

1015 FIRE PROOF CHAMPION ENGINES BUILT SINCE 1877

As A Traction Engine

The Champion is Unequaled.

D. T. BEDFORD writes from Hagen, 27th Dec. 1883:—I have had time to test the traction engine you sent me. I have run it over some very bad hills, where it would give two horses all they wanted to take portable engine. I started from the station, attaching a wagon with 2000 lbs of coal and two barrels of water. I had no bother to draw it up any of the hills between Ottawa and Reglan. The steering rig is complete, can run over narrow and slippery roads, in fact for a had place I would rather run by hand than by horses. I can stop it and back up (if wanted) going down a steep hill; can run through a foot of snow, and have done it up steep hills. I have moved a mill with a boiler full of water and fire-box of wood and had plenty and this was over bad roads. I can run my big (Mimax Separator from daylight till dark on ten barrels of water, and a great deal less wood than I ever could with a 12 h. p. The 16 h. p. is just the thing to thresh with, sets stiller without a clamp than the 12 h. p. did with clamps, and it runs so easy you could hardly tell whether they were feeding or not. I might write two or three sheets of my exploits with the tractor, but have not time. Everybody is pleased with it, and I am more than pleased.
