

Eruptions

Dry, moist, scaly, itchy, all forms of eczema or salt rheum, pimples and other cutaneous eruptions proceed from humors, either inherited, or acquired through defective digestion and assimilation.

To treat these eruptions with drying medicines is dangerous. The thing to do is to help the system discharge the humors, and strengthen it against their return.

Hood's Sarsaparilla permanently cured J. G. Hines, Frank, Ill., of eczema, from which he had suffered for some time; and Miss Alvina Walter, Box 212, Algona, Wis., of pimple on her face and back and chafed skin on her body, by which she was greatly troubled. There are more testimonials in favor of this great medicine than can be published.

ENGLISH MARKETS.
LONDON WOOL SALES.
London, Jan. 25.—The offerings at the wool auction sale today numbered 14,000 bales. Competition was active, and the firm prices. Medium and greasy crossbreds sold at an advance of 15 per cent above the December average. The home trade and the continent bought freely, and lots suitable for America caused keen bidding. Next week $4.00 bales will be offered. Following are today's sales in detail: New South Wales, 4,200 bales; Victoria, 2,500 bales; Queensland, 2,300 bales; South Australia, 2,000 bales; New Zealand, 1,500 bales; and others, 1,000 bales. The arrivals for the second series of sales amount to 23,700 bales, including 20,000 forwarded direct. The imports of wool during the week were: New South Wales, 5,435 bales; Victoria, 3,282 bales; Queensland, 2,988 bales; South Australia, 1,816 bales; Cape of Good Hope and Natal, 4,275 bales; and elsewhere, 790 bales.

AMERICAN MARKETS.
Chicago, Jan. 25.—Reported improved conditions in the winter wheat belt, together with the decided slump in corn, caused an unsettled market for the wheat market today, and May wheat closed with a loss of 1/4c to 1/2c. Corn was in a worse dilemma than wheat, and closed 1/4c lower for May. Liquidation by the Chicago Board of Trade to secure profits, caused the break. Oats closed 1/4c lower, in sympathy with the other grain. Estimated receipts for Monday: Wheat, 30 cars; corn, 65 cars; oats, 15 cars; hay, 4,000 bales.

DAIRY MARKETS.
CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—Butter—Firm; creameries, 10c to 11c; dairies, 10c to 11c. Cheese—Steady; 10c to 11c. Eggs—Steady; fresh, 23c.

HEALTH OFFICER A VICTIM OF SMALLPOX.

Dr. Hamilton, of Cornwall, Contracts the Disease—Cases Among Indians—Six in Detroit.

Cornwall, Ont., Jan. 27.—Dr. Hamilton, the local health officer, who has been indefatigable in his exertions to keep the disease in check, has contracted smallpox himself. He endangered his life in the performance of his duties as a public health officer and physician, and is quarantined in his own house. The disease in the few cases developed here is in a very mild form.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 25.—The smallpox situation in the northern reserves is unchanged. There are known to be three cases of smallpox on the reserve. The disease has probably been introduced by some developing. Outside this reserve, but near there, are about twenty half-breeds who have the disease. The provincial authorities and the Indian commissioner's department are co-operating to stamp the disease out.

Miss Ethel Kelly, a Brandon College student was brought from Brandon to the city quarantine suffering from smallpox.

Toronto, Jan. 27.—Nine cases of smallpox are reported from Raleigh township, Kent county, where two soldiers, infected with the disease, made the rounds recently attending a number of dances.

Detroit, Jan. 27.—There are seventy cases of smallpox in four cases of diphtheria and six cases of smallpox in Detroit at the present time. Once again health officers suggest that all those who have not been vaccinated in some time do so immediately.

CONFERRED HIS CRIME

Negro Bath Attendant Murdered His Friend—Verdict of Coroner's Jury.

St. Louis, Jan. 27.—Wm. Strother, the negro attendant at the Vista Turkish bath house, who was arrested Wednesday night, when Alexander Dean Cooper, the millionaire owner of the place was found murdered, has confessed to the murder. He says that while Cooper lay asleep he brained him with a sledge hammer and secreted the money and jewelry Cooper had previously left with him. He says he must have been drunk or crazy.

Cooper had many times befriended Strother, and the latter was indebted to him for many favors besides the securing of employment. He confessed to the murder. The coroner's jury found the following verdict: "We, the jury, find that A. Dean Cooper was killed by Wm. Strother, on Jan. 24, 1914, at 9:30 a.m., from a fracture of the skull, resulting from a blow struck with a sledge hammer by William Strother. Verdict, unjustifiable homicide."

THE MOST TERRIBLE PAINS

Rheumatism Prostrated Mr. Johnston and He Feared Paralysis Was Coming On.

North Temiskamingue, Que., Jan. 27. Mr. W. H. Johnston, of Douglas Harbor, has had a very painful time according to his description, as follows: "I had Rheumatism in my left side and back for two or three days. Sometimes felt almost paralyzed, so that I could hardly move it; then the pains would go away for a spell and return in my left arm. After the pains left me I felt quite numb for a while, and a sensation like needles sticking in my arm and head. The pains were most terrible and I was unable to sleep. I used Dodd's Kidney Pills. Since using them I can say that I have not felt a single pain or had a return of the Rheumatism."

Chemical Fire Engine Test.

Gloucester, Jan. 22, 1912. A very satisfactory test of the Chemical Fire Engine, manufactured by the Chemical Fire Engine Company, of London, Ont., as follows: The work of the Chemical Fire Engine evened out far beyond expectations of the most sanguine. The past building was thoroughly saturated with twenty-five gallons of oil, and several empty oil casks were thrown in, and the building set on fire. When it was completely enveloped in flames, the flame, the fluid from the chemical engine was turned on, and in less than fifteen minutes the fire was out, and the liquid only used from one cylinder and half of the second.

The mayor, the councilors, the fire-brigade and a large number of citizens present were perfectly satisfied with the test.

Chief Menzies, of Sydney, and several of his men were also present, and were greatly pleased with the effective work of the chemical engine in fire fighting.

This company's works is on Simcoe street, East London. They manufacture steam and chemical fire engines, hose reels extension ladders, trucks, and other fire appliances. They are now constructing several new steam and chemical fire engines, besides having a complete stock of all the latest and improved steam fire engines under repairs.

About a Baby.
And just because she had those goo-goo eyes. That's the reason why those people bought a package of that new popular breakfast food that the neighbor's baby was doing so well on. Boiled to a thin gruel, with milk added, it is the foster mother upon which to wean the child from the breast or bottle. Now the whole family are using SUPERIOR BREAKFAST CREAM at least once on each day. Full directions on each package.

HOW BOTHA FAILED TO INVADE NATAL

An Explanation by Botha—Important Document Captured Among Property of Boer Leader.

London, Jan. 26.—Two long dispatches from Lord Kitchener recounting operations in South Africa have been issued. The commander-in-chief gives some further details of General Louis Botha's failure to carry out his intended raid in Natal, and of the driving back of the commandos into the Pietermaritzburg district.

Among the documents captured was a letter from General Botha to his so-called "government."

"To my regret, I must report that it was impossible for my commandos to enter Natal because the enemy was aware of our plans, and he already had troops posted opposite the route of our march on Babanango, as Rock's and Van's Drifts were also in possession of the enemy. From the Buffalo River I sent back to Vryheid district about 300 horsemen, whose horses were knocked up, so that nearly half of the original commando has returned."

Washington, Jan. 27.—It has been decided that Mrs. Roosevelt and Miss Alice Roosevelt will attend the state banquet to be given by the president in honor of Prince Henry. Heretofore it had been decided that there would be no ladies present.

Berlin, Jan. 27.—The dinner to be given in Prince Henry's honor, under the auspices of the New York Staats Zeitung to the press of the United States is the feature of the prince's diversion which is attracting the most attention here. Prince Henry himself asked particularly about this feature of the program.

That some of the editors would probably travel 9,000 miles to be present, he expressed wonder. Every detail of the trip interests the Kaiser.

THE NEWEST STAMP
DESIGN IS A BOTCH
King's Head Faces the Wrong Way and Has a Scar on the Forehead.

New York, Jan. 27.—A special cable to the Herald from London reports that the design of the new postage stamp, which has been received with very little enthusiasm, is to be changed, because it has only now been discovered that the head of the king faces the wrong way. The rule, strictly observed hitherto on coinage, is that the heads of successive sovereigns shall face the same way. The king's head on the new stamp faces the opposite way. The head of King Edward VII, which is on the stamp faces in the same direction as that of Queen Victoria, and will have to be turned around.

Another defect which has been noticed on the new Edward stamp is that upon the forehead there appears a scar, clearly to be seen with the naked eye, as though his majesty had been slashed with a sword. It is curious that this does not appear on the penny stamp alone, where it was first noted, but on each of the halfpenny, two-pence halfpenny and sixpenny stamps. How it appeared on each of the issues, in exactly the same shape and on the same part of the forehead is puzzling philatelists. These stamps will, of course, be greatly valued, despite their marvellous appearance, as new designs are to be prepared.

LOSSES OF CATTLE HEAVY.
Omaha, Jan. 26.—Reports received tonight in Omaha from the losses of cattle by yesterday's blizzard in the Ogallala section, where the storm was most severe, will be very small. Less favorable reports have come from the northwestern part of the state, and in the extreme western section the losses of cattle are said to be very heavy. So far, no losses of life have been reported. Traffic on all the railroads has been delayed more or less, but not sufficient to embarrass the roads. A temperature of 25 degrees is reported from Alliance, with a heavy wind intensifying the cold.

The British call for mounts for South Africa has resulted in thousands of Montana horses leaving the state. The stock is so depleted that unless there is a movement of horses to Montana from the south, there is certain to be a horse famine in that state next year. The shipments for the past year numbered 100,000.

INCREASE OF $20,000,000

In the Canadian Pacific's Capital Stock.

New Rolling Stock to Handle Western Crop To Be Built—Rails To Be Heavier and Tracks Doubled.

INCREASE OF $20,000,000.
Montreal, Jan. 26.—The Canadian Pacific Railway Company has been informed that the Dominion Government has approved of a resolution authorizing the board of directors, with the sanction of the shareholders, to increase the capital stock of the company by twenty million dollars.

This step has been found necessary to enable the company to keep pace with the rapid development of the Northwest. The new issue will be used to build new locomotives and cars, lay heavier rails, double-track the section west of Lake Superior, and furnish other means to enable the company to handle the tremendous traffic of the Northwest. The expenditure will be laid out in the following manner:

New rolling stock $9,000,000
Double tracking and other improvements 6,000,000
New shops and enlarging present ones at Montreal 1,500,000
Elevators, terminals, etc. 8,000,000
Miscellaneous 500,000
Total $20,000,000

To insure that every dollar of the new issue shall be represented by a dollar of cash in the improvement of the line, the government has stipulated that none of the stock shall be sold below par. The company has also agreed that in calculating the 10 per cent which, by the terms of its original contract with the Dominion in 1881, must be earned by the railway upon the amount of its actual cash cost before parliament, or the government-in-council can interfere with its tolls on this new stock and the proceeds of it shall be omitted, that is to say, shall not be included in the actual cash cost of the railway.

ENLARGING THE SHOPS.
The plants of the company at Montreal for building cars and locomotives are to be enlarged at once. Something like 5,000 hands will be employed in the shops there. Last fall the company found it impossible to procure a sufficient supply of new rolling stock to meet the unexpected requirements of the Northwest harvest, and the shape of wet weather, did not begin to move until later than usual, although orders had been placed in the United States as early as last June.

These new facilities for manufacturing rolling stock, the company will be in a position to provide an adequate supply for any emergency in the shape of a bumper crop which may arise, and Canadian labor will profit by the construction being confined to Canada. The plant at Montreal, which is the largest in the world, will be an undertaking of considerable magnitude, especially of the portion between Winnipeg and Port William, but the company, in its own phrase, "no doubt, make haste to complete it, and here, too, the large expenditure involved will benefit Canadian interests."

By order of the board, the arrangements here outlined will meet with public approval. If the employment of additional capital will be adequate to the task, the company will, as a whole, though more particularly the Northwest, will profit indirectly, while the importance of the conditions attached to the issue of the stock, which is hardly to be over-estimated from a public point of view.

"Turned 'Em Away" at Both Performances at the London.

With the exception of one single holiday last season, Saturday's audiences at the Grand Theatre were the largest in its history. At the afternoon performance over a thousand children, with their parents and friends, filled the house to the top of the gallery and enjoyed "The Duke's Daughter." Owing to the crush the doors were opened half an hour before the advertised time. The children's prize was won by Mabel Webb, of John street.

The night performance of "The Duke's Daughter" was equally successful. The ladies' prize was won by Miss Purdy, of 71 Bathurst street. Tonight's play is "A Soldier's Vindication," and the sale indicates a good house. Ladies are admitted free of accompanied by the holder of a 25-cent ticket.

Mr. W. H. Hewlett's Twilight Organ Recital.
The first twilight organ recital this season was given by Mr. W. H. Hewlett at Dundas Center Methodist Church on Saturday afternoon. A large audience enjoyed the programme rendered by Mr. W. H. Hewlett, assisted by Miss Alma Gayler, soprano soloist of the Central Presbyterian Church, Hamilton. The programme follows:

Bourne E. Slies
Reverie H. Viets
Aria "O Holy Father" Bassini
(a) Cantabile Clement Lovet
(b) Intermezzo J. Callaert
Song Frederick Clay
Pastorale Miss Gayler
Three Pastoral songs from "In Arcady" Ethelbert Nevin
(a) "A Shepherd's Tale" "Lullaby," "Shepherd and all Mankind Fair," "Song—There is a Green Hill" Miss Gayler
Pastorale in C Caesar Francks
Aria "O Lord, Comfort Me" Handel
Triumphal March from "King Alfred" Elgar
"IN A WOMAN'S POWER" TONIGHT

"In a Woman's Power," the melodrama at the Grand this evening, deals with the running down of a band of coin makers by the officers of the United States secret service bureau. New scenery and novel sensational effects are promised.

"THE BELLE OF NEW YORK."
"The Belle of New York," which comes to the New Grand tomorrow night, is the work of Gustave Kerker marked: "Why, New York would stretch to Potsdam."

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

Gertrude Coghlan in "Vanity Fair" at the Grand.

It was not altogether the fault of Miss Gertrude Coghlan and her company that the presentation of "Vanity Fair" at the New Grand on Saturday was a distinct disappointment to the majority of those who witnessed it. In the first place, Thackeray, through the medium of his genius, has so vividly portrayed the characters of his novel that to each reader they are a living, breathing personality. Becky Sharp, crafty, designing and unscrupulous, Amelia, tearful, gentle and loving, George Osborne, handsome, conceited and fickle; Dobbin, awkward, clumsy and faithful; Jos. Sedley, gluttonous, porpoise-like and vain; Rawdon Crawley, big, brave and stupid; Sir Pitt Crawley, gentle, easy-going and self-satisfied; Lord Steyne, sensual and debauched—all the occupants of the immortal novel seem to come real to the reader as the actual acquaintances of business and social life. It is this fact that renders it almost impossible for dramatization of such a book to please, because as no two ideals of its characters are alike, so no individual's ideals can be realized.

Apart from this, the play is one of the weakest specimens of a pretentious dramatic production seen here for some time. There is only one strong scene in the play—that of the supper scene in the fourth act, and that is acknowledged by the original Becky, Mrs. Fiske, to be the banal incident of the play. The absence of applause for the play is well evidenced by the fact that the fourth act, and that is acknowledged by the original Becky, Mrs. Fiske, to be the banal incident of the play. The absence of applause for the play is well evidenced by the fact that the fourth act, and that is acknowledged by the original Becky, Mrs. Fiske, to be the banal incident of the play.

Handicapped as they were by the feebleness of their vehicle of expression, it is no wonder that the efforts of the company for the most part fell flat. Sincere as were the efforts of Miss Coghlan to give an effective interpretation of the little adventures, Becky, it must be admitted that in the histrionic line, as in other walks of life, capability as well as sincerity is necessary to achieve success. Whatever merits as an actress Miss Coghlan may have displayed elsewhere, her work on Saturday was not such as to lead local theater patrons to rank her as high as the other members of her gifted family, or even as high as the generality of female stars.

The part of Rawdon Crawley was in the capable hands of Charles Bertman, or "Locky" Dumoulin, as he was called when he worked in a local bank. Mr. Dumoulin made an especially good impression by his effective treatment of his part in the supper scene. Mr. James Allen, as Lord Steyne, gave a good portrayal of the character, but failed to realize the physical aspect of the noble marquis as drawn by the author. Arthur Locke as Joseph Sedley was the most convincing and real personage which the play contained. Mr. James Allen, Mr. Wm. Fox, and Mr. E. J. Cooney appeared in the play. A man, played Sir Pitt Crawley, General Turf and Lord Southdown indifferently, while other roles were doubled. A good number of the cast were new names for the one member. This should be a warning to the manager. The balance of the cast was done more or less satisfactorily.

Information comes from a New York source that Miss Coghlan's manager, John A. Reed, will bring her tour in "Vanity Fair" to a close next Saturday, Feb. 1, in order to begin rehearsal for "The Duke's Daughter," the King. It is to be a costume play, with the scenes laid in France. The spring tour will commence about the middle of February.
