WILL CANADA DISINTEGRATE?

TORONTO, Aug. 10. Will Canada eventually break up into several states? Is there a possibility that this country, instead of being a united Dominion from the Atlantic to the Pacific, may become a group of nations instead? In short, is there a chance of this country ultimately developing or disintegrating into a second Europe? Professor E. Smith of Birmingham, now in Toronto with the visiting British scientists, has a theory of the problem which may confront Canada in the course of a few generations, and this theory has caused a considerable amount of discussion among his fellow professors. The Canadian farmer is a specialist, he declares. He will realize in the course of a short time that it is unwise for him to depend solely on one kind of crop, or on stock raising alone, or on fruit. This tendency on the part of the individual farmer will also extend to groups of farmers and sections of the country. Different parts of the different provinces will be sharply subdivided by the interests of the particular inhabitants of each. Eventually the result of this may be a group of nations with separate boundaries, separate outlooks, separate governments.

Larry Semon Tells How to Do Tricks.

"I have been asked by many who have seen my comedy 'Horseshoes' how I do the boomerang trick, with the silk hat," said Larry Semon in an interview recently. "The trick is simple and required patience and practice."

"My father, Prof. Zeno Semon, a travelling performer of feats of juggling, acrobatics, magic and ventriloquism, was travelling in Australia when he came upon a tribe of half savage bushmen who were expert boomerang throwers. The skill with which these men threw the curved stick scarcely two feet in length interested my father to the extent that he made a scientific investigation of the phenomena."

"He discovered that the shape of the stick made it describe a complex circle when thrown with a certain twist of the hand. A little practice convinced him that the shape had little to do with the phenomena and that a round object such as a hoop or hat might be made to describe a similar circle if thrown so that it described a properly curved arc. "I was schooled in this trick when a small boy and by experimenting I have found that every article may be made to perform this feat if the proper arc is discovered. Some objects will describe a much larger circle than others and again the performer may be able to put more force and curve into one article than another which would give a larger circle."

"The trick is simple and, after witnessing a showing of 'Horseshoes,' I think that with a little practice any boy or girl can do the stunt and surprise their friends. Remember that it is only necessary to throw the object in such a manner that it travels in an arc sufficiently acute to describe a circle."

"Horseshoes" will be shown at The Star Theatre to-night.

Eskimos Lack Grazing Lands

CORDOVA, Alaska, July 20 (A.P.)—Alaska Eskimos with their large reindeer herds on the Seward Peninsula are facing the same problem that sheep men did in the western states years ago, according to William T. Lopp, superintendent of the Alaska division of the bureau of education. "There are no land leasing or grazing laws in the north and, regardless of the natives' prior rights to the land their reindeer herds are being slowly crowded out," said Superintendent Lopp.

Unable to Plead

Montreal, Que., July 30 (Canadian Press)—A married woman, in community of property with her husband, cannot plead to an action taken against her, not even to the extent of setting up the fact that she has not been authorized to appear before the court, according to a decision of the Court of Appeals, division of three judges rendered in the case of Pare vs. Dame Benoit. Any proceedings by a married woman in community, taken without authorization, are radically null, and cannot be covered by subsequent authorization. It was pointed out, however, that the plaintiff can

Lightning Hits Shed of Z R.3 in Germany

SHIP NOT DAMAGED.

FRIEDRICHSHAVEN, July 25 (A.P.)—The Z R. 3, bearing completion here for its trans-Atlantic flight to Lakehurst, N.J., had its first shock from the elements recently, and came through undaunted. During a thunder storm the huge Zeppelin shed in which the giant dirigible is awaiting installation of her five motors was struck by a bolt of lightning which shook the entire building from end to end and all its contents. There was but little damage to the building itself, and none whatever to the framework or the gas bag of the Z R. 3. Thunder storms have been particularly frequent and severe this summer in Southern Baden and Switzerland. American army and naval officers, assigned here to watch the progress of the dirigible, say the lightning often has been so spectacular as to remind them somewhat of home.

Polluted Water

COPENHAGEN, July 22 (A.P.)—Fish are dying by millions in Danish inland waters due, it is explained, to the unusually long and severe winter, which made the waters stale and rotten. Industrial establishments dump much of their refuse into the waters, but ordinarily this does not harm the fish as the obnoxious gases escape. Last winter the lakes and canals were frozen for five months and the gases could not escape until the ice melted.
