Prof. Montgomery of the University of Toronto has been prosecuting researches in the Souris district of Manitobs for relics of the ancient mound builders. No mounds have ever been found near Souris, but on the banks of the Souris river, where the north and south Antler Creeks join the main stream, there are some twenty mounds.

Prof. Montgomery has opened seven of these and took from them 10 complete human skeletons and besides numerous pieces of broken pottery, two whole urns. The mounds were found to be typical of those found in Dakota and further south with one exception. In this he found the complete skeletons of six buffaloes, which had evidently been buried with a sacrificial purpose.

Child Colonies in the Dominion.

Mrs. Ellinor C. L. Close, the well-known English social reformer, in a letter recently published in The London Daily Mirror, deplores the expense and unpractical methods of rearing poor children in English institutions, and continues:

"Now, as a substitute for this cost-ty and unpractical upbringing, I suggested that a number of small farms should be bought in the Maritime or eastern provinces of Canada, where, at less than one-third of the abovementioned capital cost, we can obtain comfortable, old-established dairy farms, within easy reach of railways, schools, and shops. There are many for sale, owing to the young people going west, where the country is unfit for children such as we have to deal with.

"As an object lesson I bought a farm 15 miles from St. John, the capital of New Brunswick. It is in charge of two English ladies, Miss Dunn and Miss Row, and of my own Canadian farmer and his wife, and is overlooked by a committee of local ladies and gentlemen.

"There the thirteen weakly, anaemic slum children whom I took out last year have become vigorous, useful, handy girls and boys, intensely proud of their home, and working keenly on the farm or in the house, just as all the neighboring farmers children do, with whom they associate and attend the excellent village school on terms of perfect equality.

"My capital expenditure, which covers 180 acres, of land, all farm stock, etc., works out at £76 per child, on a basis of twenty children, for which the farm is adapted. This shows an economy of about £200 per child, or £4,000 per group of twenty children, which is the largest number ever put on one farm. s-Short cut strong, 54s.

At One-Third English Cost.

"The maintenance of the children works out at £23 per head for the first year, but this has naturally been somewhat expensive, owing to our inexperience and to the farm not having been fully stocked until October.

"In England 'maintenance' varies from £30 to £47 at Chorlton, in Lancashire, and an average of some 30,000 chilren is £33 %. per head per annum, therefore here again my scheme shows a great economy, which those who have the custody of children will do well to bear in mind.

"The journey of a child from London to my farm costs £2 12s. 6d.' which includes food throughout. As I write I have before me the details of the expenses incurred in sending one little child from a London workhame to a cottage in Surrey last year. They amount to £3 4s. 9d., which seems to be not by any means an unusual sum.

complete human skeletons and besides numerous pieces of broken pottery, two whole urns. The mounds were found to be typical of those found in Dakota and further south with one exception. In this he found the complete skeletons of six buffaloes, which had evidently been buried with a sacrificial purpose.

Eight large boxes and five crates of specimens were shipped to the Toronto University. Prof. Montgomery believes that these mounds were built at least 700 years ago.

In the vicinity of Souris the professor found an Indian grave, in which a squaw was buried, perhaps a century ago. Bead ornaments were the only relies secured. There is evidence of an Indian village on the sanks of Plum Creek, where numerous arrow heads and broken pieces are footery have been found, turned up by the plow. The style of pottery indicates that it is probably 500 years since the village was there.

Recently W. S. Wilson discovered an Indian sweat bath, constructed of willows and young birch trees. It was a curious expression of the Indian's method of treating disease. This was costed by Prof. Montgomery and sent to Toronto University.

Arrested For Horse Stealing.
Chatham, Oct. 19.—Charles Miller of Camden was arrested by County Officers McGregor and Peters Thursday on a charge of stealing a neighbor's horse. He was brought before Judge Houston in the County Police Court yesterday morning and elected to be tried by a jury. The case was remanded till Monday for a preliminary hearing.

Not Always Smiling.

Men should remember that women can't always be smiling who have to cook the dinner, answer the bell hair a dozen times and get rid of a neighbor who has just dropped in, tend to a sick baby, tie up the cut finger of a two-year-old, gather up the playthings of a four-year-old, tie up the head of a six-year-old of skates and get in eight-year-old ready for school, to say nothing of sweeping, cleaning, etc., says a woman writer in an exchaige. A woman with all these to contend with may claim it a privilege to look and feel a little tired sometimes, and a word of sympathy would not be too much to expect from the man who during the honeymoon wouldn't let her carry as much as a sunshada.

Montreal, Oct. 18.—Raoul Roulier, a 10-year-old lad, fell off the Portland express between Danby and Actonvale Thursday whilst stealing a ride from Sherbrooke to Montreal, and died in the general hospital yesterday morning. It appears that Raoul and an elder brother wanted to have a look round Montreal, and as they had no funds found it necessary to keep out of the way of the train conductor. They orguched on the platform behind the baggage car, and shortly before the train reached Actonvale, Raoul lost his balance and fell off. The elder lad walked back along the track, and after going some distance, found his brother unconscious, his right arm baving been amputated by the wheels.

Graphite the New Lubricant.

New York, Oct. 19.—Announcement that he had successfully converted artificial graphite, made from coal dust, into such a condition that it would pass through the finest filter paper, and that he had succeeded in dissolving graphite in water—in other words, making it colloidable — was made by E. C. Acheson, "The Wizard of Niagara Falls," at the opening session of the twelfth general meeting of the American Electro Chemical Society in the Chemists Club, Thursday evening. Both of these discoveries will have a wide application in industry, it was said, especially that of the dissolution of graphite in water, for it can be used successfully now as a lubricant, where heretofore when dissolved in oil it has formed a sediment at the bottom, resulting in much waste. The graphite is much cheaper than oil. Graphite the New Lubricant.

Crushed Under Tons of Ore. Crushed Under Tons of Ore.
Cobalt, Oct. 19.—A Hungarian named John Cobush was killed yesterday morning in the No. 2 shaft of the McKinley-Darragh. Cobush, who was a mucker, was, with a fellow workman, changing operations from the 75-foot level to the £5-foot, or bottom level, of the No. 2 shaft. Cobush was at the bottom of the shaft, and his companion was lifting back a door which covers the area of the shaft at the 75-foot level. An ore car, which was on the track at this level, slipped into the shaft as soon as the door was swung back. It fell on Cobush, crushing his skull and breaking his spine. Death was almost instantaneous.

Women Who Wear Well.

It is astonishing how great a change a few years of married life often make in the appearance and disposition of many women. The freshness, the charm, the brilliance vanish like the bloom from a peach which is radely handled. The matron is only a dim shadow, a faint cho of the charming maiden. There are two reasons for this change, ignorance and reasons for this change, ignorance and neglect. Few young women appreciate the shock to the system, through the change which comes with marriage and metherhood. Many neglect to deal with the unpleasant pelvic drains and weaknesses which too often come with marriage and motherhood, not understanding that this secret drain is robbing the cheek of its freehness and the form of its fairness.

Girl's Lover Was a Woman.

Girl's Lover Was a Weman.

New York, Oct. 19.—It has been discovered that Mrs. Natalie Clarke Pool, who was arrested Tuesday, charged with masquerading in male attire, succeeded in wooing and winning the heart of a young girl while in that disguise, which she wore over a year. She was sought at the court prison on Thursday by a tearful young girl, who wanted an explanation of why the prisoner represented herself as a man and won her affections.

In her boy's clothing, which makes, her better looking than she is in feminine dress, Mrs. Pool had obtained employment in a Sixth avenue department store. There she met the young woman who visited the prison Thursday and who said she believed that the disguised woman was wooing her. The girl left the prison without seeing Mrs. Pool.

. Airing Linens.
Linens should be given a thorough airing every now and then, most thoroughly of all, of course, just after they have come from the laundress. Plenty of light and air as well as soap and water are necessary to keep them in spotless condition, for what occult reason only some one wise in the law of physics can tell. But the results will tell their own tale. Airings are the best preventives of "freckles" and mold and mildew:

"I have been taking a course of instruction in the athletic school at Aldershot," said Bombardier Warren. "Quite recently I returned to Gosport. My people and my sweetheart are at Aldershot, and I am in the habit of cycling over there for the week-ends. On Sunday week I was returning to Gosport by cycle from one of my sweek-end visits. It was about half-past ten, and I was midway between Aldershot and Gosport. I was passed several times by a large motor-car. The third time it stopped, and one of the three occupants of the car asked me if they were on the right road to Portsmouth. I then noticed that the men was a Hindoo. In order to tell him I dismounted, and was looking over my map, when I felt a blow on the back of my head.

Carried Out to Sea.

CANINE OPIUM SMUGGLERS. Dogs Sent Over Canadian Border With

Laden Pack Saddles. Customs officers have recently unearthed one of the most clever methods of smuggling opium and siks into the United States from across the iternational boundary line yet discovered, says The Chicago Inter-Ocean. The 'smugglers, who were headed by Thomas Smith, now in custedy, used trained dogs to carry on their business.

reaned dogs to carry on their paness.

The first inkling that came to the officers that the dogs were being used to carry contraband goods from Canada was when Officer Lane of the Bellingham station shot a dog which he saw running through thick timber near Blaine, Wash. The dog was loaded down with an enormous leather saddle in which were found three pounds of opium and a package of rich silk. of opium and a package of rich silk. Three days later customs officers trailed three other pack saddle dogs to Smith's shack near the town of Blaine. Smith was found at the shack and was arrested.

Sewer Problem For Hull.

A Fellow Prisener.

Warren reiterated that the Hindoo insisted he must know the whereabouts of the stone, and went on: "He said I should not leave the boat until I had confessed. I then noticed there was another occupant of the cabin, and was amazed to find that it was one of my old friends in the temple adventure of 12 years ago. The recognition was mutual, and the other man told me that he had been kidnapped from Camberwell under much the same circumstances." The days passed in imprisonment. One day they managed to scramble through a porthole into the river.

"They Will Have Me Yet."

They swam for about a mile and tound themselves in the neighborhood of Avonmouth. Warren went straight to Gosport and reported himself. He said he thought the slinp was maimed entirely by Hindoos. He thinks that groups of Hindoos are searching for the stone, which must have been of great religious value. "I fear," he said, "that, notwithstanding my escape, they will have me yet." Meanwhile the officers of the regiment are investigating the statements made by Warren. The Bristol police declare they know nothing of the matter, whilst according to a news agency Warren has since denied the amazing story credited to him. Sewer Problem For Hull.

Aylmer, a town of between 2,000 and 3,000 inhabitants, some ten miles or so above Ottawa and Hull, on the Ottawa river, is about to adopt a system of sewerage emptying into the river, to the danger of the lives of more than 90,000 people. Besides Aylmer there are already on the banks of the Ottawa on either side Britannia, a rapidly-growing summering suburb, and several large villages. The capital and the transpontine city of Hull are combining to induce Aylmer te treat its sewage in purifying tanks before it is sent into the river, and this probably will be agreed to. There are long stretches of rapids between Aylmen and Ottawa and it always has been contended that no sewage from up the fiver can reach the intake pipe for the water supply of the capital. In the meantime, the inquiry into the Aylmer sewerage scheme has developed the fact that just about the Ottawa intake rafting grounds exist, where about a hundred raftsmen usually are accommodated during the rafting season, and the question arises, where the sewage from this quarter goes to if not into the drinking water of the people of Ottawa. Below Ottawa there is a large population on both sides of the river all the way down to Grenville rapids, those nearest to the capital getting their full share of the city sewage, as well as any residue that escapes the intake pipe from the rafting grounds and Aylmer and comes over the Chaudiere falls. Extraordinary statements about the prevalence of juvenile eigarette smoking were made at the conference of the United Kingdom Band of Hope Union at Dublin. Prof. G. H. Carpenter said that over one hundred milion eigarettes were sold weekly in the United Kingdom, and of that number over fifteen millions were smoked by lads under 16 years.
