the lists been doctored as in 1904, the Conservatives would have come out as they did then or worse. With the lists as the revising judges left them, the Opposition wins eight meats out of ten, with the ninth in donbt.

NOTES

"The people of Quebec voted for Sir Wilfrid and not for the government," says one of the candidates. Outside of Quebec the government has an apparent majority of sever, with four deferred elections to come,

Mr. R. L. Borden is now on bis way to Ottawa. He has the satisfaction of baving fought hard and well, and he has come out of the struggle, and finished eight years of leadership without a stain on his record or a reflection on his obaracter. No Conservative has 10 apologize for his leader.

OTTAWA, November 7th, 1908.

With four deferred elections and several re-counts to be heard from, the government majority in parliament seems to be 49, as against 66 in the last house. The Conservatives have carried Octario and Manitobs : and if they win one of the British Columbia by selections, will have a majority in that province also. They are three to seven in Alberta. Toey have already ten more members than they had in the last parliament, and it is likely to be eleven or twelve. Therefore, it may be supposed that the sturdy fight put up by the opposition in the last four years will not be abated. If some good campaigners are gone, there are able men among the new members, and the government also has met with serious losses.

INVESTIGATION WILL PRO-CRED.

There is reason to hope that the efforts of the "Dark Lantern" brigade, to suppress information, will be less effective than of yore. Johnston, Copp, Finlayson and Roche, of Nova Scotis; Hughes, of P E Island; Mo-Oarthy, of Octario; Barrowe, Jackson and Adamson, of Manitoba; Mc-Pherson of British Columbia, who were among the obstructors, are no longer in parliament. On the other band, Foster, Monk, Ames, Backer, Haggart, Taylor, Sproule, Northrup, Reid, Crocket, Lennox, Perley, Blain, Boyce, Bristol, and others, who have presend inquiries in the Public Accounts Committee, are prepared to resume business at the old stand

ADDITIONAL ADVANTAGES.

The work of nves iga inn may be resumed ander better conditions than before. Conditions revealed by the Royal Oivil 8 vine O mmission, and by Jadge 's els, make it simply impossible fo min is ere to "keep down the ld." A ter these disclosares the country will not submit to suppression of facts, the refusal of public documents, and the exclusion of nactul evidence. Light has already been porred on the Marine Department. It is only necessary that the other spending departments shall be overhauled in the same way. This thing will be done, Even the Liberal poss tar, since the election, called for eoquiry into matters which have bitherto been kept dark.

THE TIMBER DEALS.

Before the electon Mr Sifton, brother-in-law Buckey, M Alemson and others connected with the timber deal, with their friends in the house, invited Mr. Amer to go with his lantern slides and his expo ares to the Wast, where the facts were known and the dealers lived. Mr Ames went East and West; be laid the facts and the evidence before the Some thirgs have bappen. a clain netliament with jev; M. Barrows is not there. Mr Sifton is returned by a insignificant majority, if he is

The declaration is made by Le Nationaliste, of Montreel, which is not a Conservative paper, and which is certainly not anti-French. The organ of the National party shows that out of the government majority of about 50, au less than 43 is furnished by Quebec. It is pointed out that five of the Quebec counties which elected Conservatives have a large English vote, so that the majority in French. speaking Quebec is larger than the above figures. Le Nationaliste adds that there are twelve Ontario constituencies baving a large French vote, and these all elected government supporters. This list includes O tawa, which returns two mem-bers, and also Niplesing and East Igoma, which, as it now appears, have elected Conservatives, so that the score is even to two. The Naional organ gives a list of twelve. ounties in the Maritime Provinces aving a considerable French vote, and shows that every one of them,

No fair or patriotic Canadian would suggest that the French-

peaking voters bad not a perfect right to support the government individually or as a body if they deemed the administration worthy. L ast of all would this view be taken by a journal which especially, supports the rights and privileges of the French rece? But Le Nationaliste declares that its compatriots did not support the government because they believed it worthy. It asserts that had the Premier been named Smith or Johnston, the French vote would have been about equally divided, and the government would have been defeated. Toe Premier himself appealed to bis compatriots as one of themselver. His supporters went so far as to circulate with eareful discrimination in the Eogish provinces pamphlets hostile to the French race, and then throw the odium of it in Quebee on the Conservatives. This sort of campaign a, according to Le Nationaliste, so fanaticised the French-Canadians hat they have voted en bloc fer Librier, simply because he is a French Osnadian, without considerng whether it was in the interest of be country so a whel .'

Such is the testimony of a French. Caradian Liberal. If it is true, then h povernment record has not been nd weed hy the Canadian electorate.
