The most agreeable of all companions is a simple frank man, without any high pretensions to an aggressive greatness; one who loves life and understands the use of it; obliging, alike, at all hours; above all of a golden temper; and steadfast as an anchor. For such a one we gladly exchange the greatest genius, the most brilliant wit, the profoundest thinker.

Optimism pays. At least one Hamilton storekeeper has found that it is good business. He placed a card in his window reading, "Business is Good." It attracted the attention of a tourist, who walked into the store and made a handsome purchase. "That business man," commented the tourist, "has the right idea." Of course the business man has the right idea because he is wise in his day. A smiling, optimistic business man is a stimulant to trade, just as a cheery, happy-dispositioned fellow acts as a tonic to the duller of parties. Nothing prolongs a business depression more than the insistent wail, "Things are terribly dull." And nothing vanishes business depression like a smile and an extra roll to the shirt sleeves. A few more "Business is Good" signs will help tremendously.

Fall fair committees are busy preparing for this annual event. Rural people look forward to fair days as holidays of their own making, days which they can enjoy after the long summer months of work, days of real relaxation.

Edward W. Bok, whose first job was washing windows at 50 cents a week and whose last job was editing the largest woman's magazine in the world at goodness knows what salary, owes his success to using each rung in the ladder as a step to the next higher. He is in a position to give pages and pages of advice to young men, but instead he sends them the same message given him by his grandmother when he started on his career: "Make you the world a bit better or more beautiful because you have lived in it."

An exhibit of ancient shoes dating back to 450 B.C. will be one of the features of the Shoe Style Show at the Canadian National Exhibition. The collection is the only one of its kind in existence and is valued at $100,000.

An Oil That is Prized Everywhere.—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil was put upon the market without any flourish over fifty years ago. It was put up to meet the wants of a small section, but as soon as its merits became known it had a whole continent for a field, and it is now known and prized throughout this continent. There is nothing equal to it.

FALL FAIRS AND FAKERS

The season for fall fairs, and the season for fakers usually run concurrently. That season is now approaching, and I wonder whether it be worth while to point out to the public the folly and fallacy of permitting the fakers who follow the fairs to make victims of us with regard to their games, or more especially with their nostrums that are supposed to make marvellous, if not miraculous cures.

Someone got off a wise saw when he said, "Never bet with a man on his own game." That should be sufficient reminder to those who are inclined to patronize the gang with oily tongues and a game that is their own. A little common sense and reflection will convince anyone that these slick Alces don't come to the fair, pay for reservation, transportation, hotel bills and other expenses, besides giving their time, for the sole purpose of giving financial aid to their patrons. No, these are not philanthropists. When we patronize them, we bet against a crook on his own game.

I am more interested in another phase of the faker's enterprise—one that has for its victims a larger clientele, and has for its patrons a more respectable and intelligent class of the community. I have reference to the street corner medical vendor. Some twenty or thirty years ago, they were seen at almost every township fair, and on Saturday night it was a common occurrence for the nostrum vendor, with his gas light erected over a vehicle, to be stationed at a prominent corner of town or village, where "cures" for all known and unknown diseases were dispensed at a dollar a bottle.

Such a scene has been very seldom seen during the past few years, and it was thought with a more enlightened public, the street corner vendor's trade had departed, but during fair new vigor and energy prosecuted vigor and energy prosecuted perhaps the most successful campaign ever launched in the town. His field of labor was at the local fair, at which his prosperity encouraged him to make a stand at the usual street corner.

Here he was equipped with all the old time paraphernalia, including the usual "tape worms," preserved in alcohol. This man of marvels specialized in making the deaf to hear, His sales must have reached many hundreds, if not thousands of bottles. Most elderly people are more or less deaf, and are ready to experiment with whatever a stranger has to offer. The writer would like to learn how many of these credulous people have had their hearing restored. With a little reflection it must be seen that any man who could do what the victims were led to believe would be the result of using the nostrums, could make an independent fortune in a week. How many in this county would gladly pay from $1,000 to $10,000 to have their hearing restored?

I need scarcely ask why these men of miracle do not take advantage of the opportunity to earn the thousands that may be had in a single case.

For half a century, to the writer's certain knowledge, infallible cures have been offered from the faker's stand at the fair and on the street corner. Not one of these nostrums is alive, nor lived beyond the days of sale. Not one of these men is a medical man. They are all humbugs, and common sense tells us they are not here in the interest of our health. In this enlightened age we might well be ashamed to let our neighbors why is his tail always a wagging?"

know that we are so easily duped by being seen patronizing these faking humbugs.

This little warning should save the unwary thousands of dollars during the next two months—the faker's harvest season—if due heed were given to it, but the writer is not hopeful. Barnum said that the public wants to be humbugged, and experience has told us the same thing.

It is hoped that my readers will think this matter over, and force this gentry into making a living by more honest means, by refraining from giving their patronage. They have nothing that the public needs.—Thomas Hammond, in St. Thomas Times-Journal.

THE SPARROW NUISANCE

Peter McArthur, writing in The Globe, says:

Now that the wheat is being harvested we are beginning to see that a campaign against the sparrows would be profitable. A whole row of shocks alongside a wire fence—about forty shocks—has been almost entirely thrashed by the fests. As soon as the grain becomes fit to eat the sparrows begin their depredations. They perch on the fence and then flutter into the field and cling to the heads, where they peck at the grain. All the damage they do is along the fences. And when the wheat was cut they made their excursions from the fence to the shocks. The amount of grain they have taken would pay for more than enough ammunition to kill all the sparrows on the farm. And as they did the same kind of damage on every farm that had a field of wheat it is clear that the farmers would find it profitable to organize a drive against them. Besides the damage they do to the crops in the fields, they are about as bad as rats when the grain is in the mows or in the bins. And they seldom fall to be among those present when the chickens are being fed. If the little wretches have any redeeming features they are outweighed by the harm they do. Besides driving out the insectivorous birds, they do not do much to keep the insects in check. We had excellent evidence of this during the past week. There was an outbreak of caterpillars on the ivy and Virginia creeper on the house, and although the sparrows use the vines for shelter and for nesting places they did not interfere with the caterpillars. To save the foliage we had to spic the salad of the caterpillars with arsenate of lead. This proved effective, and I am told that some of the sparrows must have picked up dead caterpillars, for dead sparrows have been found lying about. I understand that some city people make a practice of feeding the sparrows, but they might as well be feeding mice and rats. In the country they are a destructive pest, whose war on native birds is leaving us unprotected against insect pests.

McCALLUM—LEITCH

A pretty wedding took place at two o'clock on Wednesday, August 20th, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Leitch, when Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Leitch, was married to William A. McCallum, son of Mrs. Margaret McCallum, of Walkers. Rev. Dr. T. L. Fowler performed the ceremony, assisted by Prof. Andrew Leitch, of Bethany, W. Va., brother of the bride.

The rooms were a profusion of yellow and white gladioli, asters and dahlias. The ceremony took place beneath a large arch formed of evergreens, asters and baby's breath. The bride entered with her father to the strains of Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus played by Miss Minnie McNeil, cousin of the groom. During the signing of the register, Miss Mina Munro sang "All Joy Be Thine."

The bride wore a French gown of white georgette, elaborately beaded. Her veil of silk maline was caught with orange blossoms, with streamers of white ribbon. She carried a bouquet of white Ophelia roses and ferns. Miss Elsie Leitch was her sister's bridesmaid and wore a French gown of salmon pink georgette, beaded, with a knotted scarf falling from the shoulders. She carried pink and white roses. Hugh McCallum, brother of the groom, acted as best man.

A course dinner was served from tables beautifully decorated with roses, asters and gladioli, with streamers of yellow and white and lighted by green candles. Four young ladies, friends of the bride, assisted.

The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome cheque, to the bridesmaid a gold bar pin with a sapphire setting, to the pianist and soloist vanity cases, and to the best man gold cuff links.

Mr. and Mrs. McCallum left on a honeymoon trip on boat by way of Port Stanley, Cleveland, Detroit and Sarnia. The bride travelled in a navy blue tulle-trimmed suit with a small grey satin hat with touches of silver lace and streamers falling at the side, and wore grey suede slippers.

The guests numbered fifty and were present from Toronto, Windsor, Belmont, St. Thomas, Thorndale, Detroit, Bethany, Alvinston, Dutton and Glencoe.

Mr. and Mrs. McCallum will reside on the groom's farm near Walkers.

BY-LAW No. 307

To Authorize Raising the Sum of $10,000.00 for the Remodeling and Re-equipping of the Public School in the Village of Glencoe, Including the Installing of a New Steam Heating System and a New Toilet System.

WHEREAS the Public School Board of Trustees of Union School Section No. 9 (including the Village of Glencoe and part of the Townships of Mosa and Ekfrid) have requested the sum of $10,000.00 for the purpose of remodeling and re-equipping the Public School in the Village of Glencoe and installing a new steam heating system and a new toilet system.

And whereas the cost of remodeling has been estimated at $10,000.00, and whereas it will be necessary to issue debentures for the amount of the debt intended to be created by this by-law, and it is desirable that such debentures shall be issued at one time and that the principal of the same shall be made payable in annual instalments during the period of ten years, such instalments to be of such amounts that the aggregate amount payable in each year for principal and interest shall be as nearly as possible equal to amount payable in each of the other nineteen years of the said period.

And whereas the total amount required to be raised annually by special rate for paying the said debt and interest as hereinafter provided is $802.43.

And whereas the amount of the whole rateable property of the corporation of the Village of Glencoe according to the last revised assessment roll is $440,375.00, and the amount of the existing debenture debt of the corporation, exclusive of the improvement debt secured by special rates or assessment, is $20,129.24, and no part of either the principal or interest thereof is in arrears. Therefore the municipal council of the Village of Glencoe enacts as follows:

1. That it shall be lawful for the purpose of remodeling and re-equipping the Public School in the Village of Glencoe, that debentures of the corporation of the Village of Glencoe to the amount of $10,000.00, in sums not less than $100.00 each, shall be issued as required within two years after the date on which this by-law is confirmed by a vote of the duly qualified electors of the Village of Glencoe and that part of the Townships of Mosa and Ekfrid included in the said Union School Section, and each of the said debentures shall be dated on the day of the issue thereof and shall be payable within twenty years at the office of the treasurer of the corporation as hereinafter provided, and as to both principal and interest may be made payable in Canadian currency and shall have coupons attached for the payment of interest. Each debenture shall be signed by the reeve and the treasurer of the corporation and by the clerk, who shall also attach the seal of the corporation.

2. Said debentures shall bear interest at the rate of five per cent, per annum payable yearly and in yearly amounts that the aggregate sum payable for principal and interest in each year in respect to the debt shall be equal as nearly as may be to what is payable for principal and interest in each of the other nineteen years of said period.
