FIGHT TO SAVE LIFE OF MYLES IS CONCLUDED

No Definite Date For Decision Set.

Argument in the Crown case resumed of Ralph Myles, now sentenced to be hanged January 4th, for the murder of Florence Myles, was concluded before the full bench of the Nova Scotia Supreme Court.

No definite date for a decision was set.

The argument centres around the admission as evidence at the trial of a statement made in hospital, when he thought he was dying, to the effect that the death of the girl and his own injuries were the result of a suicide pact.

At his trial, Myles said he made this statement to protect the girl and that in reality the girl had been responsible for the double shooting, first firing at Myles and then killing herself.

I. C. Doty, counsel for Myles, submitted that remarks made to Myles at the hospital by Police Detective Tough were sufficient to create the desire on the part of the accused to shield the girl.

"If the suicide pact statement," had not been admitted as evidence, Mr. Doty contended, "the accused might not have been called to testify, and there would not have been two conflicting stories with their possible effect on the jury."

The People's School for 1923 will open in Antigonish on Monday, Jan. 15th, and will continue in session till Saturday, March 10th.
