Unionist leader, speaking at Greenwich, said that before subscribing to the Scottish said that before subscribing to the Scottish home rule movement he would require better proof than had yet been produced of the existence of the widespread discontent with the present system and of the desire of the Scotth people for a change. He admitted that there had been neglect of Scottish business in Parliament, but claimed that it was due to obstructive tactics. In any case, he had no serious fears of the result of home rule in Scotland, because it would not be the outcome of years of conspiracy and of avowed alliance with an enemy of of the country. In regard to Scotch Church disestablishment his mind was unchanged. Scotland had never unequivocally declared herself on that question, and therefore he declined to espouse any side of the controversy.

A Church of Her Own.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—The feeble health of Queen Victoria, according to semi-official announcements, has caused her Majesty to entirely give up attending divine service in the Crathic Church on Sundays during her residence at Balmoral. She is now having constructed, as an annex to the castle, a private chapel, the interior being of exquisitely carved woods, and with magnificent stained glass windows. Pending its completion, divine services are weekly held in the drawing-room of the castle. The old chapel, connected with the palace of Osborne, in the Isle of Wight, is also being renovated, and it is understood that during her residence at that watering place her Majesty will no longer attend the services. her residence at that watering pla Majesty will no longer attend the se in Whippingham Church, but have services for herself, the royal family at Terribly Tortured.

London, Nov. 7.—Advices from Consintinople bring additional horrible details of the treatment of Armenians in the prisons. Hago, the young Armenian who shot at the archpriest, had live coals put in the palms of his hands and was whipped as he lay on his bare back. He was also subjected, before death, to indignities too horrible to mention.

Doclined the Queen's Invitation.

London, Nov. 1.—Lord Salisbury has declined with thanks the invitation of the Queen to visit her at Balmoral during the coming week. He is not very fond of northern trips, and it is interesting that he managed to excuse himself in a similar way for the last fix years. His last visit to Balmoral was in 1885, when he went to accept the portfolio of prime minister.

Intended to Ruin France.

Paris, Nov. 7.—The Boulangist deputy for Milleroya writes to the editor a story that is of considerable interest. He relates that the Prince of Wales in 1875 warned Marshall McMahon. the president of the French Republic, that Germany intended to make war afresh upon France with the purpose of crippling the country beyond recovery. Gen. Lefle, who was at that time French Ambassador at St. Petersburg, complained the Czar, who thereupon interfered and stopped Germany from carrying out Binmarck's intention.
