Riding Down.

BY NORA PERRY.

Oh ! did you see him riding down, And riding down, while all the town Came out to see, came out to see, And all the bells rang mad with gloe?

Oh ! did you hear the bells ring out, The bells ring out, the people shout, And did you hear that cheer on cheer That over all the bells rang clear ?

And did you see the waving flags, The fluttering flags, the tattering flags, Red, white, and blue, shot through Baptized with battle's deadly dew ?

And did you hear the drum's gay beat, The drum's gay beat, the bugies sweet, The cymbals' clash, the cannon's crash, That rent the sky with sound and flash '

And did you see me waiting there, Just waiting there and watching there, One little lass amid the mass That pressed to see the hero pass?

And did you see him smiling down, And smiling down, as riding down With slowest pace, with stately grace, He caught the vision of a face—

My face uplifted, red and white, Turned red and white with sheer delight, To meet the eyes, the smiling eyes, Outflashing in their swift suprise?

Ob ! did you see how swift it came, How swift it came, like sudden flame, That smile to me, to only me, The little lass, who blushed to see ?

And at the windows all along, Oh ! all along a lovely throng Of faces fair beyond compare Beamed out upon him riding there

Each face was like a radiant gem, A sparkling gem, and yet for them A sparkling gem, and yet for them No swift smile came, like sudden flame, No arrowy glance took certain aim.

He turned away from all their grace From all their grace of perfect face ; He turned to me, to only me, The little lass, who blushed to see !

NEWS FROM IRELAND.

DUBLIN.

An I. R. B. placard, printed in green, on the elections, was circulated, in Ireland, warning electors, "The Nationalists of Ireland," that "a time like the present, political adventurers and West Britishers are scrambling for Parlie are scrambling for Parliament honors who, in the eagerness to attain the coveted in the eageness to battain the british Legislature, are playing on the credulity of many of our countrymen by passing themselves as Nationalists, we consider it our duty to say a few words to you on the subject." The few words are an exhortation to the the British Parliament being no place for an Irish Nationalist to enter or in any way whatever to recognize.

The fire brigade, under the direc-tion of Mr. Wickham, subdued the flames before any material damage had been done. On March 22d, a fire was discovered on the premises of Mr. John Ryan, of Kildorrey. By the time it was first noticed the roof of the stable, and a quantity of hay stored on the loft, were completely on fire, and despite the efforts of the con-stabulary and the other willing hands who were then present, had fallen down before a valuable cart-horse and a jennet could be removed. Both were consumed, together with a large quantity of cham-pion seed potatoes, some oats, harness, and other property, valued altogether at #150. It is generally understood that the burning is the result of malice, though the owner is one of the most popular and harmless individuals in the locality. KEREY dorrey. Paris, March 17th. Paris, March 1741. The annual dinner, diner des anciens Irlandais, took place this evening at the Grand Vefour Palais Royal. On account of the di tressin Ireland there was no concert or evening party. All present had contributed generously to the fund collecting in France to assist the suffering in Ireland, and are giving their time and labour in the good cause. It is truly in-teresting to find men whose ancestors sa-crificed everything to save their country, and who for several generations fought for France, sharing in the sorrows of the people of the ill-fated country that was the cradle of their race. The venerable Count Nugent presided, and said a few touching words on the sufferings of the Irish people, and made allusion to the Old Brigade and to the fidelity of the Celtic race. A short but most eloquent speech by Count de Flavigny followed, and let-ters of apology for non-attendace read by the secretary from the Lord Mayor of Dub-lin, Mr. P. J.
