seen at his happiest moments.

On his Scottish tour his inexorable demands for tea sorely tried the patience of Lady Macleod of Dunvegan, who after giving him his sixteenth cup suggested that supplies in a small basin might be agreeable to him. "I wonder, madam," he answered roughly, "why all the ladies ask me such questions. It is to save yourself trouble madam, and not me."

The lady was discreetly silent, and resumed her task.
