LONDON AND ENVIRONS.

—When Mabel was discreet sixteen,
She was so prim and so sedate,
She was so dignified of mein,
So calm, unruffled and serence,
You would have thought her thirty-eight.

But now that Mabel's thirty-eight,
Oh, what a difference is seen;
She's struck now such a giddy gait,
And goes it at so brisk a rate,
You'd surely take her for sixteen.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Seavey, are visiting Newport, R. I.

—W. P. Turner and son Alfred have departed for a visit to British Columbia.

—Mr. S. H. Milling, C. P. R., has returned from a pleasant trip to Owen Sound and the lakes.

—Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Andrus, of St. Louis, Mo., are visiting the latter's sister, Mrs. C. J. Cater, William street, after an absence of sixteen years.

—Mrs. Westland, of Craig street, and Mrs. Sisk, of St. Thomas, have gone on a month's visit to Niagara Falls and other points in the Niagara Peninsula.

—Tim Hannafin, late of the Grigg House, city, and Mr. Guithard, St. Marys, assumed the proprietorship of the British-American Hotel, Windsor, on Saturday.

—A collision occurred between two freight trains on the Grand Trunk Railway at Dundas Saturday. The trains were going at a slow rate, consequently the damage was slight. Nobody was injured.

—On Saturday afternoon H. Carter, J. A. Bland and W. J. Bridgeman left on a trip to Detroit by canoe down the Thames. They intend to return by train from Detroit, previously sending their boats back from Chatham.

—Port Stanley church-goers were favored yesterday with the presence and musical services of the Dundas Street Center Methodist Choir. The members went down Saturday night and will assist in a tea-meeting this evening.

Nancy Roger, of London township, a girl 12 years of age, was arrested Sunday evening by Detective Allen, charged by Amos Harris, of the same township, with the larceny of potatoes and other vegetables from his garden. She was bailed to appear to-morrow by Squire J. B. Smyth.

—They used to call her a homely girl,
And homely she was, it is true,
Her cheeks had no bloom and her hair wouldn't curl,
And her eyes were a little askew.

But a beautiful woman she longed to be called,
Just for once—though the girl wasn't vain;
But it humbled her pride, and her temper it galled
When people declared she was plain.

And so she eloped with the man she loved best,
And the papers reported the flight:
"The beautiful daughter of Alderman West
Eloped with her lover last night."

There was pride in her eye and a flush on her brow
As a glance at the item she cast,
And she said to her husband: "Rejoice with me now,
I'm a beautiful woman at last."

—King Evans has returned from a trip to Montreal.

—Miss Maggie Ross, of Detroit, is visiting friends in the city.

—George Millar of the St. Catharines Standard was in this city yesterday.

—Mr. Robert Bausch, St. Louis, Mo., is the guest of Mr. George F. Burns, city.

—Miss Ida Calder, of Winnipeg, is visiting Miss Mary Sanders, English street, city.

—Mrs. R. Logan and son are visiting the former's brother, T. H. Fitzsimmons, Leamington.

—Mrs. Gordon Wright, of Elmwood avenue, has returned from a pleasant visit to Toronto and Grimsby Park.

—Mr. Charles E. Wheeler, organist of St. Andrew's Church, returned Saturday from a holiday visit to Toronto and eastern points.

—Mr. Catlin, Baptist minister, city, and Mr. Smith, of Ailsa Craig, are holding regular services alternately on Sundays in Middlemiss.

—Frank Harding, 138 Elmwood avenue, South London, has returned from a trip up the lakes for the benefit of his health. He is much improved.

—Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Smith returned home Saturday night from their Muskoka trip. Mrs. Smith's brother, Mr. Brown, accompanied them.

—Miss Nellie Colwell, of Mitchell, is spending a few days with relatives in this city, when she will leave for a few weeks vacation at West Lorne.

—Mr. Arscott Mountjoy gave up the retail branch of his fruit business Saturday and will devote his attention to a large and growing wholesale trade.

—At a meeting held on Friday the plumbers' strike was settled at last, both bosses and men having made a concession. Some of the men have already gone back to work at an increase in wages.

—Catherine, relict of the late Andrew O'Mara, passed away Sunday at the family residence, Dundas street. Deceased had attained the ripe age of 79 years, and was one of the oldest residents of the city.

—Mr. Frank Kirchmer has a staff of men engaged in distributing and pasting Western Fair bills and lithos in 174 towns east of Toronto. He has also the western contract for the Detroit and Toronto exhibitions.

—James Hartfield, 86 Elmwood avenue, South London, is slowly improving from the effects of running a nail clear through his foot recently. The nail was is a plank around which he was working, and had to be removed from the foot by hammering the plank.

—Mr. Fred Evans has been appointed organist and choir master of St. James' Church, London South, after three months' trial, his work during that time having been highly satisfactory. Mr. Evans' musical talents are well known to the public.

—Rev. J. A. Murray Sunday evening read from his pulpit a memoir of the late Dr. Fraser. It contained feeling references to the loss the congregation sustained in the removal of the deceased, and also detailed his prominent association with the Presbyterian Church.

—Rev. J. E. Holmes has the pleasure of the company of his two sisters and of his father, Rev. Edwin Holmes, of London, at Glenwood Cottage, Grand Bend, where they purpose spending a short time enjoying the cool and invigorating breezes of Lake Huron.—[Parkhill Review.

—Vincent Andrus, formerly of this city, is now a prosperous merchant in Kansas City. Eight years ago he arrived in that bustling place with but a quarter in his pocket, but he has been wonderfully lucky in the interval. This summer, a correspondent in Kansas City writes, Mr. Andrus is erecting a $20,000 residence for himself.

—We have received from the secretary of the Forest City Bicycle Club of London an invitation to join them in their annual tour to Goderich, Aug. 15, 16 and 17. Unfortunately we have just had our holidays and will be unable to join our London friends, but nevertheless they have our best wishes for a good time and pleasant outing.—[Toronto Cycling.

—Mr. John Fulcher, city, has made six entries in the horse-jumping and steeplechase races at the Toronto Industrial Fair. Had it not been for the accident to his favorite animal Bronte he would have entered in the Syracuse, Troy and Elmira exhibitions. At the latter city he carried off high honors in 1890. Next year he will take his horses to Minnesota in response to requests from several places. Mr. Fulcher says he regrets that more inducements in the same line are not offered for the Western Fair.

—Mr. George Shoebotham died at his residence, Colborne street, Saturday afternoon, aged 64, after a somewhat extended illness. Deceased had been living retired in the city about two years and was previously engaged in farming near Masonville. He leaves four children—one son in the Northwest, one in Woodstock, a married daughter in London township and Miss Shoebotham, city. Deceased was a respected member of St. John the Evangelist's Church, was extensively related in this neighborhood and esteemed by all who knew him. He was a brother of Mr. Wm. Shoebotham, Oxford street.

—On Friday morning as Alex. Reid, Lieury, was driving to Clandeboye, accompanied by Miss Tanton, who was returning to her home in London, his horse took fright while crossing a bridge, and, getting beyond his control, precipitated himself, the buggy and Miss Tanton to the bottom of the embankment, a distance of about 8 feet. Miss Tanton was so seriously injured that she had to be taken back to Mr. Reid's residence, where she had been visiting, and where she will have to remain for about two weeks under medical care.

A TRAVELER.

I have traveled the wide world over. In India, where I lived for years, I became afflicted with corns and bunions; and that more terrible disease of the feet by which so many natives are crippled, and known in India as "SAND FEET!" I have lain in the hospitals for weeks under the best medical treatment, from which I received little or no benefit, and was all but reconciled to suffer for the remainder of my life, when happily I came across that great benefaction of this 19th century, popularly known as BARKWELL'S SURE CORN CURE. You will say I am very loud in my praise, Mr. Editor, but I have every reason to be so, and would be very ungrateful if I were not. I got a bottle three years ago and it cured me completely when everything else failed. I have every faith in Barkwell's Sure Corn Cure, and my wife and I publish it as far as we can. If Mr. Barkwell lived in India he would make a fortune out of his Corn Cure; and I am happy to subscribe my name.

The horse received a fractnre and the buggy was very much damagod.—[Parkhill Review.

—On Richmond street Saturday evening Contractor Beckett and his staff of men had just leveled and raked a plot of ground to be block-paved. A large stream of water was playing on it when a driver of a city confectionery wagon determined to cross it. He was promptly ordered back, but persisted in taking his own way; as a result the stream of water was gently sprayed over him, much to the satisfaction of a sympathetic (?) crowd. Eventually the contractor persuaded him with clenched fist to go over the required way, which he did amid prolonged cheers and laughter.

—Old Londoners find their way back to the scenes of their early life and enjoy reunion with their friends, changed though the scene may be. At the present time, Marion Andrus (formerly in the employ of Andrus Brothers here), but now of St. Louis, Mo., is visiting London, after an absence of 23 years. Mr. Andrus was a member of the first city engine fire company, of which Messrs. Wm. Andrus, W. P. Benson and Hewitt Fysh were also officers. With his wife, who is best known to old-time Londoners as Miss Sallie Overberry, Mr. Andrus is visiting Mr. Charles Carter, King street. They say they have seen no prettier city in their travels than London.

Personal Register.

GOSSIP OF TO-DAY.

London society, it is said, is discussing the expected marriage of Prince Henry of Pless to the eldest daughter of Lady Cornwallis West. It seems but yesterday since the mother herself was a "queen of love and beauty" in England—no mean rival to Mrs. Langtry.

It is proposed to signal the planet Mars by marking out a right-angled triangle on the desert Sahara, in the hope that inhabitants of the planet with the Pythagorean figure of three squares built on the sides of the triangle. What's the matter with the less scientific but more popular plan of signaling with the figure of a white horse and letting Mars answer with a red-headed girl?

Paris is somewhat perplexed about the Palais Royal, once one of its chief glories. It is now rather a white elephant. It covers a great deal of the most valuable ground in the city, but to little purpose. The trade of the arcade is steadily declining. In order to give it another chance of life there will be built a cafe and beer garden at the lower end of the enclosure, in the hope of bringing back the old-time strollers through the covered galleries.

A "British Museam of Portraits" photographic, was started in 1864 by Mr. James Glaisher, F.R.S. About 2,000 photographs of notable persons were collected in the carte de visite size, and deposited in the South Kensington Museum. They were silver prints, however, and they faded. Since the perfection of the permanent carbon process of printing a new life has been given to the association, and now there are 200 large and permanent carbon portraits in the museum and about as many more ready to be sent. Every portrait must be approved by the sitter and by the standing committee. The idea is admirable, and can well be adopted elsewhere.
