Winter Overcoating. Latest Styles and Newest Cloths. I. S. MacLENNAN, 73 Union St. W. E.

For Turbans for Theatre Wear

For unconnected into round hats for wear in the evening is one of the fashions of the late winter. There are few faces that are not softened and made prettier by a setting of fur, whether it is about the throat or on the hat. Every sort of animal gives up its skin for feminine head dresses, Lynx, ermine, mink, martin, seal and broad tail are the furs that adapt themselves most gracefully to a draped net frame. A beautiful turban of ermine has a double crown which is formed of white pleated mauline and covered with shadow lace. The brim is of ermine and a band of it surrounds the crown. Poised at the left side is a group of short white ostrich plumes out of which comes a large pink rose. A tall uncurled violet ostrich plume is the only trimming of assistin turban. The dark brown of the fur sets off the violet hues of the feather. This is placed at the left back side of the hat and towers above the round crown. The soft gray felt of the Australian possum forms an attractive turban. The only trimming is a large ornament of silver braid and amethyst beads.

Three Ways to Cook Round Steak

Beef Loaf with Tomato-Celery Sauce.—Three pounds of round steak and a piece of suet the size of a lemon ground twice; two small onions chopped fine, two tablespoonsful of parsley chopped fine, three-fourths cupful of milk, three eggs, eight soda crackers rolled into fine crumbs, one tablespoonful salt, cayenne to taste. Mix all the ingredients well together and pack firmly into a greased square bread tin and bake in moderately quick oven one hour. Meat Patties.—Take a pound of round steak, cut off the fat and run through meat chopper. Separate into small patties and in the center of each place a pinch of salt and small pinch of pepper. Fold the meat over so that seasoning is in center. Dip each patty into beaten egg, which also has been seasoned, then into cracker crumbs and fry in hot fat until nice and brown on both sides. Meat Balls.—Chop fine round steak to make a teaspoonful when firmly pressed down. Add a teaspoonful of cold rice and season with salt and pepper. Beat one egg and add to it two tablespoons of milk. Pour about two tablespoons of this over the meat and rice to bind them together. If too dry add a little broth or milk. Dip out a spoonful of the mixture at a time, roll in cracker crumbs or dry crumbs, then in the egg, then again in crumbs. Fry in just enough lard and butter mixed to a crisp on both sides.

RCBS HIS MOTHER TO GIVE TO TEACHER

Boy, Arraigned in Court, Says He Wanted Christmas Present for Miss Muskawitz—Didn't Love Mother.

New York, Jan. 2.—"My mother doesn't love me, my teacher doesn't love me, nobody loves me, and I don't want to go back home or to school again as long as I live." This was the sobbing statement of Sidney Marks, thirteen years old, of No. 125 Delaney street, when he was arraigned before Judge Olmsted in the Children's Court yesterday on a charge of burglary. His offence was the taking of three pieces of his mother's china on Christmas eve and presenting them to his teacher, Miss Muskawitz, of Public School No. 160. "I love my teacher," said the boy tearfully, "and I wanted to give her a Christmas present better than any one else could give, so I took the china from our closet at home and gave it to her. There's nothing wrong about that, is there?"

The lad's mother said that when she observed that her china was missing she notified the police in the belief that a burglar had ransacked her home. Policeman Harvey working on the case two days before suspecting that the "job" had been carried out by some one "on the inside." After questioning the boy he took him in custody. "I'll commit the boy to the care of the Children's Society," said Judge Olmsted, "if he realizes the gravity of his offence." The youthful Marks will remain in the care of the Children's Society for observation.

SENT TO CHAIN GANG FOR PINCHING BABY

Says He Wanted Child to Cry, So Mother Would Unlock Room to Which She Had Fled.

Texarkana, Ark., Jan. 2.—L. R. Gowdy, a laborer at the Texarkana cotton compress, was convicted in the city court on a charge of abusing his three months old baby, and was fined $25 and costs by Mayor De Loach and in addition was sentenced to serve a year on the chain gang. The defendant's young wife to whom he was married about two years ago, was the chief witness against him. According to her story, Gowdy came home in such ill humor that she became frightened and locked herself in a room. He then began abusing the baby, she said, pinching it on the legs and cutting the skin with his finger nails. Gowdy said he pinched the child to make it cry, hoping by that means to induce his wife to return to the room where he was.

behalf of Mrs. Tobin, and myself for this very tangible token of your appreciation of our services. It is very gratifying to me to see my friend, Rev. Mr. Pincombe, and so many members of communions other than my own present, and to observe during the two and a half years I have been here such a cordial spirit existing amongst the people of the whole parish. I assure you it will ever be my endeavor to foster such a happy state of affairs.

CAT LAST CARE AS ACTRESS ENDS LIFE

Miss Roma Schneider Takes Poison in St. Louis After Leaving Instructions for Care of Peter in Future.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 2.—With only a pet cat and a volume of love verses as her companions in the last few days of her life, Miss Roma Schneider, a vaudeville actress, drank carbolic acid in her room at the St. James Hotel here this morning and died in the city hospital. Her only thoughts were of the cat, and in notes she had written in the night preceding her suicide she left directions for it to be sent to her brother, J. F. Schneider, No. 443 Ridgewood avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Miss Schneider was ill and in want and had not left her room since Monday. In her pocketbooks were many letters from theatrical people and many pawntickets. Miss Schneider was the daughter of E. J. Schneider, of No. 443 Ridgewood avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y. Here will probably form the basis for the cabinet's consideration of some definite programme of naval defence.

TO DISCUSS NAVY MATTERS WITH THE BRITISH ADMIRALTY

Ottawa, Jan. 2.—Hon. Geo. H. Perley, Minister without portfolio, who is at present on a holiday trip in the south of France, will before his return in February consult the Admiralty and the war office in London on behalf of the government in regard to Canada's co-operation in imperial naval and military defence. Mr. Perley's conference with the imperial authorities will, of course, be preliminary to more formal and more exhaustive conferences in London next year which Premier Borden, Hon. J. D. Hazen and Hon. Col. Hughes expect to arrange. Meanwhile Mr. Perley's report to his colleagues here will probably form the basis for the cabinet's consideration of some definite programme of naval defence.

DEATH TAKES PROF. GREGOR FROM STAFF OF UNIVERSITY

Montreal, Jan. 2.—A shadow of deep and sincere sorrow was cast over the faculties and students of McGill University this morning when news was received from Arizona of the death there yesterday of Leik R. Gregor, professor of modern languages at Montreal's seat of learning and who, but a month ago, went to the southern states in an effort to recuperate his health which for some time had been in but an indifferent state. The late Prof. Gregor was born at New Glasgow, N. S., 51 years ago. He was educated at the Prince of Wales College, Charlottetown, and later at McGill University, where he took his B. A. with honors in mental and moral philosophy. He subsequently took a post graduate course at Heidelberg, where he obtained his Ph.D. in philosophy and Latin. He is survived by a widow, a sister of Prof. James, the noted philosopher, and an 11 year old daughter.

WOMAN USES CAT IN HER MILK TESTS

Housewife Finds that Pet Tabby Generally Selects the Food that Contains the Most Cream.

Cottonwood Falls, Kan., Jan. 2.—An enterprising Cottonwood Falls housewife has found a new use for the common house cat. As the purchaser of provisions for a large family, so the story goes, this wide awake woman finds it necessary to buy considerable fresh milk, and this is where the family cat—a sedate ladylike tabby—comes in. To decide which of her milk dealers sells the richest milk is not always an easy task when there is no means at hand to test the amount of butter fat, so the business is turned over to tabby, who is the judge. Two small saucers of fresh milk from the different dealers are set before the cat. She tries one and then the other. The saucer which pleases her taste best, which is the richest milk, is eagerly lapped up; while the other saucer comes last or goes begging altogether. The scheme is said to work perfectly, and tests of the milk as to the amount of butter fat shows that tabby never goes wrong.
